Senate Decision In Contempt Cases Expected Soon

EXECUTIVE SESSION IS HELD TODAY ONE MAN FILIBUSTER ENDS HOUSE SESSION

Press Charges Against MacCracken After Latter is Put Under Arrest

ATTORNEYS APPEAL

Cases of Three Are Taken Under Consideration Late This Afternoon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(UP)—The senate went into closed executive session at 2:45 p. m. today to consider the airmail contempt cases.

Backed by a court decision upholding its authority, the senate pressed contempt charges against William P. MacCracken Jr., whose four day fight for freedom ended dramatically last night with his "imprisonment" by senate sergeant-at-arms, Chesley Jurney.

The former assistant secretary of commerce spent the night in a hotel room, closely guarded by Jurney, after Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue of District of Columbia supreme court discharged a second writ of habeas corpus by which MacCracken had hoped to escape senate custody.

Attorney Frank J. Hogan challenged the senate's constitutional right to proceed against MacCracken. He contended the senate sought to "infiltrate punishment as such," and said his client could not be tried for "a completed act."

Leslie Garnett, recently appointed district attorney, represented the senate. He argued for 15 minutes, characterizing Hogan's statement as "a toy balloon."

O'Donoghue ruled immediately that the arrest was legal. He remanded MacCracken to Jurney's custody and discharged the writ.

Hogan filed notice of an appeal to the district court of appeals.

While it went forward with the MacCracken case, the senate was faced with reaching a decision on contempt proceedings against three airline officials whom the former official represented in Washington. They are Col. L. H. Brittin, vice president of Northwest Airways, Harris M. Hanshue, president of Western Air Express, and Gilbert L. Givvin, Hanshue's secretary.

All are charged with removing subpoenaed files from MacCracken's office.

William P. MacCracken, Jr., assistant secretary of commerce in the Hoover administration, and now an aviation attorney and secretary of the American Bar association, was before the bar of the senate after a series of legal maneuvers in which the courts upheld his arrest by the sergeant-at-arms.

He was there to show cause why he should not be punished by the senate for permitting removal of records subpoenaed by senate air mail investigators.

Frank J. Hogan presented MacCracken's defense.

"We respectfully challenge the jurisdictional authority to try or punish him," Hogan began. "There are serious constitutional questions involved. But the rulings of the court make it possible for me to address you now on the facts of the case rather than the law."

The senate has concluded the trial of MacCracken and three other defendants, L. H. Brittin, H. M. Hanshue, and Gilbert Givvin.

Tomorrow Is Deadline On Auto Licenses

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 13.—(UP)—California motorists who fail to apply for their 1934 licenses by midnight tomorrow will be required to pay double for their plates, the state department of motor vehicles announced today.

All cars displaying last year's license plates will be stopped by state highway patrolmen, beginning Feb. 15, Registrar Russell Bevans said. Drivers able to show they have applied for 1934 registration will be allowed to proceed.

Bevans estimated nearly half a million machines throughout the state are still operating under 1933 licenses.

TAX REVISION BILL TO COME UP WEDNESDAY

Four Days of Debate Will Be Followed by Passage Next Monday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(UP)—The house rules committee was expected to report out today a drastic rule setting off oratory on the $235,000,000 tax revision measure.

The rule sought by the ways and means committee is even more drastic than that utilized to push through the Smoot-Hawley act. It permits four days of general debate in which members opposing various provisions of the bill may shut off debate. Then it places a clamp on all amendments, except those offered by the committee itself.

Under the scheduled procedure the tax bill in its present form is expected to be passed by the house next Monday.

The attitude of many members of both parties was that a stiff rule preventing amendments would save them from voting on many controversial subjects. Thus for example they would avoid having to vote on the sales tax, because there will be no way to bring up a sales tax amendment.

Beginning tomorrow the house will spend the remainder of the week in general debate on the tax bill, under the program.

Meanwhile, Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins was scheduled to testify before the house expenditures committee in its hearings on use of CWA funds.

The naval affairs committee had airplane manufacturers before it as it continued piling up data on large navy plane contract profits.

DECLARES SUSPECTS CONFESS ROBBERY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—Postoffice officials said today that William P. Barry and George W. Kerr, suspects in the $237,000 Sacramento postoffice robbery, had confessed and would testify against alleged accomplices.

Held in the robbery net, in addition to Barry and Kerr, were Gus Schaefer, his wife, Ida Schaefer, and two John Does, said to be Roger and Tommy Tuohy, Chicago gangsters, also accused.

Date of the California trial will be set when the federal court convenes in Sacramento on Feb. 19.

LIEUTENANT DENIES CHARGE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Lieut. John N. Murrell, brawny former West Point football star accused of assaulting a pretty Birmingham, Ala., divorcee, emphatically denied the charge in federal court here today.

On direct examination Murrell said he did not take Miss Blanche Ralls, 32, direct to her home after attending a dance and a night club because she was intoxicated.

"She couldn't tell me where she lived," Murrell said.

Townsite Of H.B. Asks To Incorporate

Association Will Deal With State for Operating Wells on Royalty

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Organization of a cooperative association which will deal with the state of California for operation of Huntington Beach oil wells on a royalty basis was believed completed today when the Huntington Beach Townsite association filed articles of incorporation.

The association was formed, according to the articles, in order to provide "that each member shall have delivered or paid all royalties and indebtedness due and payable the state of California and others, to the end there may be proper and orderly production of and from the wells and members, and proper and orderly payment of royalties and other indebtedness."

Directors of the association are H. H. McVicar and J. E. Brain, Huntington Beach; H. R. Hamilton and T. M. Rowan, Long Beach; J. J. Doyle, Eugene Overton, J. Harold Cragin, Charles T. Wilson and Cecil A. Borden, Los Angeles.

When Finance Director Rolland Vandegrift reached an agreement with independent operators recently, he stipulated that independent must be members of a cooperative group before they would be granted permission to continue tapping an oil pool under the state-owned tideslides. Those granted permission, which would include easements through a Standard Oil strip, will pay the state royalty averaging about 12 1-2 per cent of total production.

NEWSPAPER EDITOR ESCAPES BULLETS

EUREKA, Cal., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Don O'Kane, Eureka newspaper executive fired on by unknown assailants while seated in his office, could not recall today any enemies which might have provoked the attack.

O'Kane, assistant publisher of the Humboldt Standard, said that two shots were fired at him last night. The assailants fled in an automobile. The shots missed the newspaperman but glass from the shattered window filled the left side of his face with splinters.

"I may have made a few enemies in the 13 years I have been with The Standard," O'Kane said, "but I don't know who they are or why the shots were fired."

The body was found by members of his family, slumped on the floor, a revolver nearby.

A physician who was called to his rural estate several miles from the city, pronounced him dead, a suicide.

The bullet, fired from a revolver which he kept in a desk drawer, entered his chest and penetrated the heart, the physician said.

George W. Eads, public relations man for the brewing company, said that he believed ill health was the reason for Busch's act. Eads said that Busch had suffered from ill health for several months.

His chauffeur was in the room where Busch had been confined with heart trouble and quit when the aged brewer fired the fatal shot. Busch asked the chauffeur to tune the radio in and the chauffeur was tuning the dials when the shot rang out.

Busch killed himself in his room on the second floor of his mansion on Grant's Farm, his palatial estate. At one time it was a farm belonging to President U. S. Grant.

The chauffeur, Tony Feininger, a maid and Busch's cousin, John Busch, were in the room a few minutes before the brewer ended his life. The chauffeur said, "He told us all to go to breakfast, and then asked me to remain, close the door and listen to the radio."

PRISONERS FOILED IN ESCAPE ATTEMPT

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 13.—(UP)—A desperate escape attempt by four long-term convicts failed at the Missouri state penitentiary here today when a crude benzine bomb tossed into a guard tower failed to explode.

Simultaneously, one of the four attempted to span the 15 feet between the roof of the boiler building and the prison wall. A long plank was used. Gunfire of guards drove the men to cover.

Deputy Warden Tom Scott said the four men were placed in solitary confinement.

FAY WEBB CONFINED TO HOSPITAL TODAY

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13.—(UP)—Fay Webb Vallee rested in a hospital today while her attorneys planned to argue against the demerger by which her estranged husband, Rudy Vallee, hopes to dismiss her separate maintenance suit and action for $7400 a month temporary alimony.

REMOVAL OF HARVEY COUCH AS RFC DIRECTOR DEMANDED BY REPRESENTATIVE RANKIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(UP)—Resignation or removal of Harvey Couch as a director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation was demanded by Rep. Rankin, Dem., Miss., today on the basis of publication of the Costigan report showing Couch's income as head of three utility companies.

"Unless Couch resigns from the RFC at once, President Roosevelt ought to remove him," Rankin said in a statement prompted by a federal trade commission report revealing salaries of utility officials.

"The Couch interests have been to the South what the insull interests were to the North," he said. "They are today plundering the people of Mississippi with power rates, throwing every obstruction in the way to prevent towns, cities and municipalities from owning and operating their own power plants, or securing power from the Tennessee valley authority at Muscle Shoals."

"Their attorneys and representatives are attempting to lobby through the legislature of Mississippi a law that would paralyze the cities and towns in that state, and place them at the mercy of private power interests in the future."

"And for his 'services' to the people of Mississippi as the head of the Mississippi Power and Light company, he receives a salary of $17,100 a year, wrung from the distressed meager users of electricity lights and power in that state."

"At the same time he receives $33,393 for his 'services' to the people of Arkansas in the same capacity, and $19,000 for similar 'services' to the people of Louisiana. Yet people in those states, and I speak adversely as to Mississippi, who are endeavoring to secure loans through the RFC with which to construct their local distribution systems, or power lines over which to secure cheap power from TVA, which loans are self-liquidating, must come on bended knees to Harvey C. Couch, one of the directing heads of this gigantic power octopus."

AUGUST BUSCH, PROTESTS OVER BREWERY HEAD, CANCELLATION ENDS HIS LIFE BEING IGNORED

Anheuser Busch Company President Fires Bullet Into Heart

An unsigned note bidding goodbye to his family and written in pencil was left by Busch.

It said: "Good-bye precious Mama and adorable children."

The body was found by members of his family, slumped on the floor, a revolver nearby.

A physician who was called to his rural estate several miles from the city, pronounced him dead, a suicide.

The bullet, fired from a revolver which he kept in a desk drawer, entered his chest and penetrated the heart, the physician said.

George W. Eads, public relations man for the brewing company, said that he believed ill health was the reason for Busch's act. Eads said that Busch had suffered from ill health for several months.

OREGON SOLON IS KILLED BY LAWYER

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Sensational developments were expected today as authorities strove to learn what lay behind the slaying of a popular young legislator, shot allegedly by a prominent Klamath Falls attorney.

The victim, Ralph Horan, 28, came here six years ago to practice law. He established himself so well that in the last election he was chosen a member of the state legislature.

Held on an open charge in the shooting, Horace M. Manning, 55, leading attorney, would not discuss a probable motive.

The young legislator, a graduate of Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., is survived by his wife, a three-year-old son and a two-year-old daughter.

Objects To Every Bill On Calendar

Rep. Fish Angered When Request to Print Lindbergh Letter Denied

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(UP)—A filibuster by Rep. Fish, Repn., N. Y., who had failed to get consent to place in the congressional record the letter of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to President Roosevelt, forced the house to adjourn today one hour after convening.

Fish, angered at refusal of Majority Leader Byrns to give unanimous consent to printing of the letter, protesting cancellation of airmail contracts, filibustered by objecting to all bills on the private calendar.

None of the bills can pass except by unanimous vote.

Byrns, angered at Fish's tactics, shouted at the New Yorker: "We might as well adjourn if you are going to object to all bills and make a farce out of the proceedings."

"Well, I won't object if you let the Lindbergh letters be placed in the record."

"I won't be held up," retorted Byrns, and moved the house adjourn.

At one time during the argument, Fish walked across the middle aisle separating Republicans and Democrats, and it looked as if he and the majority leader might exchange blows.

"Get over on your own side," shouted Rep. Blanton, Dem., Texas. Byrns taunted Fish constantly. "Do you want the country to know that important bills are being held up here because of the gentleman from New York?" he shouted at Fish.

Fish's answer was lost in the shouts.

"You're just a member of the house," Fish called at Byrns, "you won't tell me anything."

"I'll tell you either in here or outside," shouted the floor leader. Byrns after adjournment denied that he personally had objected to insertion of the Lindbergh protest in the record but said that "there were scores of objections."

"Why should it be placed in the record," said Byrns. "It was printed in all the newspapers, even before the president saw it."

SECOND TRIAL OF KIDNAPERS OPENS

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(UP)—With the assurance that the principal witness, John (Jake) Barber, Factor, will be available to testify, the state's attorney's office moved today to open the second trial of Roger Touhy, Chicago gangster, and two henchmen, on kidnapping charges.

Touhy, Albert Kator and Gus Schaeffer face a possible death penalty sentence if convicted.

Before the second trial could be gotten under way a flurry of legal maneuvers was expected. Defense Counsel William Scott Stewart having announced that he would seek a change in venue, all possible delays and probably would even drop from the case. Stewart was credited with presenting his client's case, in the first trial, effectively enough to result in a jury disagreement.

BELIEVE PRISON OF BREMER IS FOUND

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Park A. Findley, chief of the Iowa State Bureau of Investigation, said today he had located what he believed was the hideout of a gang which kidnaped Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul, Minn., banker, and held him 22 days for $200,000 ransom.

Findley said he would ask federal authorities to bring Bremer to a farm nine miles southwest of Creston, Ia., in an effort to identify the hideout.

Findley returning from a trip to Creston, said he believed he had "conclusive information" that Bremer was held near Creston during virtually the entire period of his captivity. He has sent his information to the federal department of justice in Chicago, he said.

Treatment Is Drastic But Gets Results

BELMONT, N. Y., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Dr. E. H. Saniter, Nassau county eye specialist, today began an examination of Halmar Lettita, 48, a laborer, to determine whether an accidental sledge hammer blow on the back three weeks ago was responsible for the phenomenal return of his eye sight to normal. His vision was seriously defective for more than 15 years.

Lettita, a CWA worker, who could not read even the largest newspaper headlines without thick-lensed glasses, was knocked unconscious by the hammer. An X-ray examination revealed he had suffered only a bruise. He went back to work, his sight restored to normal.

EIGHT KILLED IN ATTEMPTED JAIL DELIVERY

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Rigid prison discipline was clamped on Walla Walla state penitentiary today following an unsuccessful jailbreak in which eight men were killed and ten others either wounded or stabbed.

Warden J. M. McCauley believed that the trouble was over but he took no chances. Extra guards manned the high walls of the red-bricked prison. National Guardsmen stood by for possible emergencies. Prisoners known as troublemakers were placed in solitary confinement.

Six convicts were killed, a guard was stabbed to death and a prisoner described as "an innocent bystander" was wounded fatally. The desperate attempt at wholesale jail delivery failed because of the unerring marksmanship of prison guards who refused to be "bluffed." Four of the wounded were guards, stabbed by the rioters; the other six were prisoners.

The jailbreak attempt developed suddenly after the lunch hour yesterday afternoon. Twenty convicts, pushing prison officials before them as hostages, marched on the main gate and demanded to be let out.

Facing a wall guard hastily augmented by McCauley because he "smelled trouble brewing," they threatened to kill their hostages unless the gates were opened.

"Shoot To Kill!"

It was a tense moment. McCauley issued orders to "shoot to kill but don't hit the turnkeys."

Then H. L. Briggs, a turnkey, seized by the prisoners, pitched forward on his face. Later it was learned that he had been stabbed to death by an unidentified prisoner.

As Briggs fell, the guards along the wall unleashed their first volley of rifle fire. Bullets whistled uncomfortably close to the faces of the captive guards as the sharpshooters picked off the leaders of the attempted break.

A second volley dispersed the rioters, who scurried to cover without injuring their hostages. A machine gun was brought into play to sweep the yard. Bullets splattered along the ground, against the walls of buildings, into the bodies of fleeing convicts.

GOVERNMENT PLANS OIL RULING APPEAL

TYLER, Tex., Feb. 13.—(UP)—The government mustered its forces here today for a fight against two federal court rulings which returned to state authorities the power to regulate oil production.

A speedy appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court was indicated in the case of one of the decisions, which held the NRA petroleum code to be unconstitutional and an invasion of states' rights.

The decisions, handed down by a three-judge tribunal at Sherman, Tex., yesterday, were admitted by government authorities to have "wrecked" attempts to regulate oil production under the NRA.

HARRY LANGDON IS MARRIED IN TUCSON

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Harry Langdon, film comedian, and the former Mable Georgina Sheldon of Los Angeles, were believed enroute to Hollywood today after being married at the Trinity Presbyterian church here in a surprise ceremony.

Neither would discuss their romance when located last night eating in a local restaurant. The comedian laughingly declared he found his wife on the desert behind a cactus. She is a non-professional, and a native of Portsmouth, England.

ARTILLERY MOWS DOWN SOCIALISTS

HUNDREDS WOUNDED

Court Martial Created by Government in Effort to Execute Offenders

VIENNA, Feb. 13.—(UP)—Believers Austria, at the turning point in her post-war destiny, writhed under a devastating civil war today as the government slowly crushed a Socialist revolt in which hundreds were estimated to have fallen.

The total of slain was placed unofficially at between 400 and 500, with hundreds more wounded.

The Socialists, outnumbered and out-equipped, nevertheless fought desperately in Vienna and a dozen other points in the northern part of Austria.

Machine guns and artillery mowed them down in Vienna, Linz, Steyr, Bruck, Kapfenberg and other points. The uniformed Socialist Schutzbund corps fought back with machine guns, rifles, pistols and bombs.

The government appeared to be gaining the upper hand in Vienna, with various Socialist strongholds falling under withering fire. At Steyr, however, the Socialists were holding the Danube bridge and the garrison at Steyr, automobile center, was surrounded and besieged by the Socialists.

Volunteers Aid

The rebellion was difficult to put down because of the widespread activities of the Socialists and their desperate resistance. As night approached in Vienna, the combined government forces of troops, police, schutzbund and civilian volunteers were almost exhausted and faced an increasingly critical situation.

The Socialist Schutzbund forces were encouraged by the stubborn resistance of their comrades and assumed the offensive in numerous areas of the city, especially the neighborhoods of the teeming municipality-owned apartment houses.

Socialists, interspersed with Communists, opened fire on patrols in what the authorities regarded as areas they had pacified.

Motorists and pedestrians venturing into the embattled districts were targets for Socialist snipers. The latter were aware that authorities were commandeering automobiles to transport troops and reinforcements from place to place.

AUGUST BUSCH, BREWERY HEAD, ENDS HIS LIFE

An unsigned note bidding goodbye to his family and written in pencil was left by Busch.

It said: "Good-bye precious Mama and adorable children."

The body was found by members of his family, slumped on the floor, a revolver nearby.

A physician who was called to his rural estate several miles from here, pronounced him dead, a suicide.

The bullet, fired from a revolver which he kept in a desk drawer, entered his chest and penetrated the heart, the physician said.

George W. Eads, public relations man for the brewing company, said that he believed ill health was the reason for Busch's act. Eads said that Busch had suffered from ill health for several months.

His chauffeur was in the room where Busch had been confined with heart trouble and gout when the aged brewer fired the fatal shot. Busch asked the chauffeur to tune the radio in and the chauffeur was tuning the dials when the shot rang out.

Busch killed himself in his room on the second floor of his mansion on Grant's Farm, his palatial estate. At one time it was a farm belonging to President U. S. Grant.

The chauffeur, Tony Feichtinger, a maid and Busch's cousin, John Busch, were in the room a few minutes before the brewer ended his life. The chauffeur said, "He told us all to go to breakfast, and then asked me to remain, close the door and listen to 'no radio.'"

VIRGINIA BRUCE TO DIVORCE GILBERT
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13.—(UP)—A divorce will drop the curtain on John Gilbert's romance with Virginia Bruce, she revealed today.

Miss Bruce said there was no hope of a reconciliation. Gilbert visited her with the purpose, in view before he sailed for Honolulu last week but she turned him down, she said. They parted as friends.

Objects To Every Bill On Calendar

Rep. Fish Angered When Request to Print Lindbergh Letter Denied

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(UP)—A filibuster by Rep. Fish, Repn., N. Y., who had failed to get consent to place in the congressional record the letter of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to President Roosevelt, forced the house to adjourn today one hour after convening.

Fish, angered at refusal of Majority Leader Byrnes to give unanimous consent to printing of the letter protesting cancellation of airmail contracts, filibustered by objecting to all bills on the private calendar.

None of the bills can pass except by unanimous vote.

Byrnes, angered at Fish's tactics, shouted at the New Yorker:

"We might as well adjourn if you are going to object all bills and make a farce out of the proceedings."

"I won't be held up," retorted Byrnes, and moved the house adjourn.

At one time during the argument, Fish walked across the middle aisle separating Republicans and Democrats, and it looked as if he and the majority leader might exchange blows.

"Get over on your own side," shouted Rep. Blanton, Dem., Texas. Byrnes taunted Fish constantly.

"Do you want the country to know that important bills are being held up here because of the gentleman from New York?" he shouted at Fish.

Fish's answer was lost in the shouts.

"You're just a member of the house," Fish called at Byrnes, "you won't tell me anything."

"I'll tell you either in here or outside," shouted the floor leader. Byrnes after adjournment denied that he personally had objected to insertion of the Lindbergh protest in the record but said that "there were scores of objections."

"Why should it be placed in the record," said Byrnes, "is printed in all the newspapers, even before the president saw it?"

SECOND TRIAL OF KIDNAPERS OPENS
CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(UP)—With the assurance that the principal witness, John (Jake Barber) Factor, will be available to testify, the state's attorney's office moved today to open the second trial of Roger Touhy, Chicago gangster, and two henchmen, on kidnapping charges.

Touhy, Albert Kator and Gus Schaeffer face a possible death penalty sentence if convicted.

Before the second trial could be gotten under way a flurry of legal maneuvers was expected. Defense counsel William Scott Stewart, having announced that he would seek a change in venue, all possible delays and probably would even drop from the case. Stewart was credited with presenting his client's case, in the first trial, effectively enough to result in a jury disagreement.

Treatment Is Drastic But Gets Results

BELMONT, N. Y., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Dr. E. H. Saniter, Nassau county eye specialist, today began an examination of Halmar Lettita, 48, a laborer, to determine whether an accidental sledge hammer blow on the back three weeks ago was responsible for the phenomenal return of his eye sight to normal. His vision was seriously defective for more than 15 years.

Lettita, a CWA worker, who could not read, write, or do any work, was brought to the examination revealed he had suffered only a bruise. He went back to work, his sight restored to normal.

ARTILLERY MOWS DOWN SOCIALISTS
VIENNA, Feb. 13.—(UP)—Be-leaguered Austria, at the turning point in her post-war destiny, witnessed today a devastating civil war today as the government slowly crushed a Socialist revolt in which hundreds were estimated to have fallen.

The total of slain was placed unofficially at between 400 and 500, with hundreds more wounded.

The Socialists, outnumbered and out-equipped, nevertheless fought desperately in Vienna and a dozen other points in the northern part of Austria.

Machine guns and artillery moved them down in Vienna, Linz, Steyr, Bruck, Kapfenberg and other points. The uniformed Socialist Schutzbund corps fought back with machine guns, rifles, pistols and bombs.

The government appeared to be gaining upper hand in Vienna, with various Socialist strongholds falling under withering fire. At Linz, however, the Socialists were storming the police and troops holding the Danube bridge and the garrison at Steyr, automobile center, was surrounded and besieged by the Socialists.

Volunteers Aid
The rebellion was difficult to put down because of the widespread activities of the Socialists and their desperate resistance. As night approached in Vienna, the combined government forces of troops, police, Schutzbund and civilian volunteers were almost exhausted and faced an increasingly critical situation.

The Socialist Schutzbund forces were encouraged by the stubborn resistance of their comrades and assumed the offensive in numerous areas of the city, especially the neighborhoods of the teeming tenement-houses—owned apartment houses.

Socialists, interspersed with Communists, opened fire on patrols in what the authorities regarded as areas they had pacified.

Motorists and pedestrians venturing into the embattled districts were targets for Socialist snipers. The latter were aware that authorities were commandeering automobiles to transport troops and reinforcements from place to place.

GOVERNMENT PLANS OIL RULING APPEAL
TYLER, Tex., Feb. 13.—(UP)—The government mustered its forces here today for a fight against two federal court rulings which returned to state authorities the power to regulate oil production.

A speedy appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court was indicated in the case of one of the decisions, which held the NRA petroleum code to be unconstitutional and an invasion of states' rights.

The decisions, handed down by a three-judge tribunal at Sherman, Tex., yesterday, were admitted by government authorities to have "wrecked" attempts to regulate oil production under the NRA.

DAY IN CONGRESS
TUCSON, ARIZ., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Harry Langdon, film comedian, and the former Mable Georgina Sheldon of Los Angeles, were believed en route to Hollywood today after being married at the Trinity Presbyterian church here in a surprise ceremony.

Neither would discuss their romance when located last night eating in a local restaurant. The comedian laughingly declared he found my wife on the desert behind a cactus. "She is a non-professional and a native of Portsmouth, England."

suspected that despite the government's radio and press propaganda, claiming to have the situation in hand, the outlook was dangerous. It was believed authorities were withholding casualty lists because the number of dead and wounded was so high that disclosure would dishearten the government's followers.

Cannonading, which had been silenced in the city since 1:30 p.m., was resumed in the Hallenstadter district at 5:50 p.m. Fighting was going on in 20 districts of the city.

The government created a court martial today to try and hang offenders convicted of fighting authorities under the existing state of martial law.

An official announcement said: "The court is now trying the first eight officers who fired on police after martial law was declared. If convicted, they will be hanged immediately."

FRENCH CONDITIONS ARE CALMER TODAY

PARIS, Feb. 12.—(UP)—France emerged today from a critical week of riots culminating in a 24 hour general strike, and its new "salvation" cabinet pointed at once toward a constructive legislative and executive program to bring economic and political normality.

The Socialist and Communist union workers returned to their jobs, and soldiers returned to normal barracks activity.

Premier Gaston Doumergue and his concentration government began drafting plans for their ministerial declaration before the chamber of deputies Thursday. It was planned to introduce the budget at once and to try and pass it by the 28th, as one reassurance to business and the public.

Two persons were killed during minor riots at Marseilles. Twenty were wounded.

It was announced that 116 persons were arrested here. Twelve police were injured in isolated encounters last night in working class districts. Generally all was quiet throughout the country.

DEPORTATION OF AGITATORS ASKED

The board of supervisors was asked today to take steps to deport alien agitators in this county. The request was made by the Garden Grove Citrus association and was in the form of a resolution adopted at the annual meeting of that organization. The citrus association annual meeting was held January 27. Chairman Willard Smith ordered the resolution filed after remarking that the board of supervisors has no power or authority to order deportation of anyone.

The resolution urged county authorities to see that aliens who are known Communists and sources of disturbance and unrest among Orange county laborers be deported.

WICKS COUGH DROP

... Real Throat relief! Medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub OVERCOMES BAD BREATH

To The Citrus Men of Orange County

NOW is the time to apply concentrate fertilizers on our citrus groves. If these products are applied at once before further winter rains, the food will become almost immediately available to the trees. Orange trees' greatest demand for Nitrogen is during the three months preceding the "June drop" period. These plant foods must be in the soil during March, April and May—if we are going to have healthy, vigorous trees, good sets, and fine quality fruit.

The fertilizer situation has changed considerably the past sixty days. Everything is under strict Code regulation. If you buy a ton of "Ten-Ten-Five" it will cost you exactly the same money from the most reputable manufacturer in America as you will pay from some small mixing outfit that has neither the knowledge nor the facilities for giving you a good product. It is possible to mix fertilizers in a slipshod manner and save quite a bit in manufacturing costs. This is going to give the Second-rate manufacturer an advantage, because the law will require him to ask the same price for his material as can be charged by the First-class manufacturer. Therefore, the sensible way to buy these plant foods will be—Buy only from firms of established and known integrity. If a concern offers you material for less than the code price, it is because that firm thinks that you will be willing to put yourself on their level just to save a dollar. That, in itself, is your warning to the chisel.

For the past thirty years this firm has enjoyed its contact with the firm of Swift & Company. The fact that today we are enthusiastic over Swift & Company and their products proves that they have always been true and just with us in all our dealings. They make the finest goods of their kind in the world. They never misrepresent their goods. We are proud to represent them in Orange county, especially now when we can offer you their goods at the same prices as those of any other manufacturer.

Our prices will be for cash, of course, or through your packing house on proper requisition. The prices quoted are for two ton lots or over, delivered to your ranch anywhere in Orange county direct from the factory at Ontario by truck. We are trying to cooperate with you. Won't you give us your fertilizer business?

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Feb. 13. (To the Editor of The Register.) Papers say, "What would Lincoln do today?" Well, in the first place he wouldn't chop any wood, he would trade his ax in on a Ford, being a Republican he would vote the Democratic ticket. Being in sympathy for the under dog he would be classed as a radical Progressive. Having a sense of humor he would be called eccentric. And it's Alice's birthday, too. Alice Longworth has for the last thirty years, and I hope thirty more, had a reserved seat at the biggest show on earth.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

P. S.—In this aeroplane mess, I don't own 1 cent of stock, I don't own 1 cent of stock in anything. (I have some lots in Beverly Hills I would like to talk to you about.) I love to fly, I pay my way and do it. Now there must have been some monkey business higher up, or Mr. Roosevelt wouldn't do what he has. And I would like to sit in on the jury and help convict 'em, for they have brought injury to a great industry.

put service in effect on 10 other routes at the same time or soon thereafter.

It was indicated that administrative and congressional leaders were studying the permanent abolition of the air and ocean mail subsidy system and substitution of a contract plan under which the government would pay private airline operators their actual cost of carrying the mail plus a reasonable profit. It was emphasized that such plans are purely in the formative stage, and the interdepartmental aviation committee declined to make recommendations regarding the present situation as purely an administrative problem.

SCHUMACHER TAKES STOCK IN BULLETIN

Articles of incorporation for the Anaheim Bulletin on file at the court house reveal that William Schumacher, former county supervisor, and rancher has entered the newspaper business with Lotus Loudon, Anaheim publisher.

The Bulletin has been incorporated for $50,000 with 500 shares of stock with a par value of $100 per share. The articles of incorporation were signed by Loudon, his wife Mrs. Hazel D. Loudon, both of Anaheim, Everett J. Baker, Los Angeles, Julia M. Baker, Norwalk, and Schumacher who lives at Buena Park. The signers of the articles were also named as directors of the corporation.

DECISION IN NEIGHBORLY CONTEMPT CASE EXPECTED SOON

Hogan asserted that if MacCracken had been in contempt, he had been purged of this charge when subpoenaed papers removed from his files were returned to the senate investigating committee. "What is it, may I ask, that you are trying to compel?" he asked. "I ask respectfully but I ask it earnestly. Are these questions you want answered? Mr. MacCracken has refused to answer none. Are there documents you want produced; there are none that he has refused to produce.

PIONEER RESIDENT DIES UNEXPECTEDLY

Friends of John L. Martin, 74, who was found dead in his home, 1210 North Ross street, Sunday, will be given an opportunity of paying their last respects between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the chapel of the Smith and Tuthill Funeral home, Sixth and Broadway.

The body will be sent to Pekin, Indiana, where funeral services will be held, it was announced. A pioneer resident of Santa Ana, Martin had lived in this city for the past 47 years. He formerly was in the grocery business at the corner of Fourth and Bush streets and later in the employ of the Huff Clothing company and the Tiltons Clothing company.

GOVERNOR TO BE GUEST WEDNESDAY

More than 200 are expected to attend a luncheon meeting tomorrow noon in James' cafe to hear James Rolph Jr., governor of California, speak. It was estimated today according to advance reservations. Because of the limited space, attendance was limited to members of the Kiwanis club, host to the governor, and the Rotary and Lions clubs, in addition to special guests and members of the governor's party.

Governor Rolph will be introduced by George A. Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. A local committee will meet the governor at Los Angeles in the morning and escort him to Orange county. He will dedicate a strip of road at Anaheim before coming to Santa Ana, and will leave here for Huntington Beach.

Plea Changed By Escaped Prisoner

Charles Brophy who, last August, became tired of wishing the county's dirty linen at the County Hospital where he was working as a prisoner, and escaped, this morning changed his plea from not guilty to guilty on an escape charge and asked for probation.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames, who received the changed plea, set next Friday as the date for hearing on the application.

Brophy who escaped from the county hospital where he was working as a trustee in the laundry, originally pleaded not guilty to the charge of escaping from an officer. The change in plea was made today at the time set for his trial.

MONEY QUESTION TOPIC FOR FORUM

Dr. George Ashley, of Hollywood, is lecturing tonight at the Dr. Frederick W. Roman forum in the Temple theater, Third and Bush streets, at 7:30 p.m. on the subject of "The Present Status of the Money Question."

Dr. Ashley is pastor of the Hollywood Unitarian church and has conducted his own forum in Hollywood for some time. He has made considerable study of the money question according to Dr. Roman and gives a very interesting analysis of the various phases of the relation of "money" to recovery, social change, inflation and other issues connected with finance and business.

Following the lecture an open forum will be held on the money question and other problems of current interest under the leadership of Dr. Roman. The public is cordially invited to attend the lecture and take part in the discussion.

TAX ADJUSTMENT ASKED BY WOMAN

A letter protesting taxes on property near the Municipal Bowl on Sixth and Olive streets was referred to County Assessor James Sleeper today by the board of supervisors. The letter was written by a widow who owns a house on Sixth street near the Bowl.

According to the letter taxes on the property this year amounted to $38.56. Rental on the house has been the woman's only source of income, she said, but since opening of the Bowl it has been impossible to keep the house rented. She said that persons who could and would pay the rental asked for the property, refused to stay because of the noise. She is asking that some steps be taken to reduce her taxes in proportion to the alleged depreciation of her property.

Anaheim Team To Give K. P. Degree

Santa Ana lodge, Knights of Pythias, will stage a special event at 8 o'clock tomorrow night when the second rank is put on. It was announced today by Edward W. Cochems, chancellor commander of the lodge.

B. Z. McKinney and Franklin West, attorneys, will participate in the prosecution and defense in connection with the rank ceremonies, which will be put on by the Anaheim degree team. It was announced.

Many representatives from lodges in the Southland are expected to attend the meeting. Chancellor Cochems said in urging all local members of the lodge to witness the ceremonies and attend a short business meeting which will precede the ceremonies.

EXTEND TIME FOR SCHOOL DEMOLITION

Permission has been granted to extend the time of demolition of the Huntington Beach elementary school, a CWA project for 90 days, according to Robert Ramsey, CWA director in this county. This extension, he said has been granted providing CWA work continues through the summer.

It has been estimated that material valued at $22,000 is being salvaged by CWA workers from the quake damaged buildings of the school. All brick is being saved for use in reconstruction and other salvaged building material is being sold. Estimates of the money saved were made by the Huntington Beach High school, Ramsey said. At present there are 38 workers employed on the project.

Accident Victim Corrects Report

Desiring to clear up a misunderstanding in reports on an accident Saturday in which he was involved, David Higerra, 20, 110 South Artesia street, said today that he was riding in the car of Ernest Vil, 23, 1339 West Eighth street, which was in a collision with the car of Virna Cochran, 22, R. D. 3, Santa Ana, at West Fourth street and Pacific avenue. Instead of with Cochran as previously reported, Cochran was found to have been drinking but not intoxicated, police reported. Higerra was not taken to the police station or examined for intoxication.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting tired of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to Walgreen's, McCoy Drug Store, Your Druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmitin (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

SAN CLEMENTE TO HOLD BOND ELECTION SOON

City councilmen of San Clemente are expected to set a date for a special $65,000 bond election when they meet Friday night as the result of a mass meeting of citizens held at the city hall Monday night. According to reports of the meeting, sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of the election plan.

Two propositions will be submitted to the people. One calls for $40,000 for improvements and additions to the water system. The other, for $25,000, calls for resurfacing of certain streets. It is planned to secure the money from the federal government under a loan and grant plan, with the government donating 20 per cent. The election is expected to be held about the middle of March. Mayor O. R. Robertson presided.

The principal speaker was Colonel Sears, a member of the state PWA advisory board, who outlined the functions of the Public Works Administration.

It is understood that the two projects have the approval of PWA officials and that if the voters express their approval, little delay will be occasioned in starting work.

Police News

Lloyd J. Otis, 39, Beverly Hills postal clerk, was booked at the county jail yesterday for counterfeiting by United States Deputy Marshal Frank Rosser.

Bernard P. McCaffrey, 502 East Sixth street, was arrested at Fourth and French streets at 11:15 last night and booked at the county jail for drunkenness.

Salome Perez, 42, Placentia, was booked at the county jail yesterday for drunkenness by Chief Gus Barnes of Placentia.

Allen Howell, 709 East Walnut street, reported to police that a camera film, flashlight and pair of gloves were stolen from his car Saturday or Sunday.

The bicycle of C. F. Glen, 416 North Sycamore street, was stolen yesterday from the 1900 block on West Fifth street, he reported to police.

F. H. Davis of Costa Mesa was arrested in Orange yesterday by Deputies G. F. McKelvey and Merle Dean on a petty theft charge. Judge D. J. Dodge, who issued the complaint, freed Davis without bail.

FINK NAMED HEAD OF EMPLOYE GROUP

Harry Fink, assistant chief of police, was elected president of the newly organized Santa Ana Fire and Policemen's association at the first meeting of the group held last night in the fire station on North Sycamore street.

Other officials named by the men were Fireman Dave Smith, first vice-president; Officer Frank Lutz, second vice president; Fireman Dunnie Wilson, secretary-treasurer and Motor Officer Ed Lentz, master-of-ceremonies. Fink appointed Officer Charles Neer and Fire Marshal Elmer Gates on the sick and visitation committee and Officer J. F. McWilliams and Fireman Frank McCowan on the entertainment committee.

The new association was formed to help the firemen and policemen become better acquainted, unite for strength and perform necessary services in their ranks, Fink said. More than 30 men from the departments were present and will hold meetings when called by the president.

KINCAID ASKS $10,000 FOR ARM INJURY

Damages in excess of $10,000 for injuries received in an automobile accident in Santa Ana Canyon are being sought in a suit filed today in superior court. The suit was filed by Charles W. Kincaid and names as defendants H. G. Cretcher, Elmer Grey and others.

In addition to asking for $10,000 for arm injuries that may prove to be permanent according to the suit the action is asking permission of the court to amend the prayer later to include the total amount of money expended for doctors and medical supplies. The complaint stated that Kincaid still is under treatment and will be for some time and does not, at this time, know the total amount of his bills.

Kincaid alleges that he was injured on the night of November 16, last on the Santa Ana Canyon road when his car was struck by a truck driven by Grey. The heavy vehicle was owned by Cretcher who employed Grey as his driver. The suit is asking for $100,000 for injuries to Kincaid's arm, $60 for the loss of 12 days employment and $23 for damages to the Kincaid automobile in addition to permission to insert the amount of doctors' bills later.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION

MAN BURNED TO DEATH IN FIRE NEAR ATWOOD

Enrique Macgee, 76, native of California and pioneer settler in Orange county, was burned to death in his small home on the Sanchez ranch northeast of Atwood last night from a fire of undetermined origin which completely destroyed the house before the fire was discovered.

Coroner Earl Abbey found the burned body of the old man in the rear of the house and had it removed to the Seale Funeral home in Fullerton, where an inquest will be held later this week.

It is understood that Macgee has eight children including Mrs. Henrietta Laughlin of Los Angeles and Mrs. Dulcinea Morris of Stockton. A half brother, William Macgee, is understood to be living near San Juan Capistrano.

Attempts to search the ruins for Macgee were hampered until firemen from the Placentia fire department arrived and put out the flames. An investigation into the circumstances surrounding the fire is being conducted by Deputy Sheriff L. H. Nicholson and George Graupensperger.

Son Born To Rev. and Mrs. Minck

A son, Elmer Edwin, was born to the Rev. and Mrs. Franklin H. Minck at the A and S Maternity home in Santa Ana today. The baby weighed four and a half pounds.

The Rev. Mr. Minck is pastor of the First Christian church in Orange. There are two other children in the family, Mary Virginia and Martha Jean. Both mother and baby are doing nicely, it is reported.

There is no time like the present to have your necessary dental work done.

These plant foods must be in the soil during March, April and May—if we are going to have healthy, vigorous trees, good sets, and fine quality fruit.

The fertilizer situation has changed considerably the past sixty days. Everything is under strict code regulation. If you buy a ton of "Ten-ten-five" it will cost you exactly the same money from the most reputable manufacturer in America as you will pay from some small mixing outfit that has neither the knowledge nor the facilities for giving you a good product, the knowledge nor the facilities for giving you a good product, the knowledge nor the facilities for giving you a good product.

For the past thirty years this firm has enjoyed its contact with the firm of Swift & Company. The fact that today we are enthusiastic over Swift & Company and their products proves that they have always been true and just with us in all our dealings. They make the finest goods of their kind in the world. They never misrepresent their goods. We are proud to represent them in Orange county, especially now when we can offer you their goods at the same prices as those of any other manufacturer.

Our prices will be for cash, of course, or through your packing house on proper requisition. The prices quoted are for two ton lots or over, delivered to your ranch anywhere in Orange county direct from the factory at Ontario by truck.

We are trying to cooperate with you. Won't you give us your fertilizer business?

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Feb. 13. (To the Editor of The Register.) Papers say, "What would Lincoln do today?" Well, in the first place he wouldn't chop any wood, he would trade his ax in on a Ford, being a Republican he would vote the Democratic ticket. Being in sympathy for the under dog he would be classed as a radical Progressive. Having a sense of humor he would be called eccentric. And it's Alice's birthday, too. Alice Longworth has for the last thirty years, and I hope thirty more, had a reserved seat at the biggest show on earth.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

P. S.—In this aeroplane mess, I don't own 1 cent of stock, I don't own 1 cent of stock in anything. (I have some lots in Beverly Hills I would like to talk to you about.) I love to fly, I pay my way and do it. Now there must have been some money business higher up, or Mr. Roosevelt wouldn't do what he has. And I would like to sit in on the jury and help convict 'em, for they have brought injury to a great industry.

PROTESTS OVER CANCELLATION BEING IGNORED

put service in effect on 10 other routes at the same time or soon thereafter.

It was indicated that administrative and congressional leaders were studying the permanent abolition of the air and ocean mail subsidy system and substitution of a contract plan under which the government would pay private airline operators their actual cost of carrying the mail plus a reasonable profit. It was emphasized that such plans are purely in the formative stage, and the interdepartmental aviation committee declined to make recommendations regarding the present situation as purely an administrative problem.

SCHUMACHER TAKES STOCK IN BULLETIN

Articles of incorporation for the Anaheim Bulletin on file at the court house reveal that William Schumacher, former county supervisor, and rancher has entered the newspaper business with Lotus Loudon, Anaheim publisher.

The Bulletin has been incorporated for $50,000 with 500 shares of stock with a par value of $100 per share. The articles of incorporation were signed by Loudon, his wife Mrs. Hazel D. Loudon, both of Anaheim, Everett J. Baker, Los Angeles, Julia M. Baker, Norwalk and Schumacher who lives at Buena Park. The signers of the articles were also named as directors of the corporation.

DE GILSON IN CONTEMPT CASE EXPECTED SOON

Hogan asserted that if MacCracken had been in contempt, he had been purged of this charge when subpoenaed papers removed from his files were returned to the senate investigating committee.

"What is it, may I ask, that you are trying to compel?" he asked. "I ask it respectfully but I ask it earnestly. Are there questions you want answered? Mr. MacCracken has refused to answer none. Are there documents you want produced; there are none that he has refused to produce."

PIONEER RESIDENT DIES UNEXPECTEDLY

Friends of John L. Martin, 74, who was found dead in his home, 1210 North Ross street, Sunday, will be given an opportunity of paying their last respects between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the chapel of the Smith and Tutill Funeral home, Sixth and Broadway.

The body will be sent to Pekin, Indiana, where funeral services will be held, it was announced.

A pioneer resident of Santa Ana, Martin had lived in this city for the past 47 years. He formerly was in the grocery business at the corner of Fourth and Bush streets and later in the employ of the Huff Clothing company and the Tilton Clothing company.

GOVERNOR TO BE GUEST WEDNESDAY

More than 200 are expected to attend a luncheon meeting tomorrow noon in James' cafe to hear James Rolph Jr., governor of California, speak. It was estimated today according to advance reservations. Because of the limited space, attendance was limited to members of the Kiwanis club, host to the governor, and the Rotary and Lions clubs, in addition to special guests and members of the governor's party.

Governor Rolph will be introduced by George A. Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. A local committee will meet the governor at Los Angeles in the morning and escort him to Orange county. He will dedicate a strip of road at Anaheim before coming to Santa Ana and will leave here for Huntington Beach.

Plea Changed By Escaped Prisoner

Charles Brophy who, last August, became tired of wishing the county's dirty linen at the County Hospital where he was working as a prisoner, and escaped, this morning changed his plea from not guilty to guilty on an escape charge and asked for probation. Superior Judge H. G. Ames, who received the changed plea, set next Friday as the date for hearing on the application.

Brophy who escaped from the county hospital where he was working as a trustee in the laundry, originally pleaded not guilty to the charge of escaping from an officer. The change in plea was made today at the time set for his trial.

Prisoners lay on the ground and feigned unconsciousness to avoid the deadly rifle fire. In less than half an hour the carefully planned break had been smashed.

It was a job of marksmanship by his guards, McCauley told the United Press.

Eight Victims

All prisoners were locked in their cells; alleged ringleaders who survived the fusillade were placed in solitary confinement; and the task of caring for the dead and wounded commenced. The injured were sent to hospitals while the bodies of the eight victims were taken to the prison morgue.

The bodies of Briggs and five convicts were found in the yard. The rioters killed by the guards' gunfire included Walter Foxworth, serving a robbery sentence; Paul Krause, robbery; H. R. Clark, second degree murder; Gerald Hill, grand larceny; and James R. DeLong, robbery. Later Ernest De Boer, sentenced for robbery, and Harold Robert Parks, serving time for a sex offense, died of wounds. Authorities said that Parks was an "innocent bystander" struck by a stray bullet in a prison factory.

The four injured turnkeys were Gettzen, Tom Hubbard, H. Williams and M. H. Barnett. They had been stabbed when the march on the gate was organized. Wounded prisoners included Ross Chapin, serving a forgery sentence; Ernest Alonzo Ware, robbery; Robert Bain, robbery; Lawrence Thomas, robbery; and Frank Butler, robbery. Bain's condition was critical.

Leaders Named

Warden McCauley named DeLong, who was killed, and Butler, Woods and Colon, who were wounded, as the ringleaders. With their 16 companions, they overpowered turnkeys in a cell block and went to the office of Williams, husky red-haired head turnkey.

In Williams' office, the convicts trusted their captives with wire and organized for the march on the gate. When they were in the office, the telephone rang. It was McCauley, asking whether everything was all right.

Butler threatened Williams and directed that the turnkey reassess the warden.

A much hesitation, the head turnkey threw the word along to his chief that "everything is all right."

But McCauley's suspicions were aroused, so he posted the extra guard on the wall and was ready when the 20 desperate men made their bold attempt for freedom.

EXTEND TIME FOR SCHOOL DEMOLITION

Permission has been granted to extend the time of demolition of the Huntington Beach elementary school, a CWA project for 90 days, according to Robert Ramsey, CWA organizer in this county. This extension, he said, has been granted providing CWA work continues through the summer.

It has been estimated that material valued at $22,000 is being salvaged by CWA workers from the quake damaged buildings of the school. All brick is being saved for use in reconstruction and other salvaged building material is being sold. Estimates of the money saved were made by the Huntington Beach High school, Ramsey said. At present there are 38 workers employed on the project.

MONEY QUESTION TOPIC FOR FORUM

Dr. George Ashley, of Hollywood, is lecturing tonight at the Dr. Frederick W. Roman forum in the Temple theater, Third and Bush streets, at 7:30 p. m. on the subject of "The Present Status of the Money Question."

Dr. Ashley is pastor of the Hollywood Unitarian church and has conducted his own forum in Hollywood for some time. He has made considerable study of the money question according to Dr. Roman and gives a very interesting analysis of the various phases of the relation of "money" to recovery, social change, inflation and other issues connected with finance and business.

Following the lecture an open forum will be held on the money question and other problems of current interest under the leadership of Dr. Roman. The public is cordially invited to attend the lecture and take part in the discussion.

TAX ADJUSTMENT ASKED BY WOMAN

A letter protesting taxes on property near the Municipal Bowl on Sixth and Olive streets was referred to County Assessor James Sleeper today by the board of supervisors. The letter was written by a widow who owns a house on Sixth street near the Bowl.

According to the letter taxes on the property this year amounted to $39.56. Rental on the house has been the woman's only source of income, she said, but since opening of the Bowl it has been impossible to keep the house rented. She said that persons who could and would pay the rental asked for the property, refused to stay because of the noise. She is asking that some steps be taken to reduce her taxes in proportion to the alleged depreciation of her property.

SAN CLEMENTE TO HOLD BOND ELECTION SOON

City councilmen of San Clemente are expected to set a date for a special $68,000 bond election when they meet Friday night as the result of a mass meeting of citizens held at the city hall Monday night. According to reports of the meeting, sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of the election plan.

Two propositions will be submitted to the people. One calls for $40,000 for improvements and additions to the water system. The other, for $28,000, calls for resurfacing of certain streets. It is planned to secure the money from the federal government under a loan and grant plan, with the government donating 30 per cent.

The election is expected to be held about the middle of March. Mayor O. E. Robertson presided. The principal speaker was Colonel Sears, a member of the state PWA advisory board, who outlined the functions of the Public Works administration.

It is understood that the two projects have the approval of PWA officials and that if the voters express their approval, little delay will be occasioned in starting work.

Police News

Lloyd J. Otis, 38, Beverly Hills postal clerk, was booked at the county jail yesterday for counterfeiting by United States Deputy Marshal Frank Besser.

Bernard P. McCaffrey, 502 East Sixth street, was arrested at Fourth and Beach streets at 11:15 last night and booked at the county jail for drunkenness.

Salome Perez, 42, Placentia, was booked at the county jail yesterday for drunkenness by Chief Gus Barnes of Placentia.

Allen Howell, 709 East Walnut street, reported to police that a camera film, flashlight and pair of gloves were stolen from his car Saturday or Sunday.

The bicycle of C. F. Glen, 416 North Sycamore street, was stolen yesterday from the 1900 block on West Fifth street, he reported to police.

F. H. Davis of Costa Mesa was arrested in Orange yesterday by Detective G. F. McKelvey and Merle Dean on a petty theft charge. Judge D. J. Dodge, who issued the complaint, freed Davis without bail.

FINK NAMED HEAD OF EMPLOYE GROUP

Harry Fink, assistant chief of police, was elected president of the newly organized Santa Ana Fire and Policemen's association at the first meeting of the group held last night in the fire station on North Sycamore street.

Other officials named by the men were Fireman Dave Smith, first vice president; Officer Frank Lutz, second vice president; Fireman Dennis Wilson, secretary-treasurer and Motor Officer Ed Lenz, master-of-arms. Fink appointed Officer Charles Neer and Fire Marshal Elmer Gates on the sick and visitation committee and Officer J. F. McWilliams and Fireman Frank McCowan on the entertainment committee.

The new association was formed to help the firemen and policemen become better acquainted, unite for strength and perform necessary services in their ranks, Fink said. More than 30 men from the departments were present and will hold meetings when called by the president.

KINCAID ASKS $10,000 FOR ARM IN JURY

Damages in excess of $10,000 for injuries received in an automobile accident in Santa Ana Canyon are being sought in a suit filed today in superior court. The suit was filed by Charles W. Kincaid and names as defendants H. G. Cretcher, Elmer Grey and others.

In addition to asking for $10,000 for arm injuries that may prove to be permanent according to the suit the action is asking permission of the court to amend the prayer later to include the total amount of money expended for doctors and medical supplies. The complaint stated that Kincaid still is under treatment and will be for some time and does not, at this time, know the total amount of his bills.

Kincaid alleges that he was injured on the night of November 16, last on the Santa Ana Canyon road when his car was struck by a truck driven by Grey. The heavier vehicle was owned by Cretcher who employed Grey as his driver. The suit is asking for $10,000 for injuries to Kincaid's arm, $50 for the loss of 12 days employment and $23 for damages to the Kincaid automobile in addition to permission to insert the amount of doctors' bills later.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION

MAN BURNED TO DEATH IN FIRE IN NEAR ATWOOD

Enrique Macgee, 76, native of California and pioneer settler in Orange county, was burned to death in his small home on the Sanchez ranch northeast of Atwood last night from a fire of undetermined origin which completely destroyed the house before the fire was discovered.

Coroner Earl Abbey found the burned body of the old man in the rear of the house and had it removed to the Sala Funeral home in Fullerton, where an inquest will be held later this week.

It is understood that Macgee has eight children including Mrs. Henrietta Laughlin of Los Angeles and Mrs. Dulcinea Morris of Stockton. A half brother, William Macgee, is understood to be living near San Juan Capistrano.

Attempts to search the ruins for Macgee were hampered until firemen from the Placentia fire department arrived and put out the flames. An investigation into the circumstances surrounding the fire is being conducted by Deputy Sheriff L. H. Nicholson and George Graupensperger.

Son Born To Rev. and Mrs. Minck

A son, Elmer Edwin, was born to the Rev. and Mrs. Franklin H. Minck at the A and S Maternity home in Santa Ana today. The baby weighed four and a half pounds.

The Rev. Mr. Minck is pastor of the First Christian church in Orange. There are two other children in the family, Mary Virginia and Martha Jean. Both mother and baby are doing nicely, it is reported.

There is no time like the present to have your necessary dental work done.

Attorney Speaks On South America

FULLERTON, 13.—In the absence of Joe Burke, attorney, Guss Hagene, Fullerton, attorney, presided at an interesting and profitable of his travels, dwelling chiefly on South American experiences at the Kiwanis club meeting yesterday.

ORDINANCE MAY BE CHANGED TO GIVE AUTHORITY

Revision of the county dance hall ordinance is looming following a conference this morning between the board of supervisors and Sheriff Logan Jackson, at which Sheriff Jackson said the dance hall situation is rapidly becoming a serious matter to handle. Jackson appeared before the board with J. Martinez, operator of a beer parlor at Seventeenth and Verano streets.

Martinez operates a cafe where beer, light wines and meals are served. Patrons of the cafe are permitted to dance placing the resort under the dance hall ordinance which requires that a special officer be on duty there at all times, paid by the owner of the dance hall. Martinez requested that the requirement of a special officer on duty every night be lifted. He said that during the week there seldom is more than four or five couples dancing at his place and he cannot afford to pay the officer. On Saturday nights when he entertains large crowds of dancers he is willing to employ a special officer, he said.

Assistant District Attorney W. F. Menton told the board that the present ordinance should be amended giving the sheriff more discretion in the matter of requiring special officers on duty in dance halls.

Jackson told the board that the dance hall situation is rapidly becoming a serious matter to handle. This is particularly true since the legalization of liquor he said. He said that while there are many orderly dance halls conducted in the county there are many other places where the conduct has been anything but orderly which have been the cause of considerable complaint.

He suggested that the board of supervisors accompany him on a tour of the county some Saturday night after 1 o'clock and in this way obtain first hand knowledge of the situation that is confronting the sheriff's office.

Supervisor W. C. Jerome said that the whole trouble lies in the fact that the legislative body of the county attempts to tell the law enforcement bodies what to do under certain circumstances rather than permit them to use their discretionary power. That, he said, is the cause of the break down of the law.

Willard Smith, chairman of the board, indicated that an investigation of conditions would be made by the supervisors and the necessary steps taken to revise the ordinance and give the sheriff greater latitude.

Automotive Trades Group Advised On Details Of Codes

Legal aspects of the national and state automobile codes, especially as they concern the independent maintenance firm, were explained last night by Manley S. Harris, president of the Allied Automotive Industries of California Ltd., at a meeting of the Automotive Trades association of Orange County.

More than 150 craftsmen and automotive employees from Orange County and Southern California cities attended the meeting in the Southern Counties Gas company auditorium. Secretary Harry D. Riley presided and introduced Harris, who is also vice-president of the national automotive group.

Harris told of the efforts that had been made to place the codes in effect and the necessity of organizing to assist in their enforcement. He was followed by Assemblymen James Utt and Ted Craig, both of whom gave short talks on the situation in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sargent of Santa Ana gave piano and banjo numbers while W. R. Heath sang vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Sargent. The meeting was concluded with singing and refreshments.

Local Briefs

Harry D. Riley, of Anaheim, secretary-manager of the Allied Automotive Industries of California, will speak tonight before the San Diego County Automotive association. He will speak at the Los Angeles county meeting tomorrow night.

Harland H. Edwards, consulting and construction engineer of Claremont college, will discuss earthquake damages and quake-proof construction methods at the monthly meeting of the Orange County Builders Exchange at 6:30 o'clock tonight in James' cafe, Santa Ana. Industrial codes also will be discussed.

FAMILY RELATIONS INSTITUTE OPENS SESSIONS; DISCUSS MAKING SUCCESSFUL MARRIAGE

Of the million marriages contracted annually in normal times, about 25 per cent turn out badly, according to Dr. Paul Popenoe who spoke in Willard Junior High school auditorium last night on the subject, "How to Make Marriage Successful." Of these marriages that turn out badly, he said, not all end in divorce. Divorce is the end for approximately every sixth marriage.

Dr. Popenoe was the first speaker last night in a series of talks to be presented weekly under auspices of the adult education department of the city schools. Willard P. A. and the Institute of Family Relations in Los Angeles, and followed a dinner in the school cafeteria.

The reason for most of the unsuccessful marriages, Dr. Popenoe said, is because the principals do not strive for success. Marriage, he said, is very complicated and the person who expects it to succeed without effort is foredoomed to failure.

The majority of people enter marriage, according to the speaker, with no preparation and the majority of failures could be prevented through intelligent preparation. Three things necessary to a successful marriage, he said, are: a wise choice of mates; second, the proper attitude toward marriage; and third proper technical education. Society could make the majority of marriages successful, he said, if it would help people to obtain this education. Agencies are coming into being now, he said, to which people can go for help in straightening out their tangled marital relations but most of this trouble could be obviated were the schools, colleges, churches and young people's societies to help in the program.

Some people are too much "herd-minded" and too lacking in independence while others are too shut in. They fail to take a normal part in life and are unhappy. One of the big services rendered couples seeking solution to their marital difficulties from the Institute of Family Relations is instructing them in the use of leisure time and helping them to find the proper recreational outlets. The institute advises every young wife to find some recreation for herself and husband and to budget leisure time to give the greatest return, he said.

The first year of marriage, Dr. Popenoe said, is given over to the struggle to see whether the husband or the wife will dominate. Direction of the family should be on a "50-50" basis, he said, but only about one-third of the educated couples entering matrimony follow that program. The right degree of romantic attitude also is essential to the happy marriage, he said. Dr. Popenoe said that it is as great a mistake to expect too much romance through marriage as it is to expect too little.

Women are more unhappy in marriage than men, he said, because the man escapes daily to business and has outside interests while the wife remains at home and is constantly confronted with the problems of matrimony. By wife, the speaker said, should have some adequate outlet outside the home. Lacking such outlet either the husband or wife becomes discontented and another marriage is likely to break up.

Divorce, he said, is not the solution to an unsuccessful marriage. That is only running away from an unhappy situation and seldom brings happiness through. A second marriage, he said, seldom brings happiness through. A second marriage, he said, seldom brings happiness through. A second marriage, he said, seldom brings happiness through.

YOUTHS ADMIT BURGLARY OF HOME AT MESA

Confessions of two youths now in the county jail have cleared up the burglary of the Costa Mesa home of Dr. D. L. Weed of Pasadena, which was reported over the week end to sheriff's officers.

Laddie Taylor, 17, 739 South Alabama street, Huntington Beach and Frank Arterberry, 20, Costa Mesa, are being held in the county jail for burglary. Arterberry was arraigned in justice court, waived his preliminary hearing and was held to answer. He will appear in superior court Friday. Taylor will have his case heard in the juvenile court.

Taylor was booked at the jail from Huntington Beach on Friday to serve three days on a speeding violation. At that time Deputy Sheriff Earl Nickles, who was investigating the burglary, did not know that he was implicated in the Weed case. Nickles discovered that some of the loot from the burglary had been sold at the Adams Used Furniture Store in Huntington Beach and descriptions of the two youths who had come into the store involved Arterberry and Taylor.

When arrested, the youths admitted the burglary and Taylor confessed that he was only 17 years of age, instead of 21, as he originally stated at the jail. Nickles recovered an electric heater and spray pump in Huntington Beach, a radio in Orange, bedroll in Santa Ana and clothing in Taylor's home.

The boys said they were hard up for money and knew that the Pasadena doctor would not be in Costa Mesa until the end of last week. They used a pass key to break into the home. Included in the loot but unrecovered were four coats.

Struck by a car while reported to be walking in the center of the highway, in Huntington Beach last night, Joe Decimo, 40, itinerant, is near death in the Orange County hospital with a possible skull fracture.

Ivan Groger, 25, Hawthorne motorist who said his car struck Decimo on Ocean avenue near the eastern city limits of Huntington Beach, is not being held by officers. He said the man loomed up before he could avert his car. Decimo was rendered unconscious and after being given treatment at the Huntington Beach Emergency hospital, was brought to the county hospital.

Besides the possible skull fracture, he is suffering from cuts and bruises about the head, arms and legs. The accident occurred shortly before 9 p. m.

There was no identification on Decimo to indicate whether he has any relatives or friends in this vicinity. He was walking west on the highway at the time of the accident.

Two occupants of a car which plunged off the Coast highway 75 feet down a canyon at Corona Del Mar yesterday, narrowly escaped death and received only minor injuries. Miss Edith Hurst, Hollywood, who was driving and J. W. Carlin, Los Angeles, owner of the car, were given emergency treatment at the Newport hospital.

Current County CWA Payroll In Slight Increase

According to figures released today by Robert Ramsey, CWA director in Orange county, another payroll amounting to $36,699.38 has been paid for the week ending yesterday. This was a slight increase over the last report.

This payroll was distributed to 2621 CWA workers employed on 95 projects and to women working under CWS. The women received $575.36. The pay was divided as follows: $33,911.32 went to men working on local projects; $1819.80 to men employed on federal projects and $302.90 to census takers at work in the county.

Fifty additional applications for a bonus recently granted veterans of the World War by the Pennsylvania legislature to veterans that enlisted in that state and who had their residence in that state at the time of enlistment, have been received by Harry Edwards, Orange county veterans welfare officer. It was announced today.

Edwards received 26 of the applications the first of the month, and all of them were taken out the first day after the announcement appeared in The Register. The newly received applications can be obtained at Edwards' office in the courthouse annex.

Zivic Knocks Out Torres In Round

Eddie Zivic, Pittsburgh lightweight, increased his Southern California winning streak last night by scoring a technical knockout over Johnny Torres of Los Angeles in the second round of a feature bout at Pico. Torres three times hit the canvas before the referee ended the uneven match. Zivic scaled 135, Torres 136.

Attorney Speaks On South America

ORDINANCE MAY BE CHANGED TO GIVE AUTHORITY

Revision of the county dance hall ordinance is looming following a conference this morning between the board of supervisors and Sheriff Logan Jackson, at which Sheriff Jackson said the dance hall situation is rapidly becoming a serious matter to handle. Jackson appeared before the board with J. Martinez, operator of a beer parlor at Seventeenth and Venano streets. Martinez operates a cafe where beer, light wines and meals are served. Patrons of the cafe are permitted to dance placing the resort under the dance hall ordinance which requires a special license. Jackson is on duty there at all times, paid by the owner of the dance hall. Martinez requested that the requirement of a special officer on duty every night be lifted. He said that during the week there seldom is more than four or five couples dancing at his place and he cannot afford to pay the officer. On Saturday nights when he entertains large crowds of dancers he is willing to employ a special officer, he said.

Assistant District Attorney W. F. Menton told the board that the present ordinance should be amended giving the sheriff more discretion in the matter of retaining special officers on duty in dance halls. Jackson told the board that the dance hall situation is rapidly becoming a serious matter to handle. This is particularly true since the legalization of liquor he said. He said that while there are many orderly dance halls conducted in the county there are many other places where the conduct has been anything but orderly which have been the cause of considerable complaint.

He suggested that the board of supervisors accompany him on a tour of the county some Saturday night after 1 o'clock and in this way obtain first hand knowledge of the situation that is confronting the sheriff's office. Supervisor W. C. Jerome said that the whole trouble lies in the fact that the legislative body of the county attempts to tell the law enforcement bodies what to do under certain circumstances rather than permit them to use their discretionary power. That, he said, is the cause of the break down. He said that the board cannot put the officers in an impossible situation and then expect them to function. Willard Smith, chairman of the board, indicated that an investigation of conditions would be made by the supervisors and the necessary steps taken to revise the ordinance and give the sheriff greater latitude.

Automotive Trades Group Advised On Details Of Codes

Legal aspects of the national and state automobile codes, especially as they concern the independent maintenance firm, were explained last night by Manley S. Harris, president of the Allied Automotive Industries of California Ltd., at a meeting of the Automotive Trades association of Orange County. More than 150 craftsmen and automotive employees from Orange county and Southern California cities attended the meeting in the Southern Counties Gas company auditorium. Secretary Harry D. Riley presided and introduced Harris, who is also vice-president of the national automotive group. Harris told of the efforts that had been made to place the codes in effect and the necessity of organizing to assist in their enforcement. He was followed by Assemblymen James Utt and Ted Craig, both of whom gave short talks on the situation in the state. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sargent of Santa Ana gave piano and band numbers while W. R. Hesch sang vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Sargent. The meeting was concluded with singing and refreshments.

Local Briefs

Harry D. Riley, of Anaheim, secretary-manager of the Allied Automotive Industries of California, will speak tonight before the San Diego County Automotive association. He will speak at the Los Angeles county meeting tomorrow night.

Harland H. Edwards, consulting and construction engineer of Claremont college, will discuss earthquake damages and quake-proof construction methods at the featured speaker at the monthly meeting of the Orange County Builders Exchange at 6:30 o'clock tonight in James' cafe, Santa Ana. Industrial codes also will be discussed.

FAMILY RELATIONS INSTITUTE OPENS SESSIONS; DISCUSS MAKING SUCCESSFUL MARRIAGE

Of the million marriages contracted annually in normal times, about 25 per cent turn out badly, according to Dr. Paul Popenoe who spoke in Willard Junior High school auditorium last night on the subject, "How to Make Marriage Successful." Of these marriages that turn out badly, he said, not all end in divorce. Divorce is the end for approximately every sixth marriage.

Dr. Popenoe was the first speaker last night in a series of talks to be presented weekly under auspices of the adult education department of the city schools. Willard P. T. A. and the Institute of Family Relations in Los Angeles, and followed a dinner in the school cafeteria.

The reason for most of the unsuccessful marriages, Dr. Popenoe said, is because the principals do not strive for success. Marriage, he said, is very complicated and the person who expects it to succeed without effort is foredoomed to failure.

The majority of people enter marriage, according to the speaker, with no preparation and the majority of failures could be prevented through intelligent preparation. Three things necessary to a successful marriage, he said, are: a wise choice of mates; second, the proper attitude toward marriage; and third proper technical education. Society could make the majority of marriages successful, he said, if it would help people to obtain this education. Agencies are coming into being now, he said, to which people can go for help in straightening out their tangled marital relations but most of this trouble could be obviated were the schools, colleges, churches and young people's societies to help in the program.

Some people are too much "herd-minded" and too lacking in independence while others are too shut in. They fail to take a normal part in life and are unhappy. One of the big services rendered couples seeking solution to their marital difficulties from the Institute of Family Relations, is instructing them in the use of leisure time and helping them to find the proper recreational outlets. The Institute advises every young wife to find some recreation for herself and husband and to budget leisure time to give the greatest return, he said.

The first year of marriage, Dr. Popenoe said, is given over to the struggle to see whether the husband or the wife will dominate. Direction of the family should be on a "50-50" basis, he said, but only about one-third of the educated couples entering matrimony follow that program. The right degree of romantic attitude also is essential to the happy marriage, he said. Dr. Popenoe said that it is as great a mistake to expect too much romance through marriage as it is to expect too little.

Women are more unhappy in marriage than men, he said, because the man escapes daily to business and his outside interests while the wife remains at home and is constantly confronted with the problems of matrimony. Every wife, the speaker said, should have some adequate outside outlet. Lacking such outlet either the husband or wife becomes discontented and another marriage is likely to break up.

Divorce, he said, is not the solution to an unsuccessful marriage. That is only running away from an unhappy situation and seldom brings happiness through a second marriage. The person who goes through divorce has to face a new adjustment that may be worse than trying to keep the marriage successful. Statistics, he said, show that only about one-third of the divorced people ever remarry and the majority of that group is men who marry younger girls who have never been married.

Following the talk by Dr. Popenoe reports on the afternoon conference were submitted. Dr. Edward Russell of the Orange county health department reported on the round table discussion on "Child Guidance" led by Mrs. James Wallace of Pasadena. He said that four important facts were stressed in this group. First, the child should be studied as a whole and not just physically, mentally or for behaviorism; second, the child's environment must be studied first and then the child should be studied; third, types of children should be studied and school courses arranged for each type instead of arranging studies for the student type and then expecting the manual training or technical type to keep abreast of his studies; fourth, the main objective of education should be progress and not success.

Dr. Popenoe reported on the conference on "The Social Life of Young People" which he conducted.

Want To Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 160, 300, 600c.—Adv.

Governor To Broadcast Club Address

Governor James Rolph will be heard on KREG tomorrow during a special broadcast scheduled to start at 1 p. m., it was announced by station officials. The governor's address will be broadcast by direct wire from the Kiwanis meeting in Santa Ana where he will be the guest of honor.

This conference was limited to young people and Dr. Popenoe said that the discussion centered around "meeting and getting" its results and whether or not it should continue. The group also discussed the question of sex experiments by young people before marriage.

The Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, reported on the conference on the "Constructive Use of Leisure." This discussion was led by Dr. George B. Mangold of the University of Southern California. Schrock said that the outstanding points developed in the conference was the fact that with more leisure being given the people through spreading of work it is important that they learn how to profitably use their time. The adult education program is important in this phase of life as it not only instructs the adult in the constructive use of leisure but provides one of the means by which this leisure may be utilized, he said.

The conference on "Economics of the Home" was reported on by Dr. Levan D. Osborn of the Institute of Family Relations, who led the group. This group, he said, studied family income, family budget, consumer problems, spending vs. saving and family investments. It was agreed, he said, that the husband should receive adequate wages for the support of the entire family. The important thing in preparing the budget is its relation between income and the budget. In preparing the budget, he said, it cannot be a success unless there is harmony in the home. Relative to the consumer's problem, Dr. Osborn said it is strange that the consumers have never organized for their own protection against high prices and shoddy merchandise. The manufacturer, commercial groups and labor all have their organizations and the consumer has failed to protect himself, he said.

Declare Truce In City-County Feud

The city of Santa Ana and the California Highway Patrol are through fighting now. Mayor Paul Wilmer, arrested by Officer Ben Craig for failing to make a boulevard stop, was fined and paid $2 in the Huntington Beach justice court this morning. Captain Henry Meehan of the highway patrol paid a $1 overtime parking fine in the Santa Ana police court last week.

Both had a good laugh over the affair, too.

YOUTHS ADMIT BURGLARY OF HOME AT MESA

Confessions of two youths now in the county jail have cleared up the burglary of the Costa Mesa home of Dr. D. L. Weed of Pasadena, which was reported over the week end to sheriff's officers. Laddie Taylor, 17, 720 South Alabama street, Huntington Beach and Frank Arterberry, 20, Costa Mesa, are being held in the county jail for burglary. Arterberry was arraigned in justice court, waived his preliminary hearing and was held to answer. He will appear in superior court Friday. Taylor will have his case heard in the juvenile court.

Taylor was booked at the jail from Huntington Beach on Friday to serve three days on a speeding violation. At that time Deputy Sheriff Earl Nickles, who was investigating the burglary, did not know that he was implicated in the Weed case. Nickles discovered that some of the loot from the burglary had been sold at the Adams Used Furniture Store in Huntington Beach and descriptions of the two youths who had come into the store involved Arterberry and Taylor.

When arrested, the youths admitted the burglary and Taylor confessed that he was only 17 years of age, instead of 21 as he originally stated at the jail. Nickles recovered an electric heater and spray pump in Huntington Beach, a radio in Orange, bedroll in Santa Ana and clothing in Taylor's home.

The boys said they were hard up for money and knew that the doctor's motor would not be in Costa Mesa until the end of last week. They used a pass key to break into the home, included in the loot but unrecovered were four coats.

PEDESTRIAN ON STATE HIGHWAY STRUCK BY AUTO

Struck by a car while reported to be walking in the center of the highway, in Huntington Beach last night, Joe Decimo, 40, 4111 Grant, is now in the Orange County hospital with a possible skull fracture. Ivan Groger, 25, Hawthorne motorist who said his car struck Decimo on Ocean avenue near the eastern city limits of Huntington Beach, is not being held by officers. He said the man loomed up suddenly in the road and was hit before he could avert his car. Decimo was rendered unconscious and after being given treatment at the Huntington Beach Emergency hospital, was brought to the county hospital.

Besides the possible skull fracture, he is suffering from cuts and bruises about the head, arms and legs. The accident occurred shortly before 9 p. m.

There was no identification on Decimo to indicate whether he has any relatives or friends in this vicinity. He was walking west on the highway at the time of the accident. Two occupants of a car which plowed off the Coast highway 75 feet down a canyon at Corona Del

According to figures released today by Robert Ramsey, CWA director in Orange county, another payroll amounting to $36,699.38 has been paid for the week ending yesterday. This was a slight increase over the last report.

This payroll was distributed to 2621 CWA workers employed on 95 projects and to women working under CWS. The women received $575.36. The pay was divided as follows: $33,913.31 went to men working on local projects; $1819.50 to men employed on federal projects and $302.59 to census takers at work in the county.

GET APPLICATIONS FOR VET BONUS

Fifty additional applications for a bonus recently granted veterans of the World War by the Pennsylvania legislature to veterans that enlisted in that state and who had their residence in that state at the time of enlistment, have been received by Harry Edwards, Orange county veterans welfare officer. It was announced today.

Edwards received 20 of the applications the first of the month, and all of them were taken out the first day after the announcement appeared in The Register. The newly received applications can be obtained at Edwards' office in the courthouse annex.

NAME WINNERS OF CONTEST IN PLAY WRITING

Although attention of Santa Ana Community Players is at present directed towards the major production, "Bill of Divorcement," to be given Friday and Saturday nights in Ebell auditorium, the varied interests of this large association include other activities, one of the most important being the one-act playwriting contest just concluded.

A dozen or more plays were submitted in this contest, and judges, Mrs. Harvey Smith (Mona Summers Smith), Major F. L. Carr, Mrs. T. E. Stephenson and Mrs. Marshall Harms, have now announced their conclusions. Four plays were selected as having outstanding merit, and these will immediately be cast and go into rehearsal under competent directors, for presentation at a one-act play program in Ebell auditorium.

There were three winners in the contest, Miss Lella Watson, Mrs. Frank Was and Robert Speed. Plays accorded this high rating by the judges were selected from unsigned manuscripts, and the judges were ignorant of the identity of the authors. Those selected were "The Boat Sails at 10" by Miss Watson; two plays by Mrs. Was, "No Second Stroke" and "Unto Each His Own," and

Step out into the SUNSHINE

How many days of your life are lost in feeling under par? How many hours which might be bright are dull and dispirited?

Half-hearted days are frequently due to common constipation. It clouds your waking hours, takes the sunshine out of living. Yet it can be overcome so easily by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's All-Bran provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid elimination. All-Bran is also a fine source of iron. The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this "cereal way" pleasanter than risking patent medicines?

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve All-Bran as a cereal or use in muffins, breads, omelets, etc. In the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

First Blossoms of Spring

Almond blossoms have mantled the orchards of Banning earlier than usual this year, bringing thousands of recreationists to enjoy the first blossoms of Spring. The hundreds of almond orchards there will be in flower at least until February 18, reports the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Robert Speed's "Women Will Be Women"

Miss Watson was one of the winners in the first local playwriting contest which was so successfully conducted last year. Both she and Mrs. Was are members of the Quill Pen club, and their success reflects credit on that group of writers. Mrs. Was also is a member of Pegasus club, another writing club.

Casting of the plays will be accomplished immediately as it is the plan to present them as the March program of the Players association. Miss Watson's play is being directed by Gladys Simpson Shafer. Estelle Card Beeman will direct "No Second Stroke," and Harriet Owens Enderle will direct "Unto Each His Own," for Mrs. Was. Robert Speed has not yet announced the casting or directing of "Women Will Be Women."

Water Board To Meet Tomorrow

Members of the Orange County Water District board of directors will hold a regular monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the offices of the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by C. A. Palmer, secretary.

Routine business matters will be discussed. It was announced, with the possibility that the matter of aiding in the promotion of a flood control program will come up for attention.

Formal Opening Of Corner House Attracts Diners

The formal opening of "The Corner House," Seventeenth and Main streets, held last Saturday night, attracted scores of diners who appreciate excellent food, attractively served. Many baskets of flowers from individuals and business houses expressed best wishes for the success of the establishment on opening night.

The establishment opened by Mrs. Elizabeth Hubbard and Miss Margaret Dunbar, caters to luncheons, teas and dinners as well as bridge parties. The house, decorated with English prints, old etchings and Chinese art objects, lends itself particularly to the hospitality of dinner parties. Downstairs there are three dining rooms that can be opened as one room or can be closed to form three separate rooms, and upstairs there is a bridge room that already is booked for several bridge luncheons and teas.

While the place caters to private parties it also is open to the public serving excellent dinners at a moderate price.

Both proprietors of the place are well known in Santa Ana. Mrs. Hubbard having lived here for some time and Miss Dunbar, for the past two years has been connected with another tea shop in this city coming here from Proctor's Foothill Tavern in Arcadia.

CONSTRUCTION FIRM REPORTS MORE BUSINESS

Indications of a definite turn for the better in the construction business in Santa Ana were evident today in a report from Ball and Honer Floral Park in the north part of the city. He pointed out that these sales all have been made during the past week, and that inside of that week actual construction of a house on one of the lots was started with money secured from a building-loan company, giving evidence on the part of loan companies that they recognize the sound security of a building project.

One of the projects is the American Legion home, which is about completed and which cost more than $15,000. Total investment for the three projects is $36,800, while the three being planned aggregate $27,100.

The company just completed construction of a home representing an investment of $9000 for Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of schools, at 2441 Riverside Drive. The house was built in Monterey style and is a two-story edifice with many modern features.

Another home, representing an investment of $12,000, was just completed for Joe Herschler, Santa Ana merchant, at 1815 North Broadway. This also is a two-story house, but is of modified Spanish design. Each of the houses has eight rooms.

Plans for three more houses are in the office of the company, which, if they go through, will represent an investment of $27,100.

Harry Ball of the firm, reported an increased interest in construction, as well as remodeling and repairing of homes, declaring that people are becoming more and more interested in putting their homes in order, realizing that this is one of the safest places for their money.

He announced the sale of three residence lots in the Ball and Honer Floral Park in the north part of the city. REED RETURNS FROM STATE CONVENTION

E. W. Reed, inspector under Carlos Huntington, state registrar of contractors, returned to Santa Ana today after attending a two-day convention of the State Employees association at Fresno.

Many officials addressed the session of the convention, he said, including Governor Rolph, Rolan Vandegrift, director of finance, Earl Kelly, director of public works, Colonel Huntington, and Jess Hession, deputy attorney general.

Governor Rolph promised support of a constitutional amendment sponsored by the organization to bring all state employees under civil service, Reed said.

The convention next February will be held in Los Angeles.

In making Lucky Strike, we actually discard most of the tobacco plant—because we select only the center leaves—and for these center leaves farmers are paid a higher price. We do not use the top leaves—because those are under-developed. Nor the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality—tough, coarse and always sandy. But these center leaves are the mildest leaves, silky, smooth, tender. And so only these center leaves are used in making Luckies the fully packed cigarette—so round, so firm—free from loose ends. NO Luckies don't use the top leaves... because top leaves are under-developed... they are not ripe... They would give a harsh smoke.

YES Luckies use only the center leaves of the finest tobacco... because the center leaves are the mildest, tenderest, smoothest.

NO Luckies don't use the bottom leaves, because bottom leaves are inferior in quality. They grow close to the ground, and are tough, coarse and always sandy.

In making Lucky Strike, we actually discard most of the tobacco plant—because we select only the center leaves—and for these center leaves farmers are paid a higher price. We do not use the top leaves—because those are under-developed. Nor the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality—tough, coarse and always sandy. But these center leaves are the mildest leaves, silky, smooth, tender. And so only these center leaves are used in making Luckies—the fully packed cigarette—so round, so firm—free from loose ends. The tobacco doesn't spill out. That's why Luckies draw easily, burn evenly—and are always mild and smooth... And then, too—"It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste,

TREE PLANTED AT MUSEUM BY STATE OFFICER

Dedicated to the memory of pioneer mothers of California, a native sycamore tree was planted with appropriate ceremonies at the Bowers Memorial Museum, Twentieth and Main streets, late yesterday afternoon.

The dedication ceremonies were in charge of Santa Ana Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, and several state officers were present for the occasion.

Mrs. Irma W. Laird, of Alturas, grand president of the state organization, turned the first shovelful of dirt on the roots of the tree and made a brief talk, pointing out that such dedication work and keeping alive the memories of pioneers of the state constitutes an important part of the work of the organization.

Mrs. Amanda Lemon, secretary of the local unit, was in charge of the ceremony and introduced speakers, who included Mrs. Mae West, president of the local parlor, Mrs. Hazel Hansen, of Glendale, grand inside sentinel, and Mrs. Florence Scheneman, of Los Angeles, former grand trustee, and Ivan Harper, president of the Santa Ana Native Sons organization.

Terry E. Stephenson, historian and director in the Orange County Historical society, was called on for a brief talk, in which he pointed out that it was appropriate to plant a sycamore tree, native to California, as a memorial to the pioneer mothers of the state.

Dr. C. D. Ball, president of the Historical society, was present at the ceremony and spoke briefly.

Two flags were used in the dedication ceremony, one of them a California Bear flag, and the other an old American flag which saw service in the Civil war. This flag was the property of the late Henry Clinton, Civil war veteran, and father of Mrs. Mae West. The tree was donated by the Blanding Nursery.

Following the ceremonies, a banquet was held to honor the state officers at the Green Cat cafe. A regular business meeting was held in the K. of C. hall afterward.

TRAVEL BUREAU MOVES QUARTERS

The World Travel Bureau, located formerly in the First National bank of this city, has moved to a new location at 306 North Main street, next to the Fox West Coast theater, and will open there officially tomorrow, according to announcement made today by Constance Cruickshank, manager.

The bureau will continue to operate a worldwide service, catering particularly to steamship and airplane travel. Full information regarding resorts, and reservations at the latter, may also be obtained at this bureau, according to Miss Cruickshank.

Voyages to all parts of the world independently or by any cruise currently available may be arranged without additional cost through this local bureau, which offers a complete travel service designed to meet the wide demands of travelers throughout Orange county.

Prospect of heavy summer trade, particularly in coastal and inter-coastal channels, led Miss Cruickshank to urge today that reservations for 1934 trips be made at the earliest possible convenience of Orange county travelers.

CITIES PLAN DRIVE TO GET GAS TAX FUNDS

New policies for the California League of Municipalities and recommendations for bettering services to member cities were the chief accomplishments of the joint meeting of directors and representatives of the state group in San Francisco last weekend. It was learned today from Mayor Paul Witmer, who just returned from the conclave.

Witmer represented the Orange County League of Municipalities and is a former state director of the California league. Vigorous action for cities was suggested as a means of getting a more equitable distribution of gasoline tax monies for cities.

Although little definite action was taken, the delegates favored a plan in liquor control that would give more jurisdiction and revenue to the cities.

Albert Launer, city attorney of Fullerton and secretary of the Orange county league, was appointed a member of the legislative committee of the state group for the coming year.

While in the north, Witmer submitted the tentative civil service proposition desired by Santa Ana firemen and policemen, to Prof. Samuel C. May of the bureau of public administration at the University of California. May promised to make a study of it and return recommendations, as well as data on other cities. Many city officials, in commenting informally on the proposition, were inclined to disfavor it in actual practice, Witmer indicated.

COUNTY POULTRYMEN TO DISCUSS CODES

A meeting for all poultrymen is called for 7:30 p. m., Thursday, February 15, at 618 1-2 North Main street, Santa Ana. At this time there will be a report given on the poultry marketing agreement prepared for Southern California, according to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

A committee appointed from the Regional Poultry department of the Farm Bureau, working in conjunction with representatives from the distributors organization, have prepared an agreement which has been approved by distributors handling over 75 per cent of the volume. It is now being submitted to the producers.

In addition to the above there will also be a report on the National Hatchery code, which was recently approved and is now in effect.

Tubbs Back From Auto Law Parley

W. Lester Tubbs of the Automobile Club of Orange county, has just returned from San Francisco where he attended a meeting of the advisory committee on motor vehicle legislation. This meeting was called by Assemblyman William B. Hornblower, chairman of the state legislation interim committee for the purpose of preparing a new automobile code. Speakers at the meeting referred to the present code as a "jumble of rules, regulations and new laws." Tubbs made the trip in a plane of the United Air Lines.

TRANSFER CWS TO EMERGENCY RELIEF GROUP

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—Transfer of all Civil Works Service activities from CWA jurisdiction to Federal Emergency Relief, was completed today by Edward Macauley, U. S. Civil Works Administrator for California.

Heretofore, CWS enterprises had been under CWA administration, although employees of the Civil Works Service received their pay out of Federal Emergency Relief funds.

Acting upon advice from Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Administrator, Macauley has instructed all county directors of CWS to turn over all records of CWS projects to county emergency relief directors at once.

Payrolls to CWS employees, under the new order, will be handled by and come from funds of Federal Emergency Relief, effective February 15, Macauley said.

Simplification and coordination of the machinery of both CWA and CWS is the motive behind the transfer, according to the California administrator.

Start Distribution Of Soap Products

Four local men were given employment starting yesterday when N. H. Brody, Long Beach, supervisor of the display department of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company, began distribution of sample products in Orange county. The crew of four local men was employed through the county welfare department and will distribute samples in a house-to-house campaign. Santa Ana is expected to be covered in two weeks. Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton also are on the schedule and distribution will be made there after the work is completed in Santa Ana.

They tell us that Jim Detrikke, Santa Ana restaurateur, is going to sponsor a club in the National Night league for Joe Harless and Kenneth Duncan, who probably will locate the franchise in Garden Grove. Detrikke and Harless were "head men" of the Green Cat team of the Orange County league last summer. . . .

FAVOR SCHMELING OVER HAMAS

CARNERA TITLE TUSSLE LOOMS FOR HERR MAX

By HENRY MCLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—(UP)—Quite out of keeping with the spirit of brotherly love which is said to characterize this city, two young gentlemen today laid plans to separate one another from their respective heads. . . .
One was Max Schmeling who, in his time, has been called the "Toucan" Schlager, the Black Union, the Fatherland Fighter, and, by at least one imaginative genius, the Rhine Rooster. . . .
The other was Steve Hamas. . . .
They say that Anheuser and Third baseman Al Kohler have piffed. Malt Higgins also may be elsewhere, come summer. . . .
"Bomo" Koral, Don football captain who missed most of the season because of injuries, will be a Golden Bear next semester. . . .
Monsieur Koral, at his current weight of 195 pounds, will make Cal a fair country guard or end, conceding that he wouldn't beat out any of those brawny Berkeley tackles. . . .
Be a football star and be president! The last five student body presidents at Santa Ana High have been gridiron gallopers—Ford Underwood, Walt Hendrie, Floyd Montgomery, "Red" Klidder and Floyd Blower. . . .
Tustin Hi does not go in for captains. The Farmers make their leaders "honorary captains" at the end of the season. . . .
Gossip: Santa Ana Jaycee's champion football players are better athletes than students. Half the team is on the ragged edge of academically. . . .
They tell me that at least two members of Tustin's crack Class B basketball team would be regulars on Bill Cole's varsity had they sought places on the "A" quintet. . . .
Save the evening of March 1 for an evening of badminton. The world's champion doubles team will be back on the fistic trail. . . .

good authority that unless the Rhine Rooster wins, and wins impressively, he might just as well catch a boat for Germany and return to his beautiful cinematograph wife, Anny Ondra.

Just what effect a defeat will have on Hamas has not been made quite clear. Having no Anny Ondra, he can't catch a boat. Even if he did, I doubt if he's got enough money to book passage. . . .
You see, Hamas is just another fighter right now, so a defeat will leave him just where he is, which point is, roughly speaking, now. . . .
Now a victory would be something else. Schmeling is no wonder, as Max Baer proved that fateful night last June, but he's an ex-champion of the world of fairly recent vintage, and licking him would, to coin a phrase, place Hamas squarely in the heavy-weight picture. . . .
If Schmeling wins, he'll probably be granted a shot at Primo Carnera and a chance to become the first heavyweight champion to regain his title. Baer is the natural choice for Carnera, but as the Marquis of Queensbury rules forbid a fighter taking six or seven blonde honeys into the ring with him, Baer is probably out. King Levinisky also rated ahead of Schmeling until the other night when Madison Square Garden made the mistake of putting him on exhibition. Levinisky, in direct contrast to little children, should be heard, not seen. . . .

New Spirit Of Reds Aim Of O'Farrell

CINCINNATI, Feb. 13.—(UP)—It may be just a homely bit of baseball philosophy, but take it from Bob O'Farrell, new Cincinnati Red manager, you can't build a pennant-winning team on money alone. . . .
It takes weeks and months of endless search for capable players (money can't change by the kind you want); then it takes a winning spirit—and a lot of luck—according to the man commissioned to host the Reds out of the National league basement, their home for the last three years. . . .
The "winning spirit" is going to be the keynote of O'Farrell's campaign to put Cincinnati back on the baseball map. This city hasn't had a team finish in the first division since 1926. . . .
"I don't believe we have a first division club yet, but we're not exactly a last-place team either," O'Farrell said today. . . .

DON PEDEN REFUSES TERMS OF INDIANA

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Feb. 13.—(UP)—Don Peden, Ohio university football coach, who is being sought by Indiana university, failed to come to terms with Indiana officials after his first conference with them last night, which lasted three hours. . . .
The decision was said to be final.

BASKETBALL SCORES

Four teams will vie for the championship of the Y. M. C. A. Senior basketball league which opens on the first night here tonight at 7:15. . . .
Montgomery Ward and the Woolen Mills will clash in the first game, with Joe's Grocery and Santa Ana Clippers taking the floor an hour later. . . .
Three of the entries are the same teams that fought for the Commercial league title which Joe's Grocery won last week. The Clippers is a combination of four old teams, with a line-up of Mel Wiseman and Palmer Stock-Cook of Joe's Grocery, Harry Ray of Weber's Bakery, Eric Twist of the Orange Avenue Christian, Bill Harless of the First National Bank and Laurence Owens. . . .
CORVALLIS, Ore., Feb. 13.—Oregon State overcame the Idaho basketball team last night by a 40-14 score. . . .
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—University of California basketball team was established as favorite to defeat Santa Clara in the game of their annual series tonight. Each team has won a game in their meetings. . . .
BERKELEY, Feb. 13.—For the first time since 1927, University of California basketball team was established as favorite to defeat Santa Clara in the game of their annual series tonight. Each team has won a game in their meetings. . . .

CHAMPION OF THE MUSHERS

EMIL ST. GODARD, CHAMPION OF THE MUSHERS, IS TRAINING FOR THE MOST GRILLING RACES IN SPORT. THE INTERNATIONAL DOGSLIED DERBY AT QUEBEC, FEB. 23, 24, 25.

Twenty below zero . . . sweep- ing snow whipped by an icy gale out of the north . . . a line of dogs plunging through drifts in front of a swaying sled . . . and behind it, gasping frigid air into his panting lungs, and his face covered with frost, runs the dog-sled racer . . . in the most grilling of all sports. . . .
Such is dog-sled racing, which will be under way with the running of the International Dogslid Derby in Quebec, February 23, 24 and 25, and The Pas classic which follows in March. . . .
Sled drivers assert this type of racing taxes the human body to its utmost, and the score or more drivers who will take part in the Quebec race have been in training for months. . . .

Heading the list of entrants this year is Emil St. Godard, 27-year-old Manitoba boy who swept out of the north in 1925 and at the age of 18, breezed past veteran racers to win the eastern international derby. Then he fished back west to cop the 200-mile classic at The Pas. . . .
A true champion of this winter sport is young Godard. He has won the eastern meet five times, and The Pas an equal number of times, defeating the pick of Canadian and U. S. team drivers, including Shorty Russick, Leonard Seppala, Earl Brydges and Frank Dupis. . . .

The story of St. Godard's rise to leadership among the mushers is a gripping tale of the northland—and of a mission he set for himself to fill. . . .
Walter Goynes, an Alaskan racer, brought his dog team to The Pas and settled down in 1919. There he introduced a new hitch, harnessing dogs tandem style, in place of the old single file style. He became the inspiration of St. Godard after he had won a big race with his new hitch. The youngster copied his style. . . .

BASSLER, HANNAH SIGN

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13.—(UP)—Catching worries of Hollywood and Los Angeles baseball pilots were pretty well settled today with Catchers "Truck" Hannah and Johnny Bassler back in the fold with signed contracts. . . .

Pointing toward their Eastern conference game with Chaffey here Saturday, when they hope to upset Coach "Mugs" Mitchell's highly favored Panthers, Santa Ana's Dons came from behind with a furious rally in the closing minutes of play to defeat the Mormons, leaders of the Community Church league, in a basketball game at Andrews gym last night, 47 to 37. . . .
The revamped lineup featuring Elwood Lindley, former Don guard, the powerful Mormons caught up with the collegians late in the third quarter, 25-25, and led at the beginning of the fourth period, 30-27. They held the pre-minutes, when the Dons forged ahead 36-33. It was all in the college's favor after that, with Rob Schwarm, Ed Bragg and Jim Lash breaking near the basket to cage five successive field goals. . . .

The Mormons held up surprisingly well in the absence of one of their best players, lanky Ted Cook. Lindley scored heavily in both halves for 18 points and high honors. He was followed by Bragg and Schwarm of the Dons with 12 each. . . .

OAKLAND, Feb. 13.—(UP)—Internal injuries received in a fall caused the death last night of Harold E. ("Rowdy") Elliott, 54, former major league and Pacific Coast league catcher. . . .
Elliott fell into a light well in an apartment house here, police records showed. After treatment he was discharged and taken to city prison, but complications developed later. He died in an emergency hospital. . . .

TO IMPOUND STOCK ROAD RACE ENTRIES

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13.—(UP)—All cars qualifying for the 250-mile road race at Municipal airport next Sunday will be impounded until starting time. A. C. Pillsbury, chief of the A. A. A. official, announced today. . . .
The qualification trials start tomorrow and will last until Friday. . . .
"There has been so much doubt expressed by members of the trade over the strictly stock status of the cars entered," Pillsbury said, "that we decided to spike all rumors once and for all and inspect each car after the trials and keep them under lock and key until the race is called Sunday afternoon."

GRADUATING SAINTS HOPPE WINS FROM BURY '35 ELIGIBLES 3-CUSHIONS CHAMP

Paced by three February graduates—Fred Wiemer, Walt Hendrie and LeRoy Levens—Santa Ana high school's 1933 "varsity" triumphed over Coach Reese Greene's 1934 "regulars," 45-11 in a basketball game played before a big student crowd in Andrews gymnasium yesterday afternoon. . . .
The '34 team, which is preparing for a post-season game with Fullerton here Friday night, was no match for the Wiemer-Hendrie-Levens combination, although Tom Lacy, regular guard who graduates in June, and Leonard Lockhart played heads-up ball for the losers. Lacy was employed in the '34 lineup because he will be eligible for the first annual C. I. F. tournament which opens a week from Friday. . . .
The lineup:

1933 Squad (45) Pos. (11) 1934 Squad Hendrie (19) (2) Yonel Levens (8) (2) McNamee Wiemer (10) (3) Brown Southworth (6) (3) Lacy Oberlin (5) (3) Lockhart

AWARD LETTERS TO TEN 'B' BASKETMEN

Ten members of Santa Ana high school's Class B basketball team will be honored with Saint monograms, Coach Clyde Cook revealed today. . . .
"Little Saints" to receive awards are: Forwards—Kenneth (John) Bill Flood, Murray Patton and Lloyd Gibbs; Centers—Trent Warren and Louis Clem; Guards—Jack Wallace, Mac Beall, Merle Morris and Charles Meserve; Manager—John Ramirez and Assistant George Dorsey. . . .
The "Bees" did not select a captain, although Warren served as honorary leader during the conference season. He also played more minutes than any other teammate. . . .
Nesley, who scored the amazing total of 145 points in '34, carried playing honors with the curly-haired center. Both have reported to the varsity, which is preparing for the C. I. F. tournament Feb. 22. . . .

Klick Delays Gym Work For Ross Go

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—(UP)—Frankie Klick, San Francisco boy who won the junior light weight title in the East, visited friends here today before beginning training for a non-title bout with Barney Ross, lightweight champion, at the Civic auditorium here March 5. Another fistic arrival from the east was Young Terry, Trenton, N. J., middleweight mentioned as a likely opponent for Young Corbett of Fresno. . . .

The original "One-Eye" Connolly, who died about 15 years ago, was a colorful figure in sports. Tim McGrath, old-time fight manager, tells the following story on the famous crasher of gates: . . .
"It occurred in Boston," Time relates. "Connolly was sleeping in a saloon, and a gang decided to pick his pockets. . . .
"For two hours they kept lifting into the backroom, only to return and report that 'One-Eye' was awake. . . .
"Finally Connolly came out, thanked the bartender for letting him sleep, and left the place. . . .
"It was later found that Connolly slept on his side, with his glass eye up. The gangsters, seeing the glaring eye, thought he was awake."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Gypsy Morell and Tom Weaver are married on the same day as Lila Hotelling and Derek Bliss but Lila's wedding is a society event while Gypsy's is a very simple.

While Lila lives in luxury Gypsy has to struggle to keep expenses within Tom's income. She keeps her job teaching until she earns she is to have a baby. After Gypsy's birth she is extremely busy, caring for him and for her home.

Tom is frequently away in the evening and Gypsy suspects he is interested in Vera Gray. One day she sees them going to lunch together. She is heart-broken and refuses to listen to his explanations. Lila confesses to Gypsy that she intends to divorce Derek and marry Marko Broughton, richer and older. Gypsy's father is seriously injured in a motor accident and she and Tom rush to the Morrell home.

While Gypsy remains there, desperately worried, Vera continues to pursue Tom.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXV

No one met Tom Weaver at the station that night. He swung up the steep street away from the station, a frown creasing his brow. Of course he hadn't expected Gypsy to come... but he did fear the news that might greet him at the big house in Upper Dean street.

The spring twilight was full of pleasant sounds. Birds shrilled in the budding hedges yards, mad with release after the long winter. Supper smells drifted in the crisp air. And in a quiet room a man lay dying.

The nurse came and went. The doctors touched and looked and shook their heads. And the wife, white and stubborn, refused to accept their verdict. As Tom came into the hall he heard Mrs. Morell saying in a clear voice, "It's all nonsense. I tell you, he's going to get well."

Her eyes, Tom thought, were unusually bright and her color feverish. Gypsy, in the background looked white and strained. He went to kiss her and she said quietly, "We can't do a thing with her. She's angry with us all."

Maybe she's right, Tom thought. Maybe she knows better than the rest. But after he had talked to Dr. Bannerman he became imbued with a sense of hopelessness. Death struck at you in such a cruel way. It made life naked, terrifying.

The long night began to wheel by. The patient was surprising them all with his vitality. He was clinging stubbornly to life although he had not as yet opened his eyes. Mrs. Morell refused to go to bed. She looked at them with scorn when they suggested it.

"Sleep!" she said with bright, contemptuous eyes. "Why, I want to be here when he wakes."

Gypsy's fearful eyes sought Tom's. When he woke indeed! Tom played patience—he had to do something. The atmosphere of the house was oppressive and the low voices were enmeshed with it. She kept getting up and going to the door, as though there was something she could do. The baby had long since been tucked into his crib.

It was 10—it was 11. Suddenly they heard the nurse's running feet above. Tom vaulted the stairs. The tall night nurse, shaken out of her professional composure, stared down at him.

"I—I think he's going," she said. "Will someone call the doctor?"

Gypsy had heard. She was on the step below. Her dark eyes were enormous. "I'll call him," she said, frozen. "You look after Mother."

They were all in the room now. The solitary light burned dimly under its extra shade. The patient was conscious now after the long spell of silence. He tossed and muttered on his pillow. His thin hands plucked at the coverlet.

It seemed hours, although it was actually only a matter of minutes, before the doctor came. A doctor, Gypsy thought, was a little like God; you expected too much of him. He hustled into the room, tall and stooped and beginning to be a little portly, his eyeglasses dangled from a thin chain.

He put an exploring hand on Harvey Morell's wrist. He bent down, the stethoscope adjusted, and assumed the listening look. He frightened and his eyes sought those of the nurse. "When did the change come?"

"Ten minutes ago, doctor..."

"Ah!"

Why don't they do something, Gypsy thought wildly! Why do they stand calmly around? What good are they? She was grateful for Tom's nearness. It was something to hold to in this terrible hour.

The doctor turned to Mrs. Morell. Was it possible that his worn face showed encouragement? He said, very low, "You've been a good soldier, Louise. I think perhaps you've kept him here..."

"You mean...?" She pressed her handkerchief to her lips. "Don't give me too much hope, Doctor."

"I'm not sure," he told them all slowly. "But I think he's taken a turn for the better..."

It was a long, slow struggle, that convalescence. Gypsy and Tom moved back to the apartment in the middle of the second week. They take up their own problems again. By that time Harvey Morell was sitting up, propped by pillows, in the big four poster. The morning before she went back to the city Gypsy had a talk with her father. The nurse had left the day before and Gypsy had brought him up his mid-morning cup of broth. All the windows were opened this morning to the bright spring sunshine. The curtains moved fitfully and just below the sill at Gypsy's elbow an old garbled lilt had burst unexpectedly into blossom.

"Grand day!"

Her father nodded, his dark face smiling. "You're leaving us?"

"This afternoon," she told him. "It will be less work all around. I feel I can safely trust you to Mother."

They shared an ancient joke to the effect that Gypsy was the family protector.

He drained the cup with the invalid's characteristic sigh.

"Good!"

"Wonderful."

She made him more comfortable among the pillows. "Miss your nurse?"

He grinned. "I can spare that woman. She was a bit too bossy."

He was silent or a few moments. Then he said, hesitatingly, "You all right, Gypsy?"

"Yes, of course. Why?"

"I just wondered."

She flushed. Daddy was smart. You seldom fooled him about anything. Had he noticed the last time she had to see them the coolness between her and Tom?

"Of course, I'm all right. Haven't I got everything in the world?"

"I guess so."

"Just don't you worry about anything but getting strong," Gypsy advised, patting his hand. "Daddy," she paused, not knowing quite how to go on. "Tom and I have a little money saved," she said awkwardly. "He told me, he wanted me to tell you it was yours if you need it now."

"Why, that's—his awfully good..."

"The man in the bed blinked twice and swallowed hard. "Thanks, dear, I'll remember that. I think we can get by. It's mighty lucky I kept up that disability insurance. It's paying me $50 a week right now and I guess we can keep our heads above water. Keep your money, child. You'll need it. Guess you'll be wanting a house of your own one of these days. Tell Tom I appreciate his kind thought."

She twitched the coverlet straight and turned to go but he detained her.

"You get a lot of time to think, lying here as I do," he said slowly. "Can't tell you how glad I am that you're settled, taken care of. I don't have to worry about you. Tom's a good boy; he'll go far if he's handled right."

"You married young, didn't you Daddy?"

"Yes, I did. We had a struggle at first—always have had, as a matter of fact. I never was a go-getter. His smile was wry. "But your mother's been very good. She never asked for more than I could give. Not many women like her. And she was used to lots, too."

"Marriage is—funny," Gypsy offered vaguely in the pause. "It's never quite what you think it's going to be."

"Of course not! Of course not. It begins with a party, everybody singing and throwing flowers. Pretty soon the boy and girl have to worry about beefsteak and rent money. Not the same thing at all. But if they're the right sort they'll come through."

Gypsy moved his hand. Daddy was good. He knew what life was all about. Maybe she was taking the whole thing too seriously.

As she dressed the baby for the homeward trip she thought of her father's words and her heart lightened insensibly. Besides, the weeks she had just lived through had given her a new sense of values. The hovering wings of the Black Angel had come close to her. You forget petty things—unimportant things—in that dread shadow.

She and Tom would make a fresh start when she went back to the apartment. She would try to be different; she wouldn't let everything bother her.

Clytie helped her down to the taxi. From the window above she could see her mother waving. Her mother, thin, valiant, frail.

"Take care of her," Gypsy told the old colored woman. "Take care of them both."

Clytie said yes, she would. They'd be all right, she told Gypsy. Miss Morell, he was a fine man; praise God they hadn't lost him.

It was a warm, languorous day in May. Shrubs were bursting into bloom all along the wide pleasant streets. The black hedges showed a tracing of green wherever you looked. Gypsy felt a singing in her heart. Maybe it was spring, maybe it was going back to her own man and her own hearth that gave her a sense of fresh beginnings.

"I'm going to be different," she promised. "I'm going to make my marriage go if it's the only thing I ever do in this world."

Back in the embattled city across the river, toward whose towers and minarets the train now hurried itself, a blond girl sat in a shining office and stared out over the roofs.

"I'm mad about him," she muttered to herself as she glimpsed Tom Weaver's profile through the glass partition. "I'm mad about him and I'm going to do something about it."

POST, AUXILIARY TO HOLD DINNER

FULLERTON, Feb. 13.—Arrangements were made at the regular meeting of the Fullerton American Legion Auxiliary Monday night to hold a joint pot luck supper with the Legion post February 26 at the clubhouse at which time the Fullerton Ebells dramatic section will present a group of one-act plays and readings.

Mrs. Madeline Kirby presided and announced that county council meeting for today at Buena Park. Delegates elected for the meeting included Mrs. George Sherwood, Mrs. Gordon Handsfield, Mrs. George Willis and Mrs. J. McNamara. Mrs. Helen Ramsey reported on Girl Scout troop activity, the group sponsored by the auxiliary.

The date of the child welfare committee benefit party has been changed to February 17, at the clubhouse at 1 p.m. Bridge and "500" prizes are to be offered.

DINNER PLANNED
FULLERTON, Feb. 13.—Women of the Mexican mission are planning to give a Mexican dinner at the mission on East Santa Fe avenue February 20 for the public. The money raised is to be used in the mission fund.

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

TASK OF HOME SCHOOL CITED BY DR. PLUMMER

FULLERTON, Feb. 13.—The problem of "this superfluous generation" was the general topic at the Fullerton Union High school Parent-Teacher association last night, when Louis Plummer, principal of the high school and district junior college, talked briefly, following a short Founders' Day program presented under Mrs. G. N. Greer.

Mr. Plummer talked in place of Mrs. F. O. McCulloch, past state president of the P.-T. A., who was unable to attend and in a short talk told of the need of changes in attitude toward education of youth.

In the course of his talk he said that this present generation, going as it is through a transition period, is finding no place in the present set-up and that the great task of both home and school is to assist in keeping the morale of this generation at a high plane.

"They have full reason to become discouraged; we need to study to provide satisfactory surroundings to help over the period of transition," Plummer said. "We have trained in the past that the proper method of living, and now we are changed and with a right-about face are training that service rendered to fellow men is the ultimate aim of education. So to advise men and women during this period is difficult, for we are facing an economic revolution, and with this revolution, a different world than we faced a few years ago, and it is necessary to train differently to fit in with this program."

At the opening of the meeting, Mrs. E. E. McClure played "America" and the Rev. Joseph Reese of Yorba Linda, led in opening prayer. Miss Lillian Rivers led in flag salute and Mrs. J. L. Albee introduced Mrs. W. V. Kelsey, of Garden Grove, past county president, Mrs. G. N. Greer, of Fullerton, and Mrs. McClure, past president of Fullerton High school association, who gave interesting reviews of the work that has been accomplished through P.-T. A.

Plan Meeting March 12
The Rev. Mr. Reese, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Reese, sang two Negro spirituals "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Had" and "Roll, Jordan, Roll." Mrs. J. D. Hardy, who presided, announced the meeting of March 12, when "Junior College" will be the theme. The study group will meet with Mrs. Nelson Launer March 20 at La Habra, where Mrs. H. R. Archibald, of South Pasadena, state chairman of parent education, will be speaker. It will be an all day meeting, with pot luck luncheon at noon.

Miss Drusilla Mackey announced a meeting of the Orange County League of Hard of Hearing at Anaheim auditorium, where Miss Olive Harris, founder of the Blue Bird camp for the young people who are hard of hearing, will be the speaker.

Transition Period
In the course of his talk he said that this present generation, going as it is through a transition period, is finding no place in the present set-up and that the great task of both home and school is to assist in keeping the morale of this generation at a high plane.

"They have full reason to become discouraged; we need to study to provide satisfactory surroundings to help over the period of transition," Plummer said. "We have trained in the past that the proper method of living, and now we are changed and with a right-about face are training that service rendered to fellow men is the ultimate aim of education. So to advise men and women during this period is difficult, for we are facing an economic revolution, and with this revolution, a different world than we faced a few years ago, and it is necessary to train differently to fit in with this program."

At the opening of the meeting, Mrs. E. E. McClure played "America" and the Rev. Joseph Reese of Yorba Linda, led in opening prayer. Miss Lillian Rivers led in flag salute and Mrs. J. L. Albee introduced Mrs. W. V. Kelsey, of Garden Grove, past county president, Mrs. G. N. Greer, of Fullerton, and Mrs. McClure, past president of Fullerton High school association, who gave interesting reviews of the work that has been accomplished through P.-T. A.

Plan Meeting March 12
The Rev. Mr. Reese, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Reese, sang two Negro spirituals "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Had" and "Roll, Jordan, Roll." Mrs. J. D. Hardy, who presided, announced the meeting of March 12, when "Junior College" will be the theme. The study group will meet with Mrs. Nelson Launer March 20 at La Habra, where Mrs. H. R. Archibald, of South Pasadena, state chairman of parent education, will be speaker. It will be an all day meeting, with pot luck luncheon at noon.

Married Flirts

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Gypsy Morell and Tom Weaver are married on the same day as Lila Morell and Derek Sils but Lila's wedding is a society event while Gypsy's is very simple.

While Lila lives in luxury Gypsy has to struggle to keep expenses within Tom's income. She keeps her job teaching and then learns she is to have a baby. After David's birth she is extremely busy, caring for him and for her home.

Tom is frequently away in the evening and Gypsy suspects he is interested in Vera Gray. One day she sees them going to lunch together. She is heart-broken and refuses to listen to his explanations. Lila confesses to Gypsy that she intends to divorce Derek and marry Marko Broughton, richer and older. Gypsy's father is seriously injured in a motor accident and she and Tom rush to the hotel home.

While Gypsy remains there, desperately worried, Vera continues to pursue Tom.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXV

No one met Tom Weaver at the station that night. He swung up the steep street away from the station, a frown creasing his brow. Of course he hadn't expected Gypsy to come, but he did feel that she might greet him at the big house in Upper Dean street.

The spring twilight was full of pleasant sounds. Birds shrilled in the budding trees and children played in the hedges yards, mad with release after the long winter. Snapper smelted drifted in with crisp air. And in a quiet room a man lay dying.

The nurse came and went. The doctors touched and looked and shook their heads. And the wife, white and stubborn, refused to accept their verdict. As Tom came into the hall he heard Mrs. Morell saying in a clear voice: "It's all nonsense. I tell you, he's going to get well."

Her eyes, Tom thought, were unusually bright and her color feverish. Gypsy, in the background looked white and strained. He went to kiss her and she said quietly, "We can't do a thing with her. She's angry with us all."

Maybe she's right, Tom thought. Maybe she knows better than the rest. But after he had talked to Dr. Bannerman he became imbued with a sense of hopelessness. Death struck at you in such a cruel way. It made life naked, terrifying.

The long night began to wheel by. The patient was surprising even with his vitality. He was clinging stubbornly to life although he had not as yet opened his eyes. Mrs. Morell refused to go to bed. She looked at them with scorn when they suggested it.

"Sleep!" she said with bright, contemptuous eyes. "Why, I want to be here when he wakes."

Gypsy's fearful eyes sought Tom's. When he woke indeed!

Tom played patience—he had to do something. The atmosphere of the house was oppressive. Dread made the undercurrent and the low voices were muffled with it. Gypsy could not sit still. She kept getting up and going to the door, as though there was something she could do. The baby had long since been tucked into his crib.

It was 10-11 was 11. Suddenly they heard the nurse's running feet above. Tom vaulted the stairs. The tall night nurse, shaken out of her professional composure, stared down at him.

"I—I think he's going," she said. "Will someone call the doctor?"

Gypsy had heard. She was on the step below. Her dark eyes were enormous. "I'll call him," she said, frozen. "You look after Mother."

They were all in the room now. The solitary light burned dimly under its extra shade. The patient was conscious now after the long spell of silence. He tossed and muttered on his pillow. His thin hands plucked at the coverlet.

It seemed hours, although it was actually only a matter of minutes, before the doctor came. A doctor, Gypsy thought, was a little like God; you expected too much of him. He bustled into the room, tall and stooped and beginning to be a little portly, his eyeglasses dangled from a thin chain.

He put an exploring hand on Harvey Morell's wrist. He bent down, the stethoscope adjusted, and assumed the listening look. He brightened and his eyes sought those of the nurse. "When did the change come?"

"Ten minutes ago, doctor..."

"Ah!"

Why don't they do something, Gypsy thought wildly! Why do they stand calmly around? What good are they? She was grateful for Tom's nearness. It was something to hold to in this terrible life.

The doctor turned to Mrs. Morell. Was it possible that his worn face showed encouragement? He said, very low, "You've been a good soldier, Louise. I think perhaps you've kept him here..."

"You mean...?" She pressed her handkerchief to her lips. "Don't give me too much hope, doctor."

"I'm not sure," he told them all slowly. "But I think he's taken a turn for the better..."

It was a long, slow struggle that convalescence. Gypsy and Tom moved back to the apartment in the middle of the second week to take up their own problems again. By that time Harvey Morell was sitting up, propped by pillows, in the big four poster. The morning before she went back to the city Gypsy had a talk with her father. The nurse had left the day before and Gypsy had brought him up his mid-morning cup of broth. All the windows were opened wide this morning to the bright spring sunshine. The curtains moved fitfully and just below the sill at Gypsy's elbow an old gnarled lilac bush had burst unexpectedly into blossom.

Her father nodded, his dark face smiling. "You're leaving us?"

"This afternoon," she told him. "It will be less work all around. I feel I can safely trust you to Mother." They shared an ancient joke to the effect that Gypsy was the family protector.

He drained the cup with the invalid's characteristic sigh.

"Good?"

"Wonderful."

She made him more comfortable among the pillows. "Miss your nurse?"

He grinned. "I can spare that woman. She was a bit too bossy."

He was silent or a few moments. Then he said, hesitatingly. "You all right, Gypsy?"

"Yes, of course. Why?"

"I just wondered."

She flushed. Daddy was smart. You seldom fooled him about anything. Had he noticed the last time when he had seen the coolness between him and Tom?

"Of course, I'm all right. Haven't I got everything in the world?"

"I guess so."

"Just don't you worry about anything but getting strong," Gypsy advised, patting his hand. "Daddy—" she paused, not knowing quite how to go on. "Tom and I have a little money saved," she said awkwardly. "He told me—he wanted me to tell you it was yours if you need it now."

"Why, that's—that's awfully good of you," she said, her eyes twinkling. "The man in the bad blink twice and swallowed hard. "Thanks, dear, I'll remember that. I think we can get by. It's mighty lucky I kept up that disability insurance. It's paying me $50 a week right now and I guess we can keep our heads above water. Keep your money, child. You'll need it. Guess you'll be wanting a house of your own one of these days. Tell Tom I appreciate his kind thought."

She twitched the coverlet straight and turned to go but he detained her.

"You get a lot of time to think, lying here as I do," he said slowly. "Can't tell you how glad I am that you're settled, taken care of. I don't have to worry about you. Tom's a good boy; he'll go far if he's handled right."

"You married young, didn't you Daddy?"

"Yes, I did. We had a struggle at first—always have had, as a matter of fact. I never was a go-getter." His smile was wry. "But your mother's been 'ra. She never asked for more than I could give. Not many women like her. And she was used to lots, too."

"Marriage is so funny," Gypsy offered vaguely in the pause. "It's never quite what you think it's going to be."

"Of course not! Of course not. It begins with a party, everybody singing and throwing flowers. Pretty soon the boy and girl have to worry about beefsteak and rent money. Not the same thing at all. But if they're the right sort they'll come through."

Gypsy parted his hand. Daddy was good. He knew what life was all about. Maybe she was taking the whole thing too seriously.

As she dressed the baby for the homeward trip she thought of her father's words and her heart lightened insensibly. Besides, the weeks she had just lived through had given her a new sense of values. The hovering wings of the Black Angel had come close to her. You forget petty things—unimportant things—in that dread shadow. She and Tom would make a fresh start when she went back to the apartment. She would try to be different; she wouldn't let everything bother her.

Clytie helped her down to the taxi. From the window above she could see her mother waving. Her mother, thin, valiant, frail.

"Take care of her," Gypsy told the old colored woman. "Take care of them both."

Clytie said yes, she would. They'd be all right, she told Gypsy. Miss Morell, he was a fine man; praise God they hadn't lost him.

It was a warm, languorous day in May. Shrubs were bursting into bloom all along the wide pleasant streets. The black hedges showed a tracing of green wherever you looked. Gypsy felt a singing in her heart. Maybe it was spring, maybe it was going back to her own man and her own hearth that gave her a sense of fresh beginnings.

"I'm going to be different," she promised. "I'm going to make my marriage go if it's the only thing I ever do in this world."

Back in the embattled city across the river, toward whose towers and minarets the train now hurried itself, a blond girl sat in a shining office and stared out over the roofs.

"I'm mad about him," she muttered to herself as she glimpsed Tom Weaver's profile through the glass partition. "I'm mad about him and I'm going to do something about it."

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

TASK OF HOME SCHOOL CITED BY DR. PLUMMER

FULLERTON, Feb. 13.—The problem of "this superfluous generation" was the general topic at the Fullerton Union High School Parent-Teacher association last night, when Louis Plummer, principal of the high school and district junior college, talked briefly, following a short Founders' Day program presented under Mrs. G. N. Greer.

Mrs. Plummer talked in place of Mrs. F. O. McCulloch, past state president of the P-T. A., who was unable to attend and in a short talk told of the need of changes in attitude toward education of youth.

Transition Period
In the course of his talk he said that this present generation, going as it is through a transition period, is finding no place in the present set-up and that the great task of both home and school is to assist in keeping the morale of this generation at a high plane.

"They have full reason to become discouraged; we need to study to provide satisfactory surroundings to help over the period of transition," Plummer said. "We have trained in the past that profit making for the individual is the proper method of living, and now we are changed and with a right-about face are training that to advise men and women during this period is difficult, for we are facing an economic revolution, and with this revolution, a different world than we faced a few years ago, and it is necessary to train differently to fit in with this program."

At the opening of the meeting, Mrs. E. E. McClure played "America" and the Rev. Joseph Reice of Yorba Linda, led in opening prayer. Miss Lillian Rivers led in flag salute and Mrs. J. L. Albee introduced Mrs. W. V. Kelsey, of Garden Grove, past county president. Mrs. G. N. Greer, of Fullerton, and Mrs. McClure, past presidents of Fullerton High school association, who gave interesting reviews of the work that has been accomplished through P-T. A.

Plan Meeting March 12
The Rev. Mr. Reice, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Reice, sang two Negro spirituals. "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Had" and "Roll, Jordan, Roll." Mrs. J. D. Hardy, who presided, announced the meeting of March 12, when "Junior College" will be the theme. The study group will meet 6:30 p.m.

DELEGATES TO STATE D. A. R. MEET ELECTED
YORBA LINDA, Feb. 13.—Attended by more than 50 members and guests, members of Yorba Linda chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met Monday at the home of Mrs. William H. Bates, Valley View, Yorba Linda, where Mrs. Bates, Mrs. W. W. Blackmer, Mrs. A. P. Wiese, Mrs. Winifred Bradford and Mrs. Willis Maple were hostesses. Miss Nancy Lee Carmichael, regent, presided at the business session.

Mrs. C. B. Nonamaker, who is planning to leave soon for Washington, D. C., will represent Yorba Linda chapter as regent alternate at the national conference to be held there April 19. Mrs. Nonamaker is planning to visit Mrs. John Morley, her daughter, where Miss Ruth Nonamaker is now visiting, and Miss Ruth plans to return home with her.

Mrs. O. M. Thompson, alternate, and Miss Carmichael and Mrs. R. Lightner, delegate, and Mrs. A. S. Bradford, alternate delegate, were elected to attend the state conference.

Mrs. Carl H. Seasmans, composer, presented groups of her own and other classic piano selections, and presented Miss Elsie Moore, contralto, and Mrs. Mollet, soprano, in a number of her compositions. Refreshments were served by the hostesses at a beautifully appointed table, with Mrs. Blackmer and Mrs. Bradford pouring. Mrs. Dora Gunnert read Washington's prayer and a favorite poem of Lincoln's in keeping with the general theme of the day, a patriotic theme. Mrs. Seasmans presented a song, one of her composition, "Boys of '61."

WRONG MAN?

Some smart lawyers believe the Senate is picking on the wrong man in the MacCracken case. They say there is hardly a chance in a hundred that Lawyer MacCracken will be convicted, the way things are going now. He has certain wide open legal loopholes and has employed the world's greatest loophole attorney, Frank Hogan, to defend him. Hogan once got Colonel Robert Stewart of Standard Oil out of a much worse Senatorial jam through a legal hole no bigger than the eye of a needle. (Usually a man is morally guilty if not legally—when he employs a man like Hogan.—Editor.) Insiders in the case believe MacCracken and Hogan have figured out an impregnable defense, based on the idea that MacCracken's papers were not his, but his clients', that MacCracken was bound as a lawyer to give the papers back to his clients. That explains why MacCracken and Hogan have been so willing to take the limelight in the case, demanding that MacCracken be arrested and all that.

CHANCES

The Senate may have a much better technical case if it proceeds against one of MacCracken's clients who destroyed evidence.

Courts are strict about such matters. Such a client could not claim the immunity of an attorney. Also, it might be difficult for him to prove legal justification. He has no such loopholes as MacCracken.

The Senate seems to miss the late Senator Tom Walsh. He will be entirely at Republican expense. Farley is also a clever politician.

SLIP

There was a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip on this stock market legislation.

Mr. Roosevelt's Dickinson committee had recommended moderation in regulating the exchange. The highest Wall Streeters thought they had been promised privately a 100-word bill merely licensing them. The Exchange accepted the Dickinson ideas. A majority of the Senate committee was apparently willing to go along.

Then suddenly a new bill was proposed which had fangs instead of teeth in it. No one is supposed to know where the bill came from. Mr. Roosevelt said he never saw it.

POSSIBILITIES

One of two things may have happened. Mr. Roosevelt may not have liked the reaction to the Dickinson report. He may have decided a stronger bill was necessary, and screened his maneuver by entrusting the matter to Prosecutor Pecora.

The other possibility is that the ultra-reformers swung Pecora around and put Mr. Roosevelt on the spot by offering a bill contrary to his wishes.

There is also a chance that Mr. Roosevelt submitted both sides of the question and now is going to let Congress fight it out. If that is the case, there may be no legislation at all.

In reading the proposed bill, one thing should be kept in mind: The soup is never eaten as hot as it is cooked.

NOTES

Skeptics may doubt whether it is any better to let the retiring chairman of the Democratic National Committee, James Farley, handle air mail contracts now than it was to have permitted such a politically minded man as Walter Brown to have handled them in the first place.

It appears that the Administration arbitrarily took the stock market bill out of the hands of Chairman Steagall of the House Banking Committee and gave it to a closer White House ally, Chairman Rayburn of the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

The Army people are delighted at the opportunity of handling the air mail, figuring they can get appropriations for even more planes out of Congress.

It was Chairman Jones of the House Agriculture Committee who put over the provision for protecting consumers against excessive processing taxes in the new Sugar bill.

FINANCING

The Treasury's terrific problem of raising $5,000,000,000 in new money by July 1st is rapidly fading into thin air. To begin with, the best inside estimates cut it to five billion on the basis that the President underestimated revenues by at least one billion. Of this five billion, one billion has already been raised. Nearly a billion more—apart from the equalization fund—accrues to the Treasury through the profit on gold.

From one to two billion more can be easily and gradually added to the total of Treasury bills week after week without anyone even noticing the difference.

That leaves only from one to two billion—probably nearer one—to be raised by a direct issue before July 1st. That sort of slays the sound moneyites' prize bogey—how can Federal credit stand the strain of raising such a huge sum? There ain't going to be no strain.

SENATE

The Democratic primary fight for the New York Senatorial nomination will be bitter. Thomas E. Conway—for all his implied administration backing—will have no walkover if he runs. There will be no burning of Washington fingers a la McKee candidacy this time.

Incumbent Copeland will put up a real scrap against any administration candidate. His radio talks on health have made him well known and popular upstate. Also he will have the warm support of the Tammany cohorts who still seek a chance to kick the Lehman-Farley crown in the face.

Tammany may be on the way to the ash-heap but is still a foe not to be despised in a primary tussle.

Republicans are cheered by the prospective rift.

AIR MAIL

Local insiders get word that the hottest fireworks of Senator Black's investigation of air mail contracts are still ahead. United Aircraft interests are wondering when their turn will come and what records they will be called upon to produce. Relations with former government officials have not been fully aired by any means.

National City employees are also likely to be questioned. Reliable sources state that their former function as confidential intermediaries between air line and postal authorities will be examined with a microscope.

SECURITIES

Wall Street's hopes that the Securities Act will be eased are mounting. The grapevine has it that the report by three members of the Dickinson Committee recommended such action was requested by the government.

The fact that two members of the Dickinson Committee did not sign the report doesn't mean they were opposed. Lawyer Arthur Dean abstained because he thought his Wall Street connections would be used against the report in Congress. Trade Commissioner Landis stayed out because he wanted a free hand to introduce interpretations of his own.

But some of the best known Wall Street underwriting houses don't expect any large stock or bond flotations for a long time regardless of the Securities Act. They have reduced their statistical departments—which do about 90 per cent of the work in connection with a new issue—to were skeletons. The chief statisticians who were laid off cannot be replaced overnight if they should be needed again.

MARKET

Analysis by a Wall Street expert shows that most of the recent heavy stock market transactions—apart from professional trading—originated outside New York. The largest part of the big buying orders came from wire houses with offices in Chicago and other mid-western cities.

PROGRESS

International financial circles report a surprising increase in the value of British securities. They are estimated to be worth about twelve billion dollars more than they were a year and a half ago. This is taken as an index of British progress toward recovery and beneficial repercussions are expected here.

MERGER

Trade insiders report a significant move in the recent merger of Vestey's—who control the importation of Argentine beef to Britain—with the Australian meat magnate, William Angliss. Experts say this means that Britain is switching to the Empire and Argentina is out of luck in British markets.

The rest of South America is expected to suffer similar trade changes in the future. The net result should be a closer trade bond between the southern continent and the United States.

ENTENTE

A secret entente has been formed between Italy, France and England to bring Germany back to the international conference table. This combination is prepared to force Germany to be "reasonable" on disarmament and trade agreements. Insiders have it that Mussolini has been drawn in by a French promise to cede a strip of North African coast to Italy in case of any serious trouble.

CARS

Railroad executives hereabouts admit they are holding up prices for new freight cars while the Eastman plan to pool equipment is in prospect. "Where do we get off spending money for nice new cars and then having the Podunk & Hoochville grab them off? Let Uncle Sam buy 'em for us. He'll probably own us all before long anyway."

SIDELIGHTS

Wall Street says the Securities Act should boom the paper business. . . . Think of the reams it will take to print legal prospectuses. . . . Comment runs that Austria's asking the League of Nations for help against Germany is like asking a jack rabbit to help smack down a mountain lion.

"MY KIND OF TRAVELING TAKES HEALTHY NERVES, TOO"

Earle W. Schoonmaker of Nutley, N. J. travels thousands of miles every year as a commuter. He says:

"I think I know something of nerve strain, too. Breakfast, the 8:04, the same trip again at the end of a hard day. I'm a constant smoker. My brand? Camels, of course. I can enjoy Camels steadily and I never have to worry about jangled nerves. Camels are the mildest cigarette. They've got what I call real flavor!"

Thomas Olsen, who sailed a 26-foot boat across 9,000 miles of ocean, says:

"There's one cigarette that I can smoke steadily without getting nervous or 'fed up' with smoking. I mean Camels. They taste mild—never flat—and there is a delicate flavor to Camel's costlier tobaccos that certainly does set Camels apart from other cigarettes."

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Most all of us know jangled nerves by these telltale signs—jumping when doors slam, scolding, worrying, nail-biting, frowning, foot-tapping. No wonder "nerves" are being put forward as one of the great questions of the day affecting men and women in every station of life. If you are the nervous type, check up on your eating, your sleeping, your recreation. And be on the safe side about smoking—take up Camels now.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand.

Thousands daily are turning to Camels. And finding a new zest for smoking... an enjoyment that each Camel refreshes and renews. Enjoy Camels as often as you wish. Your taste will always respond to their finer flavor. And they never get on your nerves.

handled all contempt cases for the Senate during the past twenty years. He favored turning such cases over to the district attorney without so much fuss.

GAME

Politicians all agree privately that the Senate is not primarily after MacCracken or his clients. The real "possum" they want to tree is ex-Postmaster General Walter Brown.

Postmaster General Farley has been growing about Brown since March 4. When Farley moved into Brown's office, he found Brown had left the political cupboard bare.

Brown had even arranged so that his own and Mr. Hoover's names were chiseled on the corner stones of postoffices not then built. Farley had the names chiseled off. The papers burned in the furnace were Civil Service records which the Democrats could have used to throw Republicans out of office for cause. Their destruction prevented Farley from firing possibly 100 Republican postmasters before their terms expired.

Brown also let all the airmail contracts he could, intending to leave none for Farley. Congress put a stop to that by passing a law preventing Brown from doing anything except extending old airmail lines. Thereupon Brown extended every line he possibly could. Farley set out immediately to cancel those extensions. That situation is what appears to be at the bottom of the current turmoil.

POLITICIANS

Brown is a clever politician. He has spent a life time learning to be one. He made no secrecy of the fact that he favored the large established air lines. He openly asserted it was better to pay them a little more to carry the mails than to trust the little independents. He handed out the gravy with a big ladle.

The air mail industry sprang up under Republican administration. It hired Republican attorneys, like Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Wild Bill Donovan and MacCracken. You will probably not even find an office boy in that whole industry who is a Democrat.

Therefore the current expose will be entirely at Republican expense. Farley is also a clever politician.

"Call us whenever you can, son. We want to hear your voice"

Never do home ties mean so much as when the young people go away—to school, or to the new job, or to the new home.

The telephone binds families together, no matter what distance between. Encourage them to call you regularly. Bring those far-scattered voices home.

It is so easy to talk "Long Distance." Connections are made quickly and with face-to-face clearness.

"MY KIND OF TRAVELING TAKES HEALTHY NERVES, TOO"

Earle W. Schoonmaker of Nutley, N. J. travels thousands of miles every year as a commuter. He says:

"I think I know something of nerve strain, too. Breakfast, the 8:04, the same trip again at the end of a hard day. I'm a constant smoker. My brand? Camels, of course. I can enjoy Camels steadily and I never have to worry about jangled nerves. Camels are the mildest cigarette. They've got what I call real flavor!"

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Most all of us know jangled nerves by these telltale signs—jumping when doors slam, scolding, worrying, nail-biting, frowning, foot-tapping. No wonder "nerves" are being put forward as one of the great questions of the day affecting men and women in every station of life. If you are the nervous type, check up on your eating, your sleeping, your recreation. And be on the safe side about smoking—take up Camels now.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCO than any other popular brand.

Thousands daily are turning to Camels. And finding a new zest for smoking...an enjoyment that each Camel refreshes and renews. Enjoy Camels as often as you wish. Your taste will always respond to their finer flavor. And they never get on your nerves.

Thomas Olsen, who sailed a 26-foot boat across 9,000 miles of ocean, says:

"There's one cigarette that I can smoke steadily without getting nervous or 'fed up' with smoking. I mean Camels. They taste mild—never flat—and there is a delicate flavor to Camel's costlier tobaccos that certainly does set Camels apart from other cigarettes."

Army, Navy, Guard Officers To Attend D. A. V. Ball

GENERAL WINN TO BE SPECIAL HONOR GUEST

The sixth annual Military Ball under the auspices of the Jack Fisher Chapter Disabled American Veterans of the World War will be given added military honors this year with the acceptance of Gen. Frank L. Winn, to be guest of honor. It was announced at last night's meeting of the Citizens' committee held at the A. G. Flag home on North Broadway.

General Winn was war time commander of the 89th Division, which received high honors in the World War through its accomplishments in the St. Mihiel and Argonne Forest drives. He is a graduate of West Point, being in the same graduating class as General John J. Pershing in 1886. General Winn received citations for gallantry in the Spanish American war and Philippine insurrection and was awarded the Distinguished Service medal and Croix de Guerre with two palms during the World War.

Several Orange county residents served in this division and will be at the Valencia Ballroom on February 22 in uniform to honor General Winn who is looking forward to meeting the officers and men of his old command as well as all in attendance at this year's military ball. Included in this list are Lieut.-Col. M. E. Wellington, Santa Ana; Maj. Harry O. War-ton, Anaheim; Lieut. L. C. Sloth-ower, Costa Mesa; Albert A. Poudevigne and Frank Trokey, Ana-helm; C. C. Taylor, Floyd A. Bry-ant and Harry S. Pickard, the lat-ter commander of the Jack Fisher Chapter D. A. V. and chairman of the Citizens' committee.

Numerous officers of this divi-sion in Los Angeles and surround-ing territory are planning to ap-pear to pay homage to their war time commander. In addition many Army, Navy and National Guard officers will appear in uniform to add color to this outstanding social event of Orange county. Lieut.-Commanders Irwin F. Landis and B. P. Donnelly will represent the Navy with several from the San Pedro fleet expected; Col. Nelson M. Holderman, Napa; Majors W. C. Hart, Orange; Deo Robinson, of Orange; Earl B. Hawke, A. S. Ralph, John Wehrly, H. C. Wood-ward, H. McVicar Smith, R. P. Yeagle and A. F. Moulton, of San-ta Ana; Captains Gordon X. Rich-mond, of Orange; Jules W. Markel, of Santa Ana; Lieutenants Dixon Tubbs, James H. Farrago, Louis A. Riehl, Van Leonard Brown, Maurice F. Enderle, Wilbur K. Getty, Charles D. Swanner, will represent the Army; with Maj. Donald L. Winans, Anaheim; Cap-tain James B. Pettit and Lieutenants Robt. P. Kellogg and Leonard E. Echols as National Guard repre-sentatives. Many more of the Re-serve officers are expected to ap-pear in uniform and acceptance is daily awaited from officers of March Field Aviation Corps.

A large attendance is expected according to fine reception of ad-vanced ticket sale and final plans were completed at last night's meeting which insures an excel-

POSTER CAMPAIGN AGAINST MIXING GASOLINE, ALCOHOL STARTED IN ORANGE COUNTY

A movement to educate the public to the fact that gasoline and liquor do not mix has been launched by the Tustin W. C. T. U. in co-operation with the Orange County W. C. T. U., it was learned today.

The movement has taken the form of a campaign in billboard advertising, according to Mrs. C. E. Utt, president of the Tustin unit.

Three billboards have been secured so far, it was announced, and these are located in the 400 block on West Fourth street, Santa Ana, on Spadra road south of Fullerton, and on West Chapman near Citrus street, Orange.

It is possible that the movement will spread all over Southern California, Mrs. Utt said, due to the fact that considerable interest already has been displayed in the project. So far the program has been financed by the Tustin and Orange county W. C. T. U., but the extended program would be financed by other temperance groups in Southern California, it was stated.

Excellent evening's entertainment. Final meeting of the Citizens' committee, cooperation with the D. A. V. organization, will be held next Monday evening.

CANTANDO CLUB CONCERT TO BE GIVEN FEB. 19

Announcement was made today that the second concert of the Cantando club 1933-34 series will be held Tuesday night in the Orange High school auditorium. The change to Orange was necessitated through recent closing of the auditorium at the Santa Ana High school.

Leon Eckles, director of the club, announces that the soloist for the evening will be Allan Watson, Canadian baritone. Watson has spent the last three years in Hollywood where he has scored repeated successes in motion picture productions, on the radio, in operas and oratorios.

ANSWERS to today's THREE GUESSES

The wait came from GER-MANY toward the end of the 18th century. GEN. PHILIP H. SHERIDAN was called "LIT-TLE PHIL" by his soldiers. The submarine first was used for war purposes in the AMER-ICAN REVOLUTION, in 1776.

The frenzied spirit of revolution held sway again in Paris as this howling mob swept through the streets, leaving ruin and death in its wake. Armed with shovels, picks and clubs, the rioting thousands differed from the bloodthirsty throngs of 1789, 1848 and 1871 only in attire. Women and boys were in the forefront of the maddened mob.

There will be but two solo groups sung by Watson with Erma Lucas as accompanist. The first of these groups will offer "Good Fellows Be Merry" (Bach); "In the Time of Roses" (Reichardt) and "Five and Twenty Sailors" (Coleridge-Taylor). In the second group Mr. Watson will sing "The Horn" (Flegler); "Hills of Home" (Fox) and "De Glory Road" by Wolfe.

Chorus numbers of the evening will open with that stirring Na-tional Hymn of Wales, "March of the Men of Harlech." Others in the opening Cantando group will be "The High Barbaree" (Arm-bruster); "Shadow March" (Pro-thero) and "A Spirit Flower" (Campbell-Tipton).

"Hunting Song" (Hadley) and "Swabian Folk Song" (Brahms) will close the first half of the evening's program with "Adore-mus Te" by Palestrina, and "Let Their Celestial Concerts" by Handel.

The final group will be "Home Beyond the River" (Heywood-Deis); "Annie Laurie;" "The Green Eyed Dragon" (Charles) and "All Praise to God in Light Arrayed" by Wagner-Salter.

FARM GROUP TO MAKE TRIP TO BOULDER DAM

Plans have been completed for members of the 16 farm centers in Orange county to make a three-day trip to Hoover Dam. The party will leave Olive at 8 a. m. Monday, February 26, and will return the evening of February 28.

Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahl-berg has been delegated to make arrangements with engineers in charge of the project for an intimate study and view of the works. The party will make the trip by automobile reaching Las Vegas, Nev., on the afternoon of Febru-ary 26.

Spending the night in Las Ve-gas the party will go to Boulder City on the second day where of-ficials will direct the trip to the dam. In the afternoon the party will return by way of the Metro-politan aqueduct and inspect the work under way on that project. The return trip will require an extra day through the desert. Those who wish to devote but two days to the trip, according to Wahl-berg, will leave the party at Boul-der City and return by paved highway.

While the trip is being limited only to Farm Center representa-tives, a few extra persons may be accommodated. Arrangements for the trip may be made by contact-ing the farm advisor's office in the court house annex.

Doctors Give Cresote For Chest Colds

For many years our best doctors have prescribed Cresote in some form for coughs, colds and bronchitis, knowing how dangerous it is to let them hang on.

Cresomulsion with cresote and six other highly important medicinal elements, quickly and effectively stops coughs and colds that otherwise might lead to serious trouble.

Cresomulsion is powerful in the treatment of colds and coughs, yet it is absolutely harmless and is pleasant and easy to take.

Your own druggist guarantees Cresomulsion by refunding your money if you are not relieved after taking Cresomulsion as directed. Beware the cough or cold that hangs on. Always keep Cresomulsion on hand for instant use.—Adv.

CHURCH CLUBS FRATERNAL

WOMEN~ SOCIETY~ THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD~

Niece of Santa Anas Wedded in Local Church

Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Hossfeld are establishing their home at 702 Fourteenth street in Santa Monica following their marriage of Thursday, February 8, in the United Presbyterian church of this city. Mrs. Hossfeld was Miss Rose Marie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Thomas of Vallejo, formerly of Hollywood.

The ceremony was attended by a little group of friends and relatives including the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Thomas, 2072 South Parton street, this city.

Officiating minister was the Rev. A. E. Kelly, church pastor. The bride wore a powder blue frock, with matching hat and a bouquet of pink roses. Her maid of honor, Mrs. Clarence Corcoran, of Los Angeles, wore a chartreuse, with a bouquet of yellow roses and fern. Mr. Corcoran was best man.

A supper party followed at the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe, where pink sweet peas served as decorations.

Guests at the wedding, other than Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Thomas, were Kathryn Schaefer, Betty Clark, John Ronan, Lloyd Boss, John Banerman, all of Los Angeles, and Harry Arthur of Anaheim, with the bride party, Mr. and Mrs. Hossfeld and Mr. and Mrs. Corcoran.

Mr. Hossfeld is employed in the Los Angeles office of Fox West Coast theaters. His bride formerly was employed as secretary to the sales manager of Paramount Pictures Distributing corporation.

Anaheim Dinner Given In Compliment to Santa Ana

Mrs. E. H. Henderson, 615 West Eighth street, who is to leave soon to make her home in Perris, Calif., was complimented at a farewell party given recently in the Anaheim home of Miss Dorothy Osborn. Assisting the hostess in entertaining was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Elina Osborn.

Coming as a surprise to the honoree, details of the evening included the serving of an appetizing dinner at 6:30 o'clock. Guests were seated at a large table appointed in red and white. Mrs. Henderson was presented with a purse from the assembled friends.

Present with Mrs. Henderson were Mesdames Eleanor Morrison, Julia Shoebridge, Bess McClain, Edna Woods, Edith Davidson, Clara Tolifaro, Evah Wyckoff, the Misses Margaret Garrett, Hilda Nuebaum, and Miss Osborn and Mrs. Elina Osborn.

Little Group Shares Valentine Party

Entertaining a little group of friends, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Kaufman were hosts at a Valentine's party last week in their home, 901 Lowell street.

Cards were played and P. F. Colanich scored high. Refreshments were served at a table appointed with red sweet peas and matching tapers.

In the group with Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Betten and Mr. and Mrs. Colanich.

Literary Importance Accorded Books in General Review

Reversing their usual procedure by placing program features in advance of a business interval, Eboli society members yesterday followed with their customary close attention, the analysis and summary of a group of books of current interest, given in the auditorium by Mrs. Jack Valley.

Mrs. Charles V. Davis, president, announced that Mrs. Valley's departure for San Francisco made it more convenient to have the book review at the beginning of the 2 o'clock program, so clubwomen settled themselves for a satisfactory interval before they should turn their attention to business affairs.

In selecting books of special interest to analyze and discuss for Eboli women, Mrs. Valley centered her attention on non-fiction. Perhaps one of the most interesting on her list, was "Take the Whirl" by the Cohn author, which deals with the life of the late Earl Rogers, famous as one of the country's leading criminal attorneys. He practiced in the Los Angeles courts, and was a familiar figure to Santa Anas because of his frequent work here on criminal cases. His skill in examining witnesses was stressed, and Mrs. Valley told intimate details of his work, citing the tribute paid his dramatic skill by John Barrymore.

The later had declared that Rogers' work made him the finest possible material to study, and that he, Barrymore, never missed an opportunity to see him handle a case.

In summarizing "Who Rules America" (McConaughy) the speaker discussed the origin in New Zealand some 40 years ago of what is now known as the Fascist movement, since present day politics of the movement are so in accordance with the activities four decades ago.

"The New Pioneers" (McCarthy) gave her opportunity to compare the pioneers of history with those of today who are pioneering in the great political movements of the world. This same spirit of comparison is evident in Roeder's "The Man of the Renaissance," for the early Renaissance was one of art and literature, while that of today is a political renaissance.

While the talk in the main was devoted to important literary contributions regarding political issues, national and international, some time also was given to fiction, including "First Love and Last" (Coke) and "Shake Hands with the Devil" (Conner).

Mrs. Valley's next local engagement will be on the night of March 12 when she will be guest speaker at an Eboli dinner party for husbands of members.

Definite selection of this date was made during the business meeting following yesterday's program. Current Events section will have charge of the dinner menu and further plans will be announced as the date draws near.

An important decision was reached to introduce a new membership campaign similar to that conducted so successfully in December. This will go into effect at once to continue until May 1. A strong appeal was voiced by Mrs. Albert Launer of Fullerton, for support of "California Federation News," of which she is editor. Complimentary copies of the magazine were distributed.

Harry Pickard, commander of Jack Fisher chapter D.A.V. was introduced and made a short talk on work with and for Disabled American Veterans, and on the annual Military ball which the chapter will hold the night of February 22 in Valencia Ballroom. He was very well received, and clubwomen assured him of their support of his chapter and its welfare plans to be carried out with proceeds from the ball.

Various announcements were made of section events to come, including the Section Leaders' meeting in Eboli clubhouse Wednesday morning. Mrs. Sara Hadgdon, director of the Tuesday contract bridge events in the clubhouse, announced the possible cancellation of evening classes for men and women, unless there is assurance of a larger attendance. Morning classes for beginners and afternoon classes for more advanced players will continue as scheduled.

WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME

WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

Niece of Santa Anans Wedded in Local Church

Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Hossfeld are establishing their home at 702 Fourteenth street in Santa Monica following their marriage of Thursday, February 8 in United Presbyterian church of this city. Mrs. Hossfeld was Miss Rose Marie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Thomas of Vallejo, formerly of Hollywood.

The ceremony was attended by a little group of friends and relatives including the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Thomas, 2072 South Parton street, this city.

Officiating minister was the Rev. A. E. Kelly, church pastor. The bride wore a powder blue frock with matching hat and a bouquet of pink roses. Her mother, Mrs. Thomas, wore a white dress with a bouquet of yellow roses and fern. Mr. Corcoran was best man.

A supper party followed at the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe, where pink sweet peas served as decorations.

Guests at the wedding, other than Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thomas of this city were Kathryn Schaeffer, Betty Clark, John Roman, Lloyd Boss, John Rummertman, all of Los Angeles, and Harry Arthur of Anaheim, with the bride's father, Mr. and Mrs. Hossfeld and Mr. and Mrs. Corcoran.

Mr. Hossfeld is employed in the Los Angeles office of Fox West Coast theaters. His bride formerly was employed as secretary to the sales manager of Paramount Pictures Distributing corporation.

Anaheim Dinner Given In Compliment to Santa Ana

Mrs. E. H. Henderson, 615 West Eighth street, who is to leave soon to make her home in Perris, Calif., was complimented at a farewell party given recently in the Anaheim home of Miss Dorothy Osborn. Assisting the hostess in entertaining was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Elina Osborn.

Coming as a surprise to the honoree, details of the evening included the serving of an appetizing dinner at 6:30 o'clock. Guests were seated at a large table appointed in red and white. Mrs. Henderson was presented with a purse from the assembled friends.

Present with Mrs. Henderson were Mesdames Eleanor Morrison, Julia Shoenberger, Bess McClain, Edna Woods, Edith Davidson, Clara Toffaro, Eva Wyckoff, the Misses Margaret Garrett, Hilda Nusbaum, and Miss Osborn and Mrs. Elina Osborn.

Little Group Shares Valentine Party

Entertaining a little group of friends, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Kaufman were hosts at a Valentine's bridge party late last week in their home, 901 Lowell street.

Cards were played and P. P. Colanichick scored high. Refreshments were served at a table appointed with red sweet peas and matching tapers.

In the group with Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Betten and Mr. and Mrs. Colanichick.

Literary Importance Accorded Books in General Review

Reversing their usual procedure by placing program features in advance of a business interval, Ebbl society members yesterday followed with their customary close attention, the analysis and summary of a group of books of current interest, given in the auditorium by Mrs. Jack Valley.

Mrs. Charles V. Davis, president, announced that Mrs. Valley's departure for San Francisco made it more convenient to have the book review at the beginning of the 2 o'clock program, so club women settled themselves for a satisfactory interval before they should turn their attention to business affairs.

In selecting books of special importance to analyze, Mrs. Valley centered her attention on non-fiction. Perhaps one of the most interesting on her list was "Take the Witness," the Cohn and Chisholm book dealing with the life of the late Earl Rogers, famous as one of the country's leading criminal attorneys. He practiced in the Los Angeles courts, and was a familiar figure to Santa Anans because of his frequent work here on criminal cases. His skill in examining witnesses was stressed, and Mrs. Valley told intimate details of his work, citing the tribute paid his dramatic life by John Barrymore. The latter had declared that Rogers' work made him the finest possible material to study, and that, he Barrymore, never missed an opportunity to see him handle a case.

In summarizing "Who Rules America" (McConaughy) the speaker discussed the origin in New Zealand some 40 years ago of what is now known as the Fascist movement, since present day policies of the movement are so in accordance with the activities four decades ago.

"The New Pleasers" (McCarthy) gave her opportunity to compare the pioneers of history with those of today who are pioneering in the great political movements of the world. This same spirit of comparison is evident in Roeder's "The Man of the Renaissance," for the early Renaissance was one of art and literature, while that of today is a political renaissance. While the talk in the main was devoted to important literary contributions regarding political issues national and international, some time also was given to fiction, including "First Love and Last" (Coxe) and "Shake Hands with the Devil" (Conner).

Mrs. Valley's next local engagement will be on the night of March 12 when she will be guest speaker at an Ebbl dinner party for husbands of members.

Definite selection of this date was made during the business meeting following yesterday's program. Current Events section will have charge of the dinner menu and further plans will be announced as the date draws near.

An important decision was reached to introduce a new membership campaign similar to that conducted so successfully in December. This will go into effect at once to continue until May 1. A strong appeal was voiced by Mrs. Albert Launer of Fullerton, for support of "California Federation News," of which she is editor. Complimentary copies of the magazine were distributed.

Harry Pickard, commander of Jack Fisher chapter D.A.V. was introduced and made a short talk on work with and for Disabled American Veterans, and on the annual Military ball which the chapter will hold the night of February 22 in Valencia Ballroom. He was very well received, and club women assured him of their support of his chapter and its welfare plans to be carried out with proceeds from the ball.

Various announcements were made of section events to come, including the Section Leaders' meeting in Ebbl clubhouse Wednesday morning, Mrs. Sara Hadron, director of the Tuesday contract bridge events in the clubhouse, announced the possible cancellation of evening classes for men and women, unless there is assurance of a larger attendance. Morning classes for beginners and afternoon classes for more advanced players will continue as scheduled.

Couple to Leave Soon To Make Home in Florida

Before leaving for Florida, to make their home in Port Lauderdale, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Jenkins are spending two weeks in Santa Ana following their marriage Sunday, February 11, in the Midway City home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Marshall.

Miss Jessie F. Allender, daughter of Mrs. D. F. Allender, 306 1-2 North Broadway, this city, became Mrs. Jenkins at a pretty ceremony read by the Rev. Jesse A. Wootton of Midway City. Twenty guests attended.

The bride was gown in imported white organdie with accessories in red and a corsage bouquet of tiny red roses and white gardenias. Her six-year old nephew, James Marshall, carried the wedding ring in a big red rose.

The living room fireplace, banked with smilax and lilies and lighted with white tapers, served as setting for the ceremony. A red and white theme was uppermost in other decorations. Centering the bride's table during the reception hour was a wedding cake decked with waxed orange blossoms and sweet peas. This confection, cut by the new Mrs. Jenkins, was served with other dainties. Red roses and matching candles appointed the table where guests were seated.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins are well known here in Santa Ana. Mrs. Jenkins has been employed with Nichols' Dollar store and with other Santa Ana business organizations. In Port Lauderdale, Fla., Mr. Jenkins is to be affiliated with his father as a master gardener and florist.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Served:
1 cup grated Savoy cabbage
2 Tbsps. minced pickled beet
2 Tbsps. mineral oil mayonnaise
1 square inch cheese melted on 1 graham cracker

Tea with lemon and saccharine. Celery total, 30¢.

Savoy cabbage is the best in the market right now. It has a green, curly leaf, and is as crisp as an icicle. Grate or shave fine, add the minced pickled beet (canned), season, and mix with the mayonnaise.

Shave the cheese over the cracker and put under the broiler flame just long enough to melt the cheese.

If the family is home for lunch-on serve this salad with straight mayonnaise, and have plenty of cheese toasted graham for them. Cocoa for the youngsters, and tea for the grown-ups.

Cultivate a healthy curiosity if you want to make your housekeeping and cooking a joy rather than a bore. Experiment, even if you have to bury a few of your mistakes hurriedly. . . . some of them are bound to turn up winners. I have one to offer you in a mayonnaise combination: When I made mayonnaise yesterday I had a pint more than the jar would take, and in the refrigerator I had half of a can of cream of tomato soup . . . together, they went, making the grandest mayonnaise you ever tasted. Try it. Tomorrow I'll tell you what I did with it.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Chicken, Creole Style

A large chicken of stewing age
1 cup seasoned flour
1 cup bacon fat
1 large onion, diced
2 large garlic buds, minced
1 No. 2 can tomatoes

—Contributed Recipe.

Our contributor says that this method of cooking chicken has been used by her French forbears for generations back. A somewhat similar recipe is one of my cherished possessions, given me by a New Orleans colored woman who kept house for me in the days when my piebent but never broke.

Unjoint the chicken after preparation (washing, etc.) Dredge with seasoned flour. Use the roasting pan or a deep heavy skillet for cooking. Put the bacon fat in the pan, add dredged chicken and let brown nicely, as you would fried chicken. When browned, add what flour is left from dredging, and maybe a little more, stir the pieces around to absorb the flour, then add the minced onion, garlic, tomato and hot water. Place the pan (covered) in the medium hot oven and bake 45 minutes if a young chicken, longer, if an old one, then the heat must be lower.

Turn the pieces several times while the chicken is cooking.

We serve rice with our Creole chicken. This recipe will serve six generously, and the calories per person will run around 650 each. . . . that gravy is powerful rich, remember.

Wednesday: Prune Cake with Creamy frosting. ANN MEREDITH.

Group Plans to Have Card Party in March

Meeting last night in the home of their president, Mrs. J. E. Swanger, 921 West Fairview street, members of Women's Auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographical union shared an interesting evening for which Mrs. Warren Brakeman was hostess.

Plans were made to have a benefit card party Monday, February 26 at 1 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Dobbs, West Seventeenth at Baker street. A dessert course will be served preceding play. Mrs. Carl Fisher will be chairman of the event, working with the cooperation of Mrs. W. H. Flode and Mrs. V. C. Shidler.

The auxiliary received an invitation to attend a dessert and card party February 22 at 1 p. m. in Long Beach Masonic temple under auspices of the Typographical auxiliary of that city.

Mrs. R. C. Butler, first president of the local organization, was present after several months' absence from meetings. She is making her home in Los Angeles, and so was able to give an interesting report of activities of the auxiliary in that city.

Mrs. Brakeman served refreshments on individual trays at the evening's close.

Those present with the hostess, Mrs. Brakeman, and Mrs. Swanger, were Mesdames E. E. Stillwell, Charles Clayton, J. W. Jones, N. J. Dasher, Roy Butler, J. A. Patison, J. W. Parkinson, W. H. Fields, C. E. Fisher, Mabel Sherwood, William Lawrence, V. C. Shidler.

Next business meeting will be held on the afternoon of March 12 at 12:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Charles Clayton at Orange Park avenue. A light luncheon will be served.

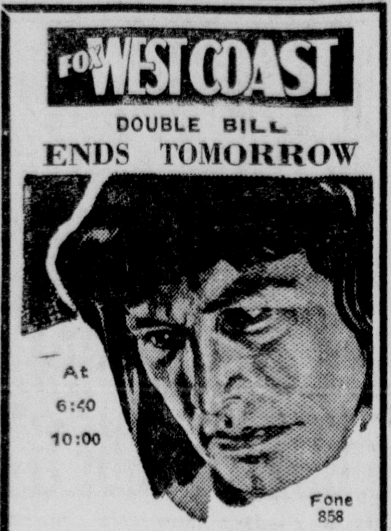

Dinner Celebrates 85th Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Fannie Newman's 85th birthday anniversary was celebrated in happy fashion the past week when Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rowell entertained with a noon-day dinner party in their home on Bush street. Mr. Rowell is Mrs. Newman's nephew.

With Mrs. B. A. Knudson assisting as hostess, a delicious covered dish dinner was served at a prettily laid table. Placed before Mrs. Newman was a large birthday cake lighted with many candles. The house was decorated with flowers including bouquets presented to the honoree by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Knudson, and by Mr. and Mrs. Rowell.

Those enjoying the event with Mrs. Newman were Mrs. Emma Bishop, Mrs. Lena Faye, Mrs.

Julia Jeffries, Mrs. E. L. Morrison, Mrs. Lillian Mitchell, Mrs. Sarah Davis, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rowell, Mrs. Archer, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Knudson, Miss Frances Knudson, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Rowell and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rowell.

TALKS ON LIFE OF LINCOLN AT CLUB MEETING

ORANGE, Feb. 13.—A valentine motif was cleverly carried out in the decorations for the regular bi-monthly meeting of Literary and Social club of the Trinity Episcopal church in the parish hall last night.

Ross Taylor gave an interesting talk on Saint Valentine, stating that in reality there were eight Saint Valentines instead of just the one, and that they came from France, Belgium, Africa and Spain. He also stated that our modern celebration of Valentine's day probably originated in an old Roman festival.

The life of Abraham Lincoln was described by Mason Fishback, who has made an extensive study of Lincoln's life. He told of his recent visit to a number of places made famous because of Lincoln. "He never forgot a kindness and never remembered a slight," Fishback said.

Following the short business meeting, led by the Rev. A. J. Shirley, a women's trio, composed of Mrs. John Baxter, Mrs. Charlotte Lingo and Mrs. Rose Stanfield, sang "My Old Kentucky Home," "I Love You" and "Mandy Lou." They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Harry Skiles, who also played a piano solo.

Refreshments of heart shaped cookies and ice cream were served, after which the evening was spent in dancing. Those present were the Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. George Eilers, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Fishback, Ross Taylor, Miss Ruby Armstrong, Miss Ethel Arrowsmith, Charles Armstrong, Fred Lan Franco, Miss Lucille West, Mrs. Charlotte Lingo, Mrs. Rose Stanfield, Mrs. John Baxter, Thomas Arrowsmith, Mrs. Harry Skiles, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Fields, Harold Baxter, Ross Cummings, Mrs. Guy Day, Mrs. Lee Easterly, Miss Ruth Burnett, Mrs. Richard Burnett, Eileen Faber, Mrs. Gladys Faber and Jack Feather.

This Woman Lost 64 Pounds of Fat

A Long Island matron writes: "A year ago I weighed 150 pounds. I started to take Kruschen and now I weigh 126 and never felt better in my life—and what's more, I look more like 20 years old than the mother of 2 children, one 19 and the other 18. Every one of my friends say it's marvelous the way I reduced."

To lose fat with speed take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—don't miss a morning—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—get it at McCoy Drug Co.—2 Stores—or any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back—Adv.

Lorraine Obarr Becomes Bride Of Forest Anthony

EL MODENA, Feb. 13.—A quiet but pretty wedding took place Saturday afternoon in the Anaheim home of the Rev. W. R. Thornton, when Miss Lorraine Obarr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Obarr, became the bride of Forest Anthony, of Santa Ana. Mr. Anthony is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olan Anthony, of Valley Center, S. D.

The lovely bride was dressed in poudre blue with dark blue accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of gardenias. Miss Helma Anthony and Verne Anthony, sister and brother of the groom, were the attendants.

Only relatives and a few very close friends attended the wedding. Upon their return from the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Anthony will make their home in Santa Ana.

CCC YOUTHS JAILED AFTER WINE STOLEN

ORANGE, Feb. 13.—Earl Vanover, 20, and William Bailey, 21, of the Silverado CCC camp, were in the Orange County Jail today, the former for investigation of burglary and the latter charged with burglary following their arrest last night at about 11 o'clock by Officer W. J. Winslow. Bailey is charged with breaking into the grocery of H. H. Breije, 222 West Chapman avenue.

According to the report filed by Winslow at police headquarters, the crash of breaking glass called his attention to the Breije store and making an investigation, he found that the front window had been broken and that several bottles of wine had been knocked from the shelves and broken.

Winslow arrested Vanover at the corner of Olive street and Chapman avenue and traced Bailey to a point between the Y. M. C. A. and the Legion hall on Lemon street, where he was found with several gallons of wine. According to Breije, nothing else was found to be missing from the store.

Mrs. P. C. Hilyard Birthday Honoree

ORANGE, Feb. 13.—Miss Ruth Hilyard entertained at her home, 450 South Center street, recently with a surprise party, celebrating the birthday of her mother, Mrs. P. C. Hilyard.

The home was lovely with bouquets of pink flowers. During the afternoon, guessing games were played with prizes going to Mrs. George Wood, of El Modena; Mrs. Ada Trostel and Mrs. Ruth Trostel, of Santa Ana; Miss Louise Buer and Mrs. Ruth Harner.

Refreshments were served at four-course tables, where the chosen color scheme of pink and white was emphasized.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Hilyard, Mrs. Ruth Trostel, Mrs. Ella Phillips, Mrs. Florence Harner, Mrs. Ella Barker, Mrs. George Wood, Mrs. Ada Trostel, Miss Louise Buer, Mrs. Ruth Harner and Miss Ruth Hilyard.

HOLD LINCOLN PROGRAM WHEN SECTION MEETS

ORANGE, Feb. 13.—When members of the Toastmasters' section of the Orange Woman's club met yesterday, responses were anecdotes of Abraham Lincoln, the contributions bringing out the humanity and keen sense of humor of the great emancipator. Mrs. A. Haven Smith was the toastmaster and Mrs. Margaret Ockles presided.

Three guests were present, Mrs. Elmer Hayward, Mrs. Nora Evans and Mrs. Arthur Bauer. Mrs. M. Ogilvie was welcomed as a new member. Announcement was made of the card tournament to be staged by the club and opening February 21. Parties will be held on six consecutive Wednesdays and each section of the club will be responsible for one of the affairs.

Announcement was made of the presentation of "The Mikado," the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, on February 19, when the woman's chorus will give the production with a cast of 18 chosen from their organization.

"Watching Washington" was the topic of a talk on national affairs by Miss Emma Williamson, who gave a comprehensive survey of the trend in events at the capital.

She spoke of the personnel of the president's cabinet, declaring that members of the cabinet are men of vision, wealth and education, and that they are making every possible effort toward national recovery.

Mrs. J. T. McInnis gave a talk on Czechoslovakia giving a history of the country in a brief outline and stating that women were given equal rights in all matters of the nation. She spoke of the outstanding place that creative arts occupy in the country and the Czechoslovakian national facility in making textiles, toys and pottery. The cities, she stated, are filled with examples of beautiful statuary and other art objects. The national bird of the country, it was said, is the goose.

The president of Czechoslovakia is greatly interested in crippled children's relief and in international peace, she said.

Mrs. Margaret Ockles presided and 18 members were present.

Tea Is Held By V.F.W. Auxiliary

ORANGE, Feb. 13.—Over 50 people attended the silver tea given yesterday afternoon by the auxiliary of the Veterans of the Foreign Wars at the home of Mrs. Marie Daugherty on South Glasel street. A red and white valentine motif was successfully carried out in the decorations of the home.

Mrs. Hattie Perkins, a gold star mother, presided at the coffee urn, while Mrs. Marie Jenkins served the tea. The proceeds of the tea are to go to the veterans' welfare fund.

El Modena Union To Hold Session

EL MODENA, Feb. 13.—The El Modena W. C. T. U. will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. James Burchell. The program will be dedicated to Frances Willard.

YOU SAY, "CUT DOWN ON THE GROCERY BILLS!" YET JUST TONIGHT YOU KICKED ABOUT THE SALAD. THE TROUBLE WAS THE MAYONNAISE! IT WASN'T MY REGULAR KIND SEALED IN GLASS. SOME BULK KIND THAT I SAVED A FEW CENTS ON. PLEASE BE FAIR, JOHN.

I'M SORRY, DEAR. HONESTLY I AM. YOU BUY WHAT YOU KNOW IS GOOD. LET'S NOT TAKE CHANCES.

CERTAINLY you want to keep expenses down, but a part of a penny is no saving if it spoils a delicious serving of salad.

Mayonnaise or salad dressing is food of delicate flavor. To please your taste it must be made with the utmost care, of fine ingredients not scrimped on. And, when you buy it, it must come to you with its purity and flavor completely protected.

That is why responsible makers of mayonnaise and salad dressing sell their products sealed in glass. And why they proudly put their name on every jar you buy.

Buy mayonnaise or salad dressing sealed in glass that's never opened till it reaches your kitchen!

This urge to careful buying is published with the hearty approval of a great number of grocers.

"I'll help you with your little dam, an' show you just how strong I am," said Duncy to the beaver. "Sit right down and rest a while. I'll swing your little mallet round and drive the stakes into the ground." "Imagine Duncy working," shouted Goldy, with a smile.

"He'll swing the mallet once or twice, and then find that it's not as nice as he expected. Then he'll quit! He's done such tricks before."

"But, go ahead, lad, swing away. The rest of us will run and play. Just call someone to take your place, when both your arms are sore."

It happened that the lass guessed right. When Duncy'd swung with all his might just two times, he yelled, "Hey, there, Copy! Come and lend a hand."

"I think my share of work is done. Let's see you have a bit of fun." Then Goldy said, "Why, you're so tired that you can hardly stand."

"Oh, well," cried Copy. "This is fair. We'll all turn in and do our share." And so, it wasn't very long until the dam was made.

The beaver said, "Oh, thanks! It's keen! The finest dam I've ever seen. If I can help you out some time, just ask. Don't be afraid!"

Then Nature Nick cried, "Come with me! There is a sight you'll want to see along the bank a little ways. A new friend you will meet."

Many a girl burns up waiting for her flame.

"His name is Flip, the fisher, and for hours and hours I've seen him stand right in a stream and, in his net, catch big fish. It's a treat."

They found Flip, not far away, and Nick cried, "Well, what luck today?" The fisher answered, "You shall see!" Just watch me dip my net."

Down went the net with one long swish. When it came up, it held a fish. "Aw, that's a small one," Flip said. "Now, a bigger one I'll get!"

News Of Orange County Communities

MESA BOYS TO JOIN NEW CUB ORGANIZATION

COSTA MESA, Feb. 12.—Nine-year-old boys, nine to twelve years of age, with their parents, met the local Cub Scout committee in the chapel of the Community church Monday night to make preliminary arrangements for the forming of a Cub Scout den. The committee, the Rev. W. I. Lowe, Earl Winterbourne and Donald Gibson, represented the sponsoring organization, the Costa Mesa Men's brotherhood. Roy Davis is president to the brotherhood.

Boys taking out application blanks were Billy Hinesley, David Allen, Morris Watkins, Pat Healy, David Almond, Bruce Lighter, Dexter Ball, John Shilling, Junior Coe, Wesley Peterkin, Herbert Haid, Jack Hirtler, Clarence Armstrong, Charles Ogden, Warren Turner, Dick Jones, Jim Belding, Floyd Mock and Arthur Gibson.

All applicants who qualify as Cub Scouts will be initiated at the annual Boy Scout dinner program and Court of Honor February 27. The meeting will be held in the church recreational hall. Harrison E. White, chief Scout executive for Orange county, will be in charge.

At a short business session of the Cub committee, Lloyd Willcutt was chosen as cubmaster for the new den and Elmer Henry was named assistant.

Bowl Project Is Discussed by H.B. Chamber Members

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 12.—Chamber of Commerce members met at the Golden Bear Cafe at noon Monday and discussed plans for the Newland bowl on the beach. This is to be a public works project and will cost probably $10,000. Harry Overmeyer, city engineer, and his assistant, Mr. Delano, drew the plans. There was to be a meeting late this afternoon of city officials and officials of the chamber of commerce to further discuss the plans.

Standard Quits East Side Well

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 12.—Standard Oil company is abandoning its Talbert well on the east side near the corner of Knoxville and what would be Geneva if the street was extended. The well has produced its millions in oil and was the outcrop well of the east side development in the early history of the field. Well in the vicinity failed, mostly from improper drilling, short finances or mechanical trouble.

The Standard's Talbert well on a community lease organized by T. B. Talbert was at first classed as a failure. The Standard started to abandon it when the well suddenly came in a gusher. It has produced for 11 years or more and hundreds of lot owners derived revenue from it.

RETURN TO BREA

BREA, Feb. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. William Aitken and little daughter, Charlene, have returned to Brea from a stay of several months in and about Oakland. They are living at the Casa Brea Inn. Mr. Aitken has been made Southern California manager of the firm for which he works, with headquarters in Los Angeles. Mrs. Aitken is a sister of Mrs. Harry Yarbrough of this city.

LAGUNA BEACH IN ANNUAL MINSTREL SHOW WEDNESDAY

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 12.—The 11th edition of the Laguna Beach Minstrel show will be produced Wednesday night at the Community club. Mrs. Ada E. Purpus who directed the first and second shows of the series again has charge this year. There will be 30 voices in the chorus. In addition to the minstrel first part there will be an olio and a closing chorus. Costuming and scenic effects are the most elaborate in the history of the Laguna Beach Minstrels.

John B. Hughes, director of the Community players, will be interlocutor. The end "men" will be Sasasfras (Priscilla) Fraser, Tambo (Chris) Valente, Mandy (Mary) Williams and Bones (Burton) Stanciliffe. In the circles will be the following: "Ladies from Harlem," Barbara Paige, Betty Ahearn, Katherine Gracie, Ruth Collins, Mary Ann Griggs, Mary De Ahna, Sue Avis, Betty Ritchie, and Florence Clapp. "Gentlemen of the circle" are Robert Webster, Harold Ahearn, Victor Rankin, Leo Frisco, Hugo Frisco, Charles Dunphy, Gilbert Varney, M. C. Delaney and Roy Bliss.

ARRANGE CONTESTS FOR SCOUT TROOPS

OCEANVIEW, Feb. 12.—Six contests are planned for next Saturday's Scout field meet scheduled for Oceanview athletic field. It was announced today by Scoutmaster Joseph Gebauer of the Oceanview Boy Scout troop number 41, members of which will act as hosts.

There will be five troops participating, troops Nos. 1 and 2 of Huntington Beach, the Fountain Valley troop, troop 40 of Westminster and the local troop.

The six events scheduled include fire by friction contest; pyramid building contest; centipede race, signalling contest, regular knot tying contest and the O'Grady drill.

Outing Enjoyed By Girl Scouts

W.R.C. Holds Card Affair On Feb. 16

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 12.—Members of the W. R. C. Case post of the W. R. C. will hold a public card party in Legion hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The entertainment committee consists of Mrs. Clara Olson, Mrs. Goldie Cornett and Lola Zerlaut, while the refreshment committee consists of Ruby Miller, Mrs. Alice Rutledge, Mrs. Nellie Dunsdon, Mrs. Billie New, Annabel Bryan and Julia Hilton. Tables will be arranged for bridge and "500" and refreshments served.

At the meeting on February 23 there will be a class adoption of 12 candidates.

SECTION TO MEET
BREA, Feb. 12.—The meeting of the book and basket section of the Brea Woman's club will be held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. M. Ross, 401 South Madonna avenue. Mrs. Frances Davis is chairman of the section.

Alamitos Pastor To Give Talk On Teachers' Class

MIDWAY CITY, Feb. 12.—Final arrangements for the teachers' training class in which five or six of the smaller Sunday schools of the district plan to join at the invitation of the Rev. Paul Younger, pastor of the Friends church of Alamitos, will be made at the Midway City Community hall Wednesday night when the Rev. Mr. Younger comes as speaker at the community potluck supper.

E. E. Leith, superintendent of the Community Sunday school, states that names of all those from Midway City wishing to join the training class must be turned in that evening. Opening of the training class is set for February 26 and will be for five consecutive Monday evenings.

The Sunday school program will close promptly at 8 o'clock to give way to the community mass meeting planned by the chamber of commerce in regard to the proposed sanitary district. The Sunday school dinner is open to the public.

Huntington Beach Scouts Celebrate 24th Anniversary

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 12.—Observing the 24th anniversary of the Boy Scout movement in America, the three Scout troops in this city and those interested in Scout work held appropriate rallies and celebrations. Scout troop No. 1, which is sponsored by the Christian church of this city, attended church services in a body Sunday night, with the Scout leaders and Scout executives accompanying them.

The Rev. J. G. Hurst congratulated the troop on its progress and the church on its work for the boys. He called upon Ray Overmeyer, chairman of the church Scout committee, to speak for the Boy Scouts and Overmeyer made a short talk on Scout work within the church and introduced Scoutmaster Ronald and the other members of the Scout committee.

Later the Rev. Mr. Hurst based his sermon on "Preparedness."

Auxiliary Plans Dinner Program

TUSTIN, Feb. 12.—The Tustin American Legion auxiliary will sponsor a dinner program tomorrow night at the lodge hall, according to announcement made today by Mrs. Beulah Hamilton, publicity chairman. Decorations for the event will feature the valentine theme.

Following the dinner, to be served at 6 o'clock, there will be an entertainment program which includes dance numbers by children of Miss Vera Geis's dancing class; several numbers by a male quartet; readings by Jackie Holford, Marjory Jean Park and Barbara Young; piano solos by Donald Curl and harmonica duets by the Curl brothers.

Mrs. Enid Wilson and Mrs. Fern Anderson are in charge of the program. The kitchen committee of Mesdames Vera Park, Enid Wilson, Esther Johnson, Gertrude Cleary, Nellie Curl and Ona Hunter and the dining room committee is composed of Mesdames Pauline Cleary, Grace Leinberger, Hilda Riehl, Dolly Holford, Margaret Householder and Beulah Hamilton.

Recital Attracts Crowd To School

LA HABRA, Feb. 12.—The auditorium of the Washington grammar school was filled to overflowing for the dance recital given recently when Miss Adelaide Stempel presented her pupils from Anaheim and La Habra.

Miss Stempel was assisted by Miss Evelyn McFadden at the piano, and Mrs. Myrtle Armstrong, who sang several numbers. Selby Thompson's serenaders played preceding the program.

State A.O.U.W. Head To Speak

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 12.—M. N. Hatcher, of Los Angeles, state manager of the A. O. U. W., and C. C. Hoskins, also of Los Angeles, will speak at the meeting of the A. O. U. W. to be held in Legion hall this evening at 7:30 o'clock, according to announcement made by C. J. Clark, master workman of the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

Men's Group To Hear L. A. Pastor

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 12.—Dr. E. E. Helm, of Los Angeles, former pastor of the First Methodist church of Los Angeles, will speak at the regular meeting of the Men's Brotherhood to be held in the Methodist Episcopal church this evening. Dr. Helm will speak each evening this week at 7:30 o'clock.

Music will be furnished by the Young People's orchestra of the church under the direction of A. D. Brownell. Preceding the dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock by the women of the church.

U. S. ARMY MEN IN BEACH CITY FOR RADIO TEST

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 12.—The federal government is experimenting to determine the best place along the Southern California coast for the sending of radio messages. Lieut. Elmer Wiles of the 251st Coast Artillery, in charge of the Army portable radio and telephone station, mounted on a regular Army truck, set up his apparatus at police headquarters here yesterday and with his assistant spent the entire day sending and receiving radio and telephone messages.

Similar experiments are being made at other points along the coast and results will be compared later. The service out of Huntington Beach was successful and all points at which army posts are established were reached without difficulty. Lieutenant Wiles said. The set transported in the army truck is a powerful one and highly sensitive.

Laguna Beach Is Given Praise By Famous Sculptor

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 12.—Laguna Beach not only has a firm place in the art world, but is recognized as a center of culture. Lorado Taft, dean of American sculptors, said to Frank W. Currier, dean of Laguna Beach artists, when they met Saturday night in Riverside as guests of Frank A. Miller at the Glenwood Mission Inn. Hamlin Garland, the author, and Taft, were the principal guests of honor at a dinner given by Mr. Miller in honor of the visit of the two distinguished men to Southern California.

CLUB PLANS PROGRAM

BARBER CITY, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Charles Hoisingren and Mrs. Homer Hilborn have been named as hostesses for Thursday evening's meeting of the Barber City Woman's club. The meeting will be usual be held at the clubhouse and a program and refreshments will follow the business session. A public card party was sponsored Saturday evening at the Barber City Woman's clubhouse and six tables were played.

H. B. WELL FLOWS 2500 BARRELS OIL, 2,000,000 CUBIC FEET GAS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 12.—The Monarch Refining company's well at the corner of Sixteenth and Ocean cautions in yesterday for 2500 barrels of oil and two million cubic feet of gas. The well was originally started by the Vinton Oil company, a Ventura financed concern, but was taken over by Charles W. Pour for the Monarch Refining company three weeks ago and completed.

The Day-Smith-Gordon well on Nineteenth street was killed for the second time yesterday, trying to cut the production down to 200 barrels in 24 hours when the well is capable of producing 2000 barrels each 24 hours. The expense of keeping the drastic cut in production makes the well almost unprofitable to operate, the owners claim.

COUNTY FIREMEN MEET NEXT WEEK

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 12.—R. D. Woodward, president of the Orange County Firemen's association, announced today that the monthly meeting will be held next Monday evening at Fullerton, with Chief Roy Davis and his men as hosts. The auxiliary will meet at the same time. Both organizations will have several subjects of importance to discuss, Woodward stated.

Mission Work In China Outlined

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 12.—Mission work in China and among the Arizona Indians was discussed by Mrs. Kerr, well known missionary, at the second of a series of four mission study classes being held each Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church.

J. Pearsol, of Long Beach, sang "The Holy City" and a second number at the evening service. There were 33 present in the adult department; 16 in Mr. Hare's group; 14 in Mrs. Snadell's; 14 in Mrs. Cook's, and seven in Miss McCoy's group. News Of Orange County Communities

MESA BOYS TO JOIN NEW CUB ORGANIZATION

COSTA MESA, Feb. 13.—Nineteen boys, nine to twelve years of age, with their parents, met the local Cub Scout committee in the chapel of the Community church Monday night to make preliminary arrangements for the forming of a Cub Scout den. The committee, the Rev. W. I. Lowe, Earl Winterbourne and Donald Gibson, represented the sponsoring organization, the Costa Mesa Men's brotherhood. Roy Davis is president to the brotherhood.

Boys taking out application blanks were Billy Hines, David Allen, Morris Watkins, Pat Healy, David Almond, Bruce Lighter, Dexter Ball, John Shilling, Junior Coe, Wesley Peterkin, Herbert said, Jack Hirtler, Clarence Armstrong, Charles Ogden, Warren Turner, Dick Jones, Jim Belding, Floyd Mock and Arthur Gibson. All applicants who qualify as Cub Scouts will be initiated at the annual Boy Scout dinner program and Court of Honor February 27. The meeting will be held in the church recreational hall. Harrison E. White, chief Scout executive for Orange county, will be in charge.

At a short business session of the Cub committee, Lloyd Willcutt was chosen as cubmaster for the new den and Scout Elmer Henry was named assistant.

Bowl Project Is Discussed by H.B. Chamber Members

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 13.—Chamber of Commerce members met at the Golden Bear Cafe at noon Monday and discussed plans for the Newland bowl on the beach. This is to be a public works project and will cost probably $10,000. Harry Overmeyer, city engineer, and his assistant, Mr. Delano, drew the plans. There was to be a meeting late this afternoon of city officials and officials of the chamber of commerce to further discuss the plans.

Standard Quits East Side Well

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 13.—Standard Oil company is abandoning its Talbert well on the east side near the corner of Knox-ville and what would be Geneva if the street was extended. The well has produced its millions in oil and was the output well of the east side development in the early history of the field. Wells in that vicinity failed, mostly from improper drilling, short finances or mechanical trouble.

The Standard's Talbert well on a community lease organized by T. B. Talbert was at first classed as a failure. The Standard started to abandon it when the well suddenly came in a gusher. It has produced for 11 years or more and hundreds of lot owners derived revenue from it.

RETURN TO BREA
BREA, Feb. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. William Aitken and little daughter, Charlene, have returned to Brea from a stay of several months in and about Oakland. They are living at the Casa Brea Inn. Mr. Aitken has been made Southern California manager of the firm for which he works, with headquarters in Los Angeles. Mrs. Aitken is a sister of Mrs. Harry Yarbrough of this city.

LAGUNA BEACH IN ANNUAL MINSTREL SHOW WEDNESDAY

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 13.—The 11th edition of the Laguna Beach Minstrel show will be produced Wednesday night at the Community club. Mrs. Ada E. Purpus who directed the first and second shows of the series again has charge this year. There will be 30 voices in the chorus. In addition to the minstrel first part there will be an olio and a closing chorus. Costuming and scenic effects are the most elaborate in the history of the Laguna Beach Minstrels.

John B. Hughes, director of the Community players, will be the conductor. The end "men" will be Sasfras (Priscilla) Fraser, Tambo (Chris) Valente, Mandy (Mary) Williams and Bones (Burton) Standliffe. In the circles will be the following: "Ladies from Harlem," Barbara Paige, Betty Ahearn, Katherine Grassie, Ruth Collins, Mary Ann Griggs, Mary De Alha, Sue Arie, Betty Ritchie and Florence Clapp. "Gentlemen of the circle" are Robert Webster, Harold Ahearn, Victor Rankin, Leo Price, Hugo Price, Charles Dunphy, Gilbert Varney, M. C. Delaney and Roy Bliss.

ARRANGE CONTESTS FOR SCOUT TROOPS

OCEANVIEW, Feb. 13.—Six contests are planned for next Saturday's Scout field meet scheduled for Oceanview athletic field. It was announced today by Scoutmaster Joseph Gebauer of the Oceanview Boy Scout troop number 41, members of which will act as hosts.

There will be five troops participating, troops Nos. 1 and 2 of Huntington Beach, the Fountain Valley troop, troop 40 of Westminster and the local troop.

The six events scheduled include fire by friction contest; pyramid building contest; centipede race; signalling contest; regular knot tying contest and the O'Grady drill.

Outing Enjoyed By Girl Scouts

TUSTIN, Feb. 13.—An enjoyable outing at Forest Home was shared recently by members of the Tustin Girl Scouts, who are sponsored by the Tustin American Legion auxiliary.

The girls spent the day hiking and enjoyed a picnic dinner at noon. Cadet Hamilton took the group on the trip in his truck.

W.R.C. Holds Card Affair On Feb. 16

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 13.—Members of the W. R. C. will hold a public card party in Legion hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The entertainment committee consists of Mrs. Clara Olson, Mrs. Goldie Cornett and Lola Zerlaut, while the refreshment committee consists of Ruby Miller, Mrs. Alice Rutledge, Mrs. Nellie Dunson, Mrs. Billie New, Annabel Bryan and Julia Hillen. Tables will be arranged for bridge and "300" and refreshments served.

At the meeting on February 23 there will be a class of about 12 candidates.

SECTION TO MEET

BREA, Feb. 13.—The meeting of the book and basket section of the Brea Woman's club will be held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. M. Ross, 491 South Madison avenue. Mrs. Frances Davis is chairman of the section.

P.-T.A. PRESENTS PLAY ON MARCH 2

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 13.—The Garden Grove Grammar School P.-T.A. is sponsoring a comedy play entitled, "Stray Cats" which will be presented on March 2. The play is being rehearsed by a cast under the direction of Wayne Holt. The P.-T.A. finance committee, with Mrs. J. A. Maurer, chairman, is in charge of the play. The proceeds will go for child welfare work.

Harbor Class To Hear Dr. Reid At Session Thursday

NEWPORT HEIGHTS, Feb. 13.—Dr. Frank E. Reid of the Human Betterment Foundation, will address the Harbor District Adult Education class when they meet in the high school auditorium Thursday at 9:30 o'clock. He is to speak on the topic, "Being Well Born."

The meeting will be the fourth of a series of eight that has been arranged through the joint efforts of the Newport Beach and the Costa Mesa Parent-Teacher associations. Ample provision has been made for the care of small children.

250 At Laguna Chamber Affair

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 13.—More than 250 persons attended the Chamber of Commerce dance at the Laguna Beach ballroom Saturday evening and a substantial sum was raised for the building fund, according to Capt. George A. Porius, executive secretary.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 13.—Members of a neighborhood bridge club were entertained recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Rossett at West Chapman avenue. At the close of the games first prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kearns. Refreshments were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kearns, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wakeham and Mr. and Mrs. Rossett.

HOLD DINNER PARTY

WINTERSBURG, Feb. 13.—Relatives and friends were entertained at a dinner party Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Eaton and daughter, Mrs. Veda Lewis, the latter of whom leaves soon for her home in St. Louis. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Don Alexander and daughter, La Donna, of San Diego, Mr. and Mrs. George Malhort and daughters, Virginia, Lois and Helen, of Riverside, Mrs. Mabel Curry and Ernest Eaton, of Redlands.

Alamitos Pastor To Give Talk On Teachers' Class

MIDWAY CITY, Feb. 13.—Final arrangements for the teachers' training class in which five or six of the smaller Sunday schools of the district plan to join at the invitation of the Rev. Paul Younger, pastor of the Friends church of Alamitos, will be made at the Midway City Community hall Wednesday night when the Rev. Mr. Younger comes as speaker at the community pot-luck supper.

E. E. Leith, superintendent of the Community Sunday school, states that names of all those from Midway City wishing to join the training class must be turned in that evening. Opening of the training class is set for February 16 and will be five consecutive Monday evenings.

The Sunday school program will close promptly at 8 o'clock to give way to the community mass meeting planned by the chamber of commerce in regard to the proposed sanitary district. The Sunday school dinner is open to the public.

Huntington Beach Scouts Celebrate 24th Anniversary

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 13.—Observing the 24th anniversary of the Boy Scout movement in America, the three Scout troops in this city and those interested in Scout work held appropriate rallies and celebrations. Scout troop 1, which is sponsored by the Christian church of this city, attended church services in a body Sunday night, with the Scout leaders and Scout executives accompanying them.

The Rev. J. G. Hunt congratulated the troop on its progress and the church on its work for the boys. He called upon Ray Overacker, chairman of the church Scout committee, to speak for the Boy Scouts and Overacker made a short talk on Scout work with in the church and introduced Scoutmaster Donald and the other members of the Scout committee. Later the Rev. Mr. Hunt based his sermon on "Preparedness."

Auxiliary Plans Dinner Program

TUSTIN, Feb. 13.—The Tustin American Legion auxiliary will sponsor a dinner program tomorrow night at the lodge hall, according to announcement made today by Mrs. Beulah Hamilton, publicity chairman. Decorations for the event will feature the Valentine theme.

Following the dinner, to be served at 6 o'clock, there will be an entertainment program which includes dance numbers by children of Miss Vera Getz's dancing class, several numbers by a male quartet; readings by Jackie Holford, Marlys Jean Park and Barbara Young; piano solos by Donald Curt and harmonica duets by the Curt brothers.

Music will be furnished by the Young People's orchestra of the church under the direction of A. D. Brownlee. Preceding the meeting a dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock by the women of the church.

U. S. ARMY MEN IN BEACH CITY FOR RADIO TEST

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 13.—The federal government is experimenting to determine the best place along the Southern California coast for the sending of radio messages. Lieut. Elmer Wiles of the 251st Coast Artillery, in charge of the Army portable radio and telephone station, mounted on a regular Army truck, set up his apparatus at police headquarters yesterday and with his assistant spent the entire day sending and receiving radio and telephone messages.

Similar experiments are being made at other points along the coast and results will be compared later. The service out of Huntington Beach was successful and all points at which army wires are established were reached without difficulty. Lieutenant Wiles said. The set transported in the army truck is a powerful one and highly sensitive.

Laguna Beach Is Given Praise By Famous Sculptor

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 13.—Laguna Beach not only has a firm place in the art world, but is recognized as a center of culture, according to a famous sculptor, said to Frank W. Cullen, dean of Laguna Beach painters, when they met Saturday night in Riverside as guests of Frank A. Miller at the Glenwood Mission Inn. Hamlin Garland, the author, and Taft, were the principal guests of honor at a dinner given by Mr. Miller in honor of the visit of the two distinguished men to Southern California.

CLUB PLANS PROGRAM

BARBER CITY, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Charles Holmstrom and Mrs. Homer Hilborn have been named as hostesses for Thursday evening's meeting of the Barber City Woman's club. The meeting will be held at the clubhouse and a program and refreshments will follow the business session. A public card party was sponsored Saturday evening at the Barber City Woman's clubhouse and six tables were played.

FIREMEN HOLD DANCE

MIDWAY CITY, Feb. 13.—Volunteer firemen of Midway City sponsored a dance at the Community clubhouse recently, the door receipts amounting to $40. The proceeds will be placed in the firemen's equipment fund.

H. B. WELL FLOWS 2500 BARRELS OIL, 2,000,000 CUBIC FEET GAS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 13.—The Monarch Refining company's well at the corner of Sixteenth and Ocean came in yesterday for 2500 barrels of oil and two million cubic feet of gas. The well was originally started by the Vin-ton Oil company, a Ventura financed concern, but was taken over by Charles W. Fourt for the Monarch Refining company three weeks ago and completed.

The Day-Smith-Gordon well on Nineteenth street was killed for the second time yesterday, trying to cut the production down to 200 barrels in 24 hours when the well is capable of producing 2000 barrels each 24 hours. The expense of keeping the drastic cut in production makes the well almost unprofitable to operate, the owners claim.

COUNTY FIREMEN MEET NEXT WEEK

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 13.—R. D. Woodward, president of the Orange County Firemen's association, announced today that the monthly meeting will be held next Monday evening at Fullerton, with Chief Roy Davis and his men as hosts. The auxiliary will meet at the same time. Both organizations will have several subjects of importance to discuss, Woodward stated.

Mission Work In China Outlined

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 13.—Mission work in China and among the Arizona Indians was discussed by Mrs. Kern, well known missionary, at the second of a series of four mission study classes being held each Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church.

J. Pearson, of Long Beach, sang "The Holy City" and a second number at the evening service. There were 33 present in the adult department; 16 in Mr. Hart's group; 14 in Mrs. Snadell's; 14 in Mrs. Cook's, and seven in Miss McCoy's group. Next Sunday evening's talk will be on the subject of the lepers and will be given by a Mrs. McGinnis, of Long Beach.

At the last of the series on February 25, stereoscopic views of India will be shown.

ENTERTAINS CLASS

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 13.—Miss Onelia Ames entertained members of the Methodist Episcopal church with a party at her home on Pine street recently. The class is composed of fourth grade girls. The members commenced working on scrap books.

A valentine motif was carried out in the refreshments which consisted of cookies, chocolate and candies in dainty nut cups. Those present were Bertha McDonald, Eleanor Hayward, Geraldine Graaf, Mary Graupensperger, Barbara Smith and Miss Ames.

DEMOCRATS IN LAGUNA BEACH DINNER FEB. 22

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 13.—Laguna Beach Democrats will host to members of the party b from Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties at a patriotic dinner to be held February 22 at the Hotel Laguna. In celebration of the birthday of George Washington, the local Democratic club is preparing to entertain 250 guests.

OF WHAT AVAIL?

What good is your money if not actively occupied? And what better place than real estate? When you consider a business property, the lot alone without the 4-store building, formerly selling for $25,000, and that you can get the same lot, building, income, and everything for $10,000, isn't it something to get excited about? We believe it is and we believe that if you don't grab it now, you'll wish you had.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE PICTURE

What would happen today if we repealed each of the emergency acts, and withdrew all of the underpinning that the government is furnishing large and small institutions, including individuals, to carry on? Through cartoon, sly innuendo, more or less bold editorials, and the statements of the humorist, who daily furnishes us with a laugh, the administration is being criticised and undermined for all of these things.

What would happen, think you, if these critics succeeded in so undermining the administration in public sentiment, that these very instrumentalities could no longer function? Supposing we did away with the NRA, and the restrictions were removed, and the conditions which have taken away some of the most vicious practices, in respect to competition, are so removed that these practices will return. Let the firms and individuals reduce their help, cut their expenses, lengthen hours to the limit, as they were doing. And let a million and a half to two million people be taken from the ranks now employed, and thrown out on the street.

Clamp down on the money that is being contributed to the CWA and throw four million more people out on the street, with the million and a half who have lost their jobs. We assume that there is hardly any criticism of the direct relief, except from certain taxpayers. So we will not carry that part of it further, because the critics probably would halt at that point.

But literally hundreds of millions of money have been loaned to the banks, or have been used to purchase preferred stock in banks. Millions have been granted to railroads, insurance companies, loan companies, and millions more have been loaned to home owners and farm owners. Let this be stopped and demands made upon the financial institutions for the money, or let even half of it be done, and what would be the result today?

With the people now out of employment, who are enjoying no help, there would be at least 12 million with their families. Distress and disaster would be rampant. Some of the larger corporations could not function. Withdrawals of money, in spite of the guarantee, would be made from banks. The government would face disaster. We would be back where we were on the morning of March 4, 1933. At that hour big industrialists and big financiers, everybody, with blanched faces, with quivering lips, and with anxious hearts, were watching the president in his direction of the new congress.

It was anything then. "Save us, Mr. President from disaster and almost certain revolution!" Under the direction of President Roosevelt, a wonderful transformation has taken place. But we might as well face the facts, we are paying for it. It is becoming a debt upon society. But let us not fool ourselves. We are not yet going on our own steam. But some of the same idiotic industrialists and big financiers, who did not know the cause of the difficulty when it occurred, and who do not know now that a real rehabilitation has not come about, where business is going on its own again, imagine, because money is beginning to flow through their hands, that now they can walk alone and can "snap their fingers" at the representative of the people in the White House.

The same idiosyncrasy that got us into the turmoil would now plunge us into a worse one by preventing the continued operation of the only thing that is keeping us from getting into it. With their eyes on the ticker tape then, they didn't know the cause of the happenings, when the feverish announcement came through that everyone was unloading, and there was no one to buy. Now when there is a little more money coming in, and with their eyes still on the tape, which records for a few weeks a general increase, they say: "Ah, we have got a hold of it now. We know all about it. If we can get rid of congress and the president now, we will make money again."

It would be laughable, if it were not for the fact that the future of a nation depends upon a wholesome and intelligent public opinion. Until business, in its own right, is employing those who are now being paid under the CWA, and are supported by direct relief of the government; until recovery has enabled the banks and railroads to, in part at least, pay back the government that which it has given to sustain them in the hours of disaster; we had better not be fooled by the interviews of the big bankers and the big financiers, who didn't know where we were going four years ago, and haven't known since, and who do not know now. Let us be careful and stand by!

RICHBURG AND PUBLIC VS. PRIVATE SERVICE

The news dispatches today carried the information that Donald P. Richberg, attorney for the NRA under General Johnson, wants to quit. Mr. Richberg says he "cannot afford" to continue. He has been the attorney for the railroad brotherhood. While we do not know what retainer fees they paid him, they are known to pay well, the chief of the brotherhood, Mr. Stone, getting $25,000 and upwards in salary for some years.

Richberg hesitated to take the position in the first place and refused to take it at the salary provided for in the measure of $6,000 a year. The director was to get $12,000. This was the position Mr. Johnson assumed. Mr. Johnson promptly, to induce Mr. Richberg to take the position, traded salaries with him, giving him $12,000 and accepting the $6,000. So we understand Richberg is receiving pay at the rate of $12,000 a year. He says he "can't afford" to do it, and wants to quit as soon as an attorney can be found who can handle the position.

We feel this is an unfortunate situation, not because Mr. Richberg cannot be replaced, for he can by hundreds of just as able and well equipped men as he is, but it is what is implied in this refusal. Of course Mr. Richberg would not attempt to say that he could not live with his family, upon a salary of $12,000 a year. He is attorney for a federal organization which is trying to get into the hands of the people the sum upon which they can live or exist. This sum is less than $1000 a year. On 12 times this amount a family can certainly live in comfort, and have most of the enjoyments of life. Up until a few years ago this was the salary of the supreme court judges. We never heard of any of the supreme court justices being hungry or in need, even when receiving this salary.

But, as a matter of fact, we doubt if he means this when he says he "cannot afford" it. What he does mean is that under our present conditions and in the competitive work as an attorney with other attorneys, that he receives in retainer fees and other income so much as a lawyer, that he is sacrificing this difference between the $12,000 and what he would otherwise receive, and it is more sacrifice than he should make.

The NRA is aiming to reduce some of the vicious practices of competition and level out incomes, so that those who are receiving little or nothing, shall have their income increased, and those who are receiving large amounts shall have theirs reduced. If they should be averaged, we should judge that $12,000 income for a lawyer's family would be a pretty fair income. And if the NRA or similar organizations succeed, this leveling process will continue.

We are afraid that Richberg lets "the cat out of the bag" in this attitude, for it indicates that he hasn't much faith that it is going to succeed, at least where it is going to affect him seriously. He wants to get back in the "big money." His head is with Johnson and his NRA; his heart is in competition, to get as much as he can for his services. "From the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh," and the body moves. We heard a discussion by our preacher the other day on the text to keep one's "heart in all diligence because out of it comes the issues of life."

We haven't any right to ask Mr. Richberg, or any other man to sacrifice or to condemn him if he doesn't. But we do recall, in reading the life of Abraham Lincoln, that he refused an opportunity of a large salary from the New York Central Railroad, when he needed money very badly, for it would interfere with his program, as he was carrying it out in the interest of great causes.

Robert E. Lee refused a very large salary to be the head of an insurance company, for which he was unfitted, but took $1500 a year to become president of Washington and Lee university and train the sons of his fellow comrades in arms. We should like to see Mr. Richberg continue in his position, and inspire our children with the story later of the sacrifice he made for public service, as difficult as it would be to emphasize sacrifice with the $12,000 a year salary.

PRESIDENT'S ACTION SAVING NATION AND AVIATION

Colonel Lindbergh and Will Rogers rather criticized the president for cancelling air mail contracts, when he found that the government had been fearfully defrauded.

The company with which Colonel Lindbergh was affiliated, and still is affiliated on a fine salary, was one of the companies that had profited by these contracts, and Mr. Lindbergh had received $250,000 worth of stock in the company. Will Rogers reversed his statement this morning and said he didn't know much about it, and placed the blame where it belonged, on the crooks at the head of the company. He then said: "I would like to sit on the jury and help convict them, for they have brought injury to a great industry." In this, the humorist is absolutely correct.

Whatever injury has resulted from the President's order, is due in part to the frauds that were perpetrated by those in charge of the various companies, and the other part is due to the representatives of the government who participated and who profited by the fraud. To have permitted these companies to continue to profit, and simply go after their officers criminally, would have put a premium upon crooked dealing and legalized contracts that had their origin in fraud and crookedness. The president has done much to make criminality heinous even if it is profitable.

It is a matter of deep regret that the popular aviator, Colonel Lindbergh, who has done much "publicity" flying, should loan his noble name for the creation of sentiment against the efforts of the president to carry on for the government honestly. We doubt seriously if this had the unequivocal approval of the Colonel himself. A fine man, with a remarkable father, it is the only act with which Colonel Lindbergh's name has been associated, that we feel is a little out of harmony with what his father stood for.

As people look around for scape-goats, and crookedness is uncovered, the organizations injured that have permitted it, and men in high places receive punishment, there are those who point to the exposé and the corrector as one who is guilty. But we are rather impressed if Nathan, the prophet, were here again, and were speaking to the guilty men in high places, he would say, as he said to David of old: "Thou art the man." And he would show that the president and his advisors are the real ones who are saving and not injuring the nation, and finally aviation itself.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THEY ALL DO

After reading a beautiful dictum that make-up develops character in young girls.

When Molly was a little child
She lacked all proper poise;
Her days were spent in running wild
With romping little boys.
She never was sedate and grave,
She never could be calm,
Or learn that children should behave
With ladylike aplomb.

For dolls she didn't care a red,
She hated lesson-books.
She loved to stand upon her head
Or wade knee-deep through brooks.
She never could be taught to spell
Or do arithmetic,
And as for pretty dresses—well,
They simply made her sick.

Till past fourteen this graceless chit
Appeared to lack all pride;
She had no conscience, not a bit,
To be her help and guide.
She would not comb her hair because
It never stayed in curl,
And everybody said she was
A ruthless hoydenish girl.

But now she's learned to rouge her lips
And manicure her nails
And dash around on motor trips
With young and handsome males,
To keep her figure lithe and lean,
And wear a rougish smirk;
She looks just like a Polles' queen;
Her make-up's done its work.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

ROOSEVELT AND THE PRICE RIDDLE

I once said in these articles that the political control of prices is the most baffling enterprise upon which statesmanship can embark. The NRA is daily revealing the difficulties that lurk in the price riddle.

There are two parties to the problem of prices: (1) the producer and (2) the buyer. In the deeper sense and in the long run the interests of the two parties are identical. Both will best be served by the largest possible output, the highest possible quality and the lowest possible price. But it is the exceptional American, on either side of the counter, who thinks in the deeper sense or keeps his eye on the long run. The average man has his eye on the immediate advantage. The result is that the average producer or group of producers jumps at any chance to raise prices, while the average consumer or group of consumers is out for the lowest possible price consistent with satisfactory quality.

Mr. Roosevelt has courageously tackled the problem of forcing the price level to a point at which business and industry generally can make a profit. As a result there has been a business and industrial support of the New Deal from quarters that would otherwise have fled from the New Deal as from the plague. As far as the Roosevelt concern with prices goes, the producer is being decently looked after.

It may be doubted that up to date the consumer has been equally well served.

The NRA drive for business self-government is sound. It is in line with the necessity of the age of large-scale enterprise. But the drive may prove abortive and dangerous in the end unless, in this crucial matter of prices, the natural desire of the producer for high prices is modified by the active participation of labor and the consuming public in the determination of prices. Business is more than the business men. Industry is more than the captains of industry. Business and industry are the business men and industrialists plus labor and the consuming public.

The government has already made provision for price stimulation. Price control is the next step. The New Dealers must take. Otherwise, with the onset of real recovery or in the event of extensive inflation, the price of living will rise to a point that will generate a genuine revolt against the New Dealers and all their works. Our Children

CASUAL MATTERS

A proper reception of the casual happenings of every day would smooth out many a rough moment in the troubled day of parents and teachers. There are homes and classrooms where everything that happens is received as a major event.

The monitor drops a box of chalk, the teacher screams, the class calls out in alarm, there is a lot of talking and much time and energy is wasted before the class settles down to work again. All day long, and maybe for days afterward the teacher reminds the class, and the monitor, of the awful mishap.

Johnnie gets a splinter in his thumb. At once the whole household is in turmoil. Mother runs for the medicine closet, calling out in nervous terror every step of the way and back again. "Dear, dear. How did it ever happen? I hope that you won't get an infection. Mollie, bring the spirits of ammonia. He might feel faint. Yes, grandma. Bring the rug off the couch. He is chilly. There, there, son. I have it out. Did it hurt you much? You'd better rest now until dinner. Lie down. I'll give you only a light supper. There's no telling about these things. I'll take your temperature to make sure."

"Helen comes home with the glad news that she is on the honor roll. There are twenty others on that roll but the family see only their own star. Mother calls grandmother and announces the good news. "Isn't it wonderful? She seems to have the brains of the family. Everything she does is a success. It certainly is fine to have a child who does her family credit. I think so too." Helen is listening and of course believing. She, too, forgets those other twenty names on that roll. It is good to rise to the heights and sound the depths of life because there are heights and depths in every life. The trouble begins when we dwell on the heights overlong or prolong our stay in the depths. Pass on. Live more casually and you live more naturally. The splinter can be pulled out, the wound treated, the child comforted, and the whole matter forgotten. No need of all the fuss and fear. The sudden noise in the classroom can be passed over without a word. No emphasis is needed to mark the crash of falling books and boxes. Pass on. The place on the honor roll deserves a smile and a word of congratulation and praise. It ought not to be wrought into a unique achievement. "There are others that do well," is a chastening thought that may well enter into such a situation, when one is tempted to overwork one's gratification.

The same thing holds for the child who is different. Take his differences more casually. Many a child has suffered tortures because he was thin and his brothers and sisters plump, because he moved slowly while they jumped to the line. It is well to commend the good and denounce the bad but most of life lies between. A more casual acceptance of this notion will make living easier.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.) (Copyright, 1934, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

Census Supervisor C. G. Rowan of San Diego was in the city for the purpose of appointing three inspectors and one interpreter to make a special count of Japanese people in Orange county. This was considered necessary following the situation in San Diego county where a special census showed twice as many Japanese as had been shown in the regular report of the census enumerators. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. L. Grubb, young women of Orange county launched a campaign to raise $1000 for the Young Women's Christian association. The association had asked a national fund of three million dollars and the Orange county canvass was part of a nationwide drive. The sum of $500 was expected from Santa Ana.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE PICTURE

What would happen today if we repealed each of the emergency acts, and withdrew all of the underpinning that the government is furnishing large and small institutions, including individuals, to carry on? Through cartoon, sly innuendo, more or less bold editorials, and the statements of the humorist, who daily furnishes us with a laugh, the administration is being criticised and undermined for all of these things.

What would happen, think you, if these critics succeeded in so undermining the administration in public sentiment, that these very instrumentalities could no longer function? Supposing we did away with the NRA, and the restrictions were removed, and the conditions which have taken away some of the most vicious practices, in respect to competition, are so removed that these practices will return. Let the firms and individuals reduce their help, cut their expenses, lengthen hours to the limit, as they were doing. And let a million and a half to two million people be taken from the ranks now employed, and thrown out on the street.

Clamp down on the money that is being contributed to the CWA and throw four million more people out on the street, with the million and a half who have lost their jobs. We assume that there is hardly any criticism of the direct relief, except from certain taxpayers. So we will not carry that part of it further, because the critics probably would halt at that point.

But literally hundreds of millions of money have been loaned to the banks, or have been used to purchase preferred stock in banks. Millions have been granted to railroads, insurance companies, loan companies, and millions more have been loaned to home owners and farm owners. Let this be stopped and demands made upon the financial institutions for the money, or let even half of it be done, and what would be the result today?

With the people now out of employment, who are enjoying no help, there would be at least 12 million with their families. Distress and disaster would be rampant. Some of the larger corporations could not function. Withdrawals of money, in spite of the guarantee, would be made from banks. The government would face disaster. We would be back where we were on the morning of March 4, 1933. At that hour big industrialists and big financiers, everybody, with blanched faces, with quivering lips, and with anxious hearts, were watching the president in his direction of the new congress.

It was anything then. "Save us, Mr. President from disaster and almost certain revolution!" Under the direction of President Roosevelt, a wonderful transformation has taken place. But we might as well face the facts, we are paying for it. It is becoming a debt upon society. But let us not fool ourselves. We are not yet going on our own steam. But some of the same idiotic industrialists and big financiers, who did not know the cause of the difficulty when it occurred, and who do not know now that a real rehabilitation has not come about, where business is going on its own again, imagine, because money is beginning to flow through their hands, that now they can walk alone and can "snap their fingers" at the representative of the people in the White House.

The same idioty that got us into the turmoil would now plunge us into a worse one by preventing the continued operation of the only thing that is keeping us from getting into it. With their eyes on the ticker tape then, they didn't know the cause of the happenings, when the feverish announcement came through that everyone was unloading, and there was no one to buy. Now when there is a little more money coming in, and with their eyes still on the tape, which records for a few weeks a general increase, they say: "Ah, we have got a hold of it now. We know all about it. If we can get rid of congress and the president now, we will make money again."

It would be laughable, if it were not for the fact that the future of a nation depends upon a wholesome and intelligent public opinion. Until business, in its own right, is employing those who are now being paid under the CWA, and are supported by direct relief of the government; until recovery has enabled the banks and railroads to, in part at least, pay back the government that which it has given to sustain them in the hours of disaster; we had better not be fooled by the interviews of the big bankers and the big financiers, who didn't know where we were going four years ago, and haven't known since, and who do not know now. Let us be careful and stand by!

RICHBERG AND PUBLIC VS. PRIVATE SERVICE

The news dispatches today carried the information that Donald P. Richberg, attorney for the NRA under General Johnson, wants to quit. Mr. Richberg says he "cannot afford" to continue. He has been the attorney for the railroad brotherhood. While we do not know what retainer fees they paid him, they are known to pay well, the chief of the brotherhood, Mr. Stone, getting $25,000 and upwards in salary for some years.

Richberg hesitated to take the position in the first place and refused to take it at the salary provided for in the measure of $6,000 a year. The director was to get $12,000. This was the position Mr. Johnson assumed. Mr. Johnson promptly, to induce Mr. Richberg to take the position, traded salaries with him, giving him $12,000 and accepting the $6,000. So we understand Richberg is receiving pay at the rate of $12,000 a year. He says he "can't afford" to do it, and wants to quit as soon as an attorney can be found who can handle the position.

We feel this is an unfortunate situation, not because Mr. Richberg cannot be replaced, for he can by hundreds of just as able and well equipped men as he is, but it is what is implied in this refusal. Of course Mr. Richberg would not attempt to say that he could not live with his family, upon a salary of $12,000 a year. He is attorney for a federal organization which is trying to get into the hands of the people the sum upon which they can live or exist. This sum is less than $1000 a year. On 12 times this amount a family can certainly live in comfort, and have most of the enjoyments of life. Up until a few years ago this was the salary of the supreme court judges. We never heard of any of the supreme court justices being hungry or in need, even when receiving this salary.

But, as a matter of fact, we doubt if he means this when he says he "cannot afford" it. What he does mean is that under our present conditions and in the competitive work as an attorney with other attorneys, that he receives in retainer fees and other income so much as a lawyer, that he is sacrificing this difference between the $12,000 and what he would otherwise receive, and it is more sacrifice than he should make.

The NRA is aiming to reduce some of the vicious practices of competition and level out incomes, so that those who are receiving little or nothing, shall have their income increased, and those who are receiving large amounts shall have theirs reduced. If they should be averaged, we should judge that $12,000 income for a lawyer's family would be a pretty fair income. And if the NRA or similar organizations succeed, this leveling process will continue.

We are afraid that Richberg lets "the cat out of the bag" in this attitude, for it indicates that he hasn't much faith that it is going to succeed, at least where it is going to affect him seriously. He wants to get back in the "big money." His head is with Johnson and his NRA; his heart is in competition, to get as much as he can for his services. "From the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh," and the body moves. We heard a discussion by our preacher the other day on the text to keep one's heart in all diligence because out of it comes the issues of life.

We haven't any right to ask Mr. Richberg, or any other man to sacrifice or to condemn him if he doesn't. But we do recall, in reading the life of Abraham Lincoln, that he refused an opportunity of a large salary from the New York Central Railroad, when he needed money very badly, for it would interfere with his program, as he was carrying it out in the interest of great causes.

Robert E. Lee refused a very large salary to be the head of an insurance company, for which he was unfitted, but took $1500 a year to become president of Washington and Lee university and train the sons of his fellow comrades in arms. We should like to see Mr. Richberg continue in his position, and inspire our children with the story later of the sacrifice he made for public service, as difficult as it would be to emphasize sacrifice with the $12,000 a year salary.

PRESIDENT'S ACTION SAVING NATION AND AVIATION

Colonel Lindbergh and Will Rogers rather criticized the president for cancelling air mail contracts, when he found that the government had been fearfully defrauded.

The company with which Colonel Lindbergh was affiliated, and still is affiliated on a fine salary, was one of the companies that had profited by these contracts, and Mr. Lindbergh had received $250,000 worth of stock in the company. Will Rogers reversed his statement this morning and said he didn't know much about it, and placed the blame where it belonged, on the crooks at the head of the company. He then said: "I would like to sit on the jury and help convict them, for they have brought injury to a great industry." In this, the humorist is absolutely correct.

Whatever injury has resulted from the President's order, is due in part to the frauds that were perpetrated by those in charge of the various companies, and the other part is due to the representatives of the government who participated and who profited by the fraud. To have permitted these companies to continue to profit, and simply go after their officers criminally, would have put a premium upon crooked dealing and legalized contracts that had their origin in fraud and crookedness. The president has done much to make criminality heinous even if it is profitable.

It is a matter of deep regret that the popular aviator, Colonel Lindbergh, who has done much "publicity" flying, should loan his noble name for the creation of sentiment against the efforts of the president to carry on for the government honestly. We doubt seriously if this had the unequivocal approval of the Colonel himself. A fine man, with a remarkable father, it is the only act with which Colonel Lindbergh's name has been associated, that we feel is a little out of harmony with what his father stood for.

As people look around for scape-goats, and crookedness is uncovered, the organizations injured that have permitted it, and men in high places receive punishment, there are those who point to the exposé and the corrector as one who is guilty. But we are rather impressed if Nathan, the prophet, were here again, and were speaking to the guilty men in high places, he would say, as he said to David of old: "Thou art the man." And he would show that the president and his advisors are the real ones who are saving and not injuring the nation, and finally aviation itself.

THEY ALL DO

After reading a beauticians' dictum that make-up develops character in young girls.

When Molly was a little child
She lacked all proper poise;
Her days were spent in running wild
With romping little boys.
She never was sedate and grave,
She never could be calm,
Or learn that children should behave
With ladylike aplomb.

For dolls she didn't care a red,
She hated lesson-books,
She loved to stand upon her head
Or wade knee-deep through brooks.
She never could be taught to spell
Or do arithmetic,
And as for pretty dresses—well,
They simply made her sick.

Till past fourteen this graceless chit
Appeared to lack all pride;
She had no conscience, not a bit,
To be her help and guide.
She would not comb her hair because
It never stayed in curl,
And everybody said she was
A ruthless hoydenish girl.

But now she's learned to rouge her lips
And manicure her nails
And dash around on motor trips
With young and handsome males,
To keep her figure lithe and lean,
And wear a roughest smirk;
She looks just like a Follies' queen;

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

ROOSEVELT AND THE PRICE RIDDLE

I once said in these articles that the political control of prices is the most baffling enterprise upon which statesmanship can embark. The NRA is daily revealing the difficulties that lurk in the price riddle.

There are two parties to the problem of prices: (1) the producer and (2) the buyer. In the deeper sense and in the long run the interests of the two parties are identical. Both will best be served by the largest possible output, the highest possible quality and the lowest possible price. But it is the exceptional American, on either side of the counter, who thinks in the deeper sense or keeps his eye on the long run. The average man has his eye on the immediate advantage. The result is that the average producer or group of producers jumps at any chance to raise prices, while the average consumer or group of consumers is out for the lowest possible price consistent with satisfactory quality.

Mr. Roosevelt has courageously tackled the problem of forcing the price level to a point at which business and industry generally can make a profit. As a result, there has been a business and industrial support of the New Deal from quarters that would otherwise have fled from the New Deal as from the plague. As far as the Roosevelt concern with prices goes, the producer is being decently looked after.

It may be doubted that up to date the consumer has been equally well served.

The NRA drive for business self-government is sound. It is in line with the necessity of the age of large-scale enterprise. But the drive may prove abortive and dangerous in the end unless, in this crucial matter of prices, the natural desire of the producer for high prices is modified by the active participation of labor and the consuming public in the determination of prices. Business is more than the business men. Industry is more than the capitalists of industry. Business and industry are the business men and industrialists plus labor and the consuming public.

The government has already made provision for price stimulation. Price control is the next step the New Dealers must take. Otherwise, with the onset of real recovery or in the event of extensive inflation, the price of living will rise to a point that will generate a genuine revolt against the New Deal and all its works. CASUAL MATTERS

A proper reception of the casual happenings of every day would smooth out many a rough moment in the troubled day of parents and teachers. There are homes and classrooms where everything that happens is received as a major event. The monitor drops a box of chalk, the teacher screams, the class calls out in alarm, there is a lot of talking and much time and energy is wasted before the class settles down to work again. All day long, and maybe for days afterward the teacher reminds the class, and the monitor, of the awful mishap.

Johnnie gets a splinter in his thumb. At once the whole household is in turmoil. Mother runs for the medicine chest, calling out in nervous terror every step of the way and back again. "Dear dear. How did it ever happen? I hope that you won't get an infection. Mollie, bring the spirit of ammonia. He might feel faint. Yes, grandma, bring the rug off the couch. He is chilly. There, there, son. I have it out. Did it hurt you much? You'd better rest now until dinner. Lie down. I'll give you only a light supper. There's no telling about these things. I'll take your temperature to make sure home with the glad news that she is on the honor roll. There are twenty others on that roll but the family see only their own star. Mother calls grandmothers and announces the good news. "Isn't it wonderful? She seems to have the brains of the family. Everything she does is a success. It certainly is fine to have a child who does her family credit. I think so too." Helen is listening and of course believing. She, too, forgets those other twenty names on that roll.

It is good to rise to the heights and sound the depths of life because there are heights and depths in every life. The trouble begins when we dwell on the heights overlooking or prolong our stay in the depths. Pass on. Live more casually and you live more naturally. The splinter can be pulled out, the wound treated, the child comforted, and the whole matter forgotten. No need of all the fuss and fear. The sudden
